Well hast thou asked me. O Sage! Do thou listen with respectful attention to what I say. In former times, filled with affection towards her devotees, the Goddess Parvati reverently questioned the destroyer of the triple city (Shiva), desirous of knowing the nature of Rama. The Lord of the mountains himself recited to his dear consort that great mystery known as the Adhyatma Ramayana which is great amongst the Puranas.

Now because of past good Karma of embodied creatures will this Adhyatma Ramayana be published throughout the world.

By merely reciting people will go towards a happy life. So long shall sin together with the crime of Brahmanicide remain as long as the Adhyatma Ramayana does not arise in the world. So long only shall Kali roam freely and with all his might, as long as the Adhyatma Ramayana does not take its rise in the world. So long shall the emissaries of the god of death go about fearlessly in the world, as long as the Adhyatma Ramayana does not take its rise in it. So long the various Shastras engage in mutual disputations, so long shall the nature of Rama be difficult of comprehension by even great men, as long as the Adhyatma Ramayana does not rise in the world.
0100	23	तावत्कलिमहोत्साहो निःशङ्कं सम्प्रवर्तते । यावज्जगति नाध्यात्मरामायणमुदेष्यति ॥ २३ ॥	tāvatkalimahotsāho niḥśaṅkaṁ sampravartate । yāvajjagati nādhyātmarāmāyaṇamudeṣyati ॥ 23 ॥	Included above..

I cannot, O chief amongst Munis, declare fully the merit that attaches to the recitation, hearing, etc., of the Adhyatma Ramayana.
0100	28	तथापि तस्य माहात्म्यं वक्ष्ये किञ्चित्तवानघ । शृणु चित्तं समाधाय शिवेनोक्तं पुरा मम ॥ २८ ॥	tathāpī tasya mātmyam vākṣye kiñcittavānagha śṛṇu cittam samādhāya śivenoktam purā mama 28	28. Nevertheless I shall, O sinless one, tell thee of some of the merits that attach to it. Do thou listen to it attentively, as I heard it in days of yore from Shiva.
0100	29	अध्यात्मरामायणतः श्लोकं श्लोकार्धमेव वा । यः पठेत् भक्तिसंयुक्तः स पापान्मुच्यते क्षणात् ॥ २९ ॥	adhyātmarāmāyaṇataḥ ślokaṃ ślōkārdhameva vā yaḥ paṭhet bhaktisamyuktaḥ sa pāpānmucyate kṣaṇāt 29	29. He who reads with devotion even a shloka or half a shloka of the Adhyatma Ramayana, is purified of all sins that very moment.
0100	31	यो भक्त्याचर्यतेऽध्यात्मरामायणमतन्द्रितः । दिने दिनेऽश्वमेधस्य फलं तस्य भवेन्मुने ॥ ३१ ॥	yo bhaktyārcayate'dhyātmarāmāyaṇamatandritaḥ dine dine'svamedhasya phalaṃ tasya bhavenmune 31	31. He who worships daily the Adhyatma Ramayana reverently and with care, even his, O Muni, is the fruit of an Ashwamedha sacrifice.
0100	32	यदृच्छयापि योऽध्यात्मरामायणमनादरात् । अन्यतः शृणुयान्मर्त्यः सोऽपि मुच्येत पातकात् ॥ ३२ ॥	yadrccchayāpi yo'dhyātmarāmāyaṇamanādarāt anyataḥ śṛṇuyānmartyaḥ so'pi mucyeta pātakāt 32	32. One who casually listens to the Adhyatma Ramayana from another without showing reverence, even he is freed from sin.
0100	34	लिखित्वा पुस्तकेऽध्यात्मरामायणमशेषतः । यो दद्याद्रामभक्तिभ्यस्तस्य पुण्यफलं शृणु ॥ ३४ ॥	likhitvā pustake'dhyātmarāmāyaṇamaśeṣataḥ yo dadyādrāmabhaktibhyastasya puṇyaphalaṃ śṛṇu 34	34. Do thou listen to the merit achieved by one who writes out the whole of the Adhyatma Ramayana and gives it to a devotee of Rama.
0100	35	अधीतेषु च वेदेषु शास्त्रेषु व्याकृतेषु च । यत्फलं दुर्लभं लोके तत्फलं तस्य सम्भवेत् ॥ ३५ ॥	adhīteṣu ca vedeṣu śāstreṣu vyākṛteṣu ca yatphalaṃ durlabhaṃ lōke tatphalaṃ tasya sambhavet 35	35. The merit that attaches to the study of the Vedas or expositions of the Shastras, even such a merit which is difficult to be attained in the world, is attained by such a person
0100	38	उपवासव्रतं कृत्वा श्रीरामनवमीदिने । रात्रौ जागरितोऽध्यात्मरामायणमनन्यधीः । यः पठेच्छृणुयाद्वापि तस्य पुण्यं वदाम्यहम् ॥ ३८ ॥	upavāsavratam kṛtvā śrīrāmanavamīdine rātrau jāgarito'dhyātmarāmāyaṇamananyadhīḥ yaḥ paṭhecchṛṇuyādvāpi tasya puṇyam vadāmyaham 38	38-40. I shall now declare to thee the merit that attaches to one who having observed a fast on the Ramanavami day and keeping a vigil in the night, recites or hears recited the Adhyatma Ramayana with concentration of mind. The merit that attaches to one who repeatedly visits sacred places like Kurukshetra and gives at the time of a solar eclipse standing in the water there to Brahmanas, learned as Vyasa, as much wealth as he can afford, attaches to the reader or reciter of the Adhyatma Ramayana; this is true, this is true. Of this, there is no doubt.

Even gods with Indra at their head wait the commands of one who cheerfully sings the Adhyatma Ramayana day and night.
0100	42	पठन् प्रत्यहमध्यात्मरामायणमनुव्रतः। यद्यत्करोति तत्कर्म ततः कोटिगुणं भवेत् ॥ ४२ ॥	paṭhan pratyahamadhyātmārāmāyaṇamanuvrataḥ yadyatkaroti tatkarma tataḥ koṭiguṇaṁ bhavet ॥ 42 ॥	42. One who, observant of vows, daily reads the Adhyatma Ramayana, has the fruit of whatever he does multiplied a crore-fold.
0100	43	तत्र श्रीरामहृदयं यः पठेत् सुसमाहितः। स ब्रह्मघ्नोऽपि पूतात्मा त्रिभिरेव दिनेभवेत् ॥ ४३ ॥	tatra śrīrāmaḥrdayaṁ yaḥ paṭhet susamāhitaḥ sa brahmaghno'pi pūtātmā tribhireva dinairbhavet ॥ 43 ॥	43. He who reads there the auspicious Ramahridaya with a concentrated mind, becomes purified in three days, even if he is the slayer of a Brahmana.
0100	44	श्रीरामहृदयं यस्तु हनूमत्प्रतिमान्तिके। त्रिः पठेत् प्रत्यहं मौनी स सर्वेप्सितभाग्भवेत् ॥ ४४ ॥	śrīrāmaḥrdayaṁ yastu hanūmatpratimāntike triḥ paṭhet pratyahaṁ maunī sa sarvepsitabhāgbhavet ॥ 44 ॥	44. He who having observed the vow of silence, reads the auspicious Ramahridaya thrice daily in front of the image of Hanuman, achieves all that he wishes.
0100	45	पठन् श्रीरामहृदयं तुलस्यश्वत्थयोरीदि। प्रत्यक्षरं प्रकुर्वीत ब्रह्महत्यानिवर्तनम् ॥ ४५ ॥	paṭhan śrīrāmaḥrdayaṁ tulasyaśvatthayoryadi pratyakṣaraṁ prakurvīta brahmahatyānivartanam ॥ 45 ॥	45. If one reads the auspicious Ramahridaya circumbulating the Tulsi and the Ashwatha trees, as he reads each letter, he wards off the sin of Brahmanicide.
0100	47	तत्ते किञ्चित्प्रवक्ष्यामि कृत्स्नं वक्तुं न शक्यते। यज्ज्ञात्वा तत्क्षणाल्लोकश्चित्तशुद्धिमवाप्नुयात् ॥ ४७ ॥	tatte kiñcitpravakṣyāmi kṛtsnaṁ vaktuṁ na śakyate yajñātvā tatkṣaṇāllokaścittaśuddhimavāpnuyāt ॥ 47 ॥	47. I shall somehow declare to thee a portion of it, the whole of it cannot be declared. Knowing it, one acquires purity of mind in this world.
0100	48	श्रीरामगीता यत्पापं न नाशयति नारद। तन्न नश्यति तीर्थादौ लोके क्वापि कदाचन। तन्न पश्याम्यहं लोके मार्गमाणोऽपि सर्वदा ॥ ४८ ॥	śrīrāmagītā yatpāpaṁ na nāśayati nārada tanna naśyati tīrthādau loke kvāpi kadācana tanna paśyāmyahaṁ loke mārgamaṇo'pi sarvadā ॥ 48 ॥	48. The sin which the Ramagita does not destroy, O Narada, is not destroyed anywhere in this world, by any place sacred or otherwise. Ever seeking I could not find such means of purification.
0100	49	रामेणोपनिषत्सिन्धुमुन्मत्थोत्पादितं मुदा। लक्ष्मणायापितां गीतासुधां पीत्वाऽमरो भवेत् ॥ ४९ ॥	rāmeṇopaniṣatsindhunummatthotpāditam mudā lakṣmaṇāyāpitāṁ gītāsudhāṁ pītva'maro bhavet ॥ 49 ॥	49. Rama having churned the ocean of the Upanishads took out this nectar of the Ramagita and cheerfully gave it to Lakshmana. By drinking this nectar, one becomes immortal.
0100	50	जमदग्निस्तुः पुर्वं कार्तावीर्यवधेच्छया। धनुर्विद्यामभ्यसितुं महेशस्यान्तिके वसन् ॥ ५० ॥	jamadagnisutaḥ purvaṁ kārtavīryavadhecchayā dhanurvidyāmabhyasituṁ maheśasyāntike vasan ॥ 50 ॥	50. There, having heard the Ramagita carefully recited by Parvati, he adopted it and by reading it rapidly attained to a portion of the energy of Narayana.
0100	52	ब्रह्महत्यादिपापानां निष्कृतिं यदि वाञ्छति। रामगीतां मासमात्रं पठित्वा मुच्यते नरः ॥ ५२ ॥	brahmahatyādiapāpānāṁ niṣkṛtiṁ yadi vāñchati rāmagītāṁ māsamātraṁ paṭhitvā mucyate naraḥ ॥ 52 ॥	52. If one wishes for expiation of sins like killing a Brahmana he becomes purified thereof by reading the Ramagita for only one month.
0100	53	दुष्पुःरतिग्रहदुर्भोज्यदुरालापादिसम्भवम्। पापं यत्तत्कीर्तनेन रामगीता विनाशयेत् ॥ ५३ ॥	duṣp;ratigrahadurbhojayadurālāpādisambhavam pāpaṁ yattatkīrtanena rāmagītā vināśayet ॥ 53 ॥	53. The sin that attaches to the receiving of an improper gift, to eating improper food, to speaking evil words, is destroyed by a single recitation of the Ramagita.
0100	54	शालग्रामशिलाग्रे च तुलस्यश्वत्थसन्निधौ। यतीनां पुरतस्तद्वत् रामगीतां पठेत्तु यः ॥ ५४ ॥	śālagrāmaśilāgre ca tulasyaśvatthasannidhau yatīnāṁ puratastadvat rāmagītāṁ paṭhettu yaḥ ॥ 54 ॥	54—57. He who reads the Ramagita in front of the Saligrama image, or near the Tulsi or Ashwatha tree or before an assembly of men of restrained minds, attains to that merit which is beyond the range of speech. The forefathers of one who feeds the Brahmanas in a Sraddha after having with devotion read the Ramagita, attain to the supreme abode of Vishnu. He who having observed a fast on the Ekadasi day, reads the Gita with a restrained mind at the foot of the Agastya tree on the Dwadasi day, becomes verily Raghava himself, and is worshipped by all the gods.

Even without meditation, without gifts, without bathing in sacred places, one attains to immeasurable merits by merely reading the Ramagita.

What need is there of saying much, do thou Narada listen to truth. All the Srutis, the Smritis, the Itihasas and the Puranas do not possess a sixteenth of the greatness of the Adhyatma Ramayana.
0100	60	अध्यात्मरामचरितस्य मुनीश्वराय माहात्म्यमेतदुदितं कमलासनेन । यः श्रद्धया पठति वा शृणुयात् स मर्त्यः प्राप्नोति विष्णुपदवीं सुरपूज्यमानः ॥ ६० ॥ इति श्रीब्रह्माण्डपुराणे उत्तरखण्डे अध्यात्मरामायणमाहात्म्यं सम्पूर्णम् ॥	adhyātmarāmacaritasya munīśvarāya mähātmyametaduditaṁ kamalāsanaena yaḥ śraddhayā paṭhati vā śṛṇuyāt sa martyaḥ prāpnoti viṣṇupadavīm surapūjyamānaḥ 60 iti śrībrahmāṇḍapurāṇe uttarakhaṇḍe adhyātmarāmāyaṇamāhātmyaṁ sampūrṇam	60. This greatness of the Adhyatma Ramayana was declared to the chief of Munis (Narada) by the lotus-seated Brahma. He who reads or listens to this with faith attains to the abode of Vishnu and is worshipped by the gods.

I bow to that Lord of Janaki, who is of the nature of intelligence, who incarnated amongst men at the prayer of the gods to lighten the burdens of the world, who took a human form under the influence of Maya, and was born on earth in the dynasty of the kings of the solar race, who is without decay and who, after killing the chief of the Rakshasas and spreading his never-fading glory, the destroyer of all sins in the world, returned to his abode in eternal Brahma.

I bow to Him who is One, who is the cause of the creation, preservation and dissolution of the universe, who, though appearing to be under the influence of Maya, is yet independent of her, who is beyond the range of conception, who is bliss itself, who is of the nature of pure knowledge, who is the lord of Sita, and who knows the reality.
0101	3	पठन्ति ये नित्यमनन्यचेतसः शृण्वन्ति चाध्यात्मिकसञ्ज्ञितं शुभम् । रामायणं सर्वपुराणसंमतं निश्चूतपापा हरिमेव यान्ति ते ॥ ३ ॥	paṭhanti ye nityamananyacetasaḥ śṛṇvanti cādhyātmikasañjñitam śubham rāmāyaṇaṁ sarvapurāṇasaṁmataṁ nirdhūtapāpā harimeva yānti te 3	3. They who daily read with concentrated minds the Adhyatma Ramayana which is auspicious, which is in accordance with the teachings of all the Puranas, go to Hari with their sins washed off.

One who wishes to be released from the fetters of the Samsara, should daily read the Adhyatma Ramayana. He who daily listens to the Adhyatma Ramayana acquires merit greater than that of giving away millions of cows.
0101	5	पुरारिगिरिसम्भूता श्रीरामार्णवसङ्गता । अध्यात्मरामगङ्गेयं पुनाति भुवनत्रयम् ॥ ५ ॥	purārigirisambhūtā śrīrāmārṇavasāṅgatā adhyātmarāmagaṅgeyaṁ punāti bhuvanatrayaṁ 5	5. This Ganges of the Adhyatma Ramayana having taken its rise from the mountain known as the destroyer of the city (Shiva), joins the ocean known as the auspicious Rama and purifies the three worlds.
0101	6	कैलासाग्रे कदाचिद्रविशतविमले मन्दिरे रत्नपीठे संविष्टं ध्याननिष्ठं त्रिनयनमभयं सेवितं सिद्धसन्धेः । देवी वामाङ्कुसंस्था गिरिवरतनया पार्वती भक्तिनम्रा प्राहेदं देवमीशं सकलमलहरं वाक्यमानन्दकन्दम् ॥ ६ ॥	kailāsāgre kadācidraviśatavimale mandire ratnapīṭhe samviṣṭam dhyānaniṣṭhaṁ trinayanamabhayaṁ sevitaṁ siddhasaṅghaiḥ devī vāmāṅkusaṁsthā girīvaratanayā pārvatī bhaktinamrā prāhedam devamīśam sakalamalaharaṁ vākyaṁānandakandam 6	6. Once upon a time, the goddess Parvati, daughter of the king of mountains, who is ever abiding on the left side of the god Shiva, said with devotion the following words to the three-eyed god, who was seated on a seat covered with jewels, in a temple on the top of the Kailasa mountain, resplendent like a hundred suns, engaged in meditation, fearless and served by multitudes of Siddhas, the destroyer of all sins and the root of bliss.

0101	7	पार्वत्युवाच नमोऽस्तु ते देव जगन्निवास सर्वामृदक् त्वं परमेश्वरोऽसि । पृच्छामि तत्त्वं पुरुषोत्तमस्य सनातनं त्वं च सनातनोऽसि ॥ ७ ॥	pārvatīyuvāca namo'stu te deva jagannivāsa sarvāmṛdṛk tvam paramēśvaro'si । prcchāmi tattvam puruṣottamasya sanātanaṁ tvam ca sanātano'si ॥ 7 ॥	7.Parvati said —Salutations to thee, O God, the refuge of the world. Thou art the knower of all, as thy own self, thou art the supreme Lord, I ask thee about the eternal nature of the Highest Purusha. Thou art thyself eternal.
0101	8	गोप्यं यदत्यन्तमनन्यवाच्यं वदन्ति भक्त्युपमहानुभावाः । तदप्यहोऽहं तव देव भक्ता प्रियोऽसि मे त्वं वद यत्तु पृष्ठम् ॥ ८ ॥	gopyaṁ yadatyantamananyavācyaṁ vadanti bhakteṣu mahānubhāvāḥ । tadapyaho'haṁ tava deva bhaktā priyo'si me tvam vada yattu prṣṭam ॥ 8 ॥	8. The great declare to their devotees even what is otherwise kept secret and is not to be revealed to anyone. Wonderful! O God! do I, thy devotee, question thee. Thou art dear to me, do thou tell me what I am going to ask thee about.

Woman though I am, I know what thou hast already said, yet again I ask thee about the nature of jñana and vijñana (knowledge and the realization thereof); the science of devotion and renunciation do thou once more declare in measured words that I can understand, by which people may cross this ocean of life.
0101	10	पृच्छामि चान्यच्च परं रहस्यं तदेव चाग्रे वद वारिजाक्ष । श्रीरामचन्द्रेऽखिललोकसारे भक्तिर्दृढा नौर्भवति प्रसिद्धा ॥ १० ॥	prcchāmi cānyacca paraṁ rahasyaṁ tadeva cāgre vada vārijākṣa । śrīrāmacandre'khilalokasāre bhaktirdṛḍhā naurbhavati prasiddhā ॥ 10 ॥	10. I ask thee another question which is a deep mystery, do thou, O lotus-eyed god, answer it. Steadfast devotion to that essence of the world known as the auspicious Rama, is declared to be the first boat for crossing this ocean of worldly life.
0101	11	भक्तिः प्रसिद्धा भवमोक्षणाय नान्यत्ततः साधनमस्ति किञ्चित् । तथापि हृत्संशयबन्धनं मे विभेत्तुमर्हस्यमलौकितभिस्त्वम् ॥ ११ ॥	bhaktiḥ prasiddhā bhavamokṣaṇāya nānyattataḥ sādhanamasti kiñcit । tathāpi hṛtsaṁśayabandhanaṁ me vibhettumarhasyamaloktibhistaṁ ॥ 11 ॥	11. For release from Samsara, devotion is said to be the only means, there is no other means. Yet it behoves thee to drive away the doubt that is lurking in my mind, by thy pure instruction.
0101	12	वदन्ति रामं परमेकमाद्यं निरस्तमायागुणसम्प्रवाहम् । भजन्ति चाहर्निशमप्रमत्ताः परं पदं यान्ति तथैव सिद्धाः ॥ १२ ॥	vadanti rāmaṁ paramekamādyāṁ nirastamāyāguṇasampravāham । bhajanti cāharniśamapramattāḥ paraṁ padaṁ yānti tathaiva siddhāḥ ॥ 12 ॥	12. They say that Rama is One, foremost of all beings, above the flow of the attributes of Maya, and that those who carefully worship him day and night, attain to the supreme abode through realization of self;
0101	13	वदन्ति केचित्परमोऽपि रामः स्वाविद्यया संवृतमात्मसंज्ञम् । जानाति नात्मानमतः परेण सम्बोधितो वेद परात्मतत्त्वम् ॥ १३ ॥	vadanti kecitparamo'pi rāmaḥ svāvidyayā samvṛtamātmasañjñam । jānāti nātmānamataḥ pareṇa sambodhito veda parātmataṭṭvam ॥ 13 ॥	13. Some say that though supreme, Rama did not know his nature through the influence of his own Maya. He, however, knew the nature of the supreme self when roused by another. Note: The allusion here is to Brahma telling Rama of his supreme nature (vide Valmiki Ramayana, Yuddha Kanda, Chapter 117).
0101	14	यदि स्म जानाति कुतो विलापः सीताकृतेऽनेन कृतः परेण । जानाति नैवं यदि केन सेव्यः समो हि सर्वैरपि जीवजातैः ॥ १४ ॥	yadi sma jānāti kuto vilāpaḥ sītākṛte'nena kṛtaḥ pareṇa । jānāti naivaṁ yadi kena sevyaḥ samo hi sarvairapi jīvajātaiḥ ॥ 14 ॥	14. If he knew his true self, why did he, the supreme lord, grieve over the loss of Sita. If he did not know his own atma, who would worship him, for he is then equal to other embodied creatures.
0101	15	अत्रोत्तरं किं विदितं भवद्भिः तद्ब्रूत मे संशयभेदि वाक्यम् ॥ १५ ॥	atrottaraṁ kiṁ viditaṁ bhavadbhiḥ tadbrūta me saṁśayabhedi vākyaṁ ॥ 15 ॥	15. What reply to this is known to thee, do thou tell me in order to dispel my doubt.
0101	16	श्रीमहादेव उवाच धन्यासि भक्तासि परात्मनस्त्वं यज्ज्ञातुमिच्छा तव रामतत्त्वम् । पुरा न केनाप्यभिचोदितोऽहं वक्तुं रहस्यं परमं निगूढम् ॥ १६ ॥	śrīmahādeva uvāca dhanyāsi bhaktāsi parātmanastvam yajjñātumicchā tava rāmatattvam । purā na kenāpyabhicodito'haṁ vaktuṁ rahasyaṁ paramaṁ nigūḍham ॥ 16 ॥	16. The Lord Mahadeva said: Blessed art thou, thou art the devotee of the Supreme self, thou that desire to know the nature of Rama. Before this, no one ever questioned me desirous of knowing this great mystery.
0101	17	त्वयाद्य भक्त्या परिनोदितोऽहं वक्ष्ये नमस्कृत्य रघूत्तमं ते । रामः परात्मा प्रकृतेरनादि- रानन्द एकः पुरुषोत्तमो हि ॥ १७ ॥	tvayādya bhaktyā parinodito'haṁ vakṣye namaskṛtya raghūttamaṁ te । rāmaḥ parātmā prakṛteranādi- rānanda ekaḥ puruṣottamo hi ॥ 17 ॥	17. Through devotion hast thou stirred me up. I shall answer thee having bowed to that foremost of Raghus. Rama is the Supreme self of Prakriti (Primordial nature) without beginning, bliss itself and the One Supreme Purusha.
0101	18	स्वमायया कृत्स्नमिदं हि सृष्ट्वा नभोवदन्तर्बहिरास्थितो यः । सर्वान्तरास्थोऽपि निगूढ आत्मा स्वमायया सृष्टमिदं विचष्टे ॥ १८ ॥	svamāyayā kṛtsnamidaṁ hi sṛṣṭvā nabhavadantarbahirāsthito yaḥ । sarvāntarastho'pi nigūḍha ātmā svamāyayā sṛṣṭamidaṁ vicaṣṭe ॥ 18 ॥	18. Having created the whole of this universe through his own Maya, he pervades it in and out, like space (akasa). Though abiding within all, his nature is concealed from all. He sees all created beings by his own Maya.

0101	19	जगन्ति नित्यं परितो भ्रमन्ति यत्सन्निधौ चुम्बकलोहवद्धि । एतन्न जानन्ति विमूढचिन्ताः स्वाविद्यया संवृतमानसा ये ॥ १९ ॥	jaganti nityaṃ parito bhramanti yatsannidhau cumbakalohavaddhi । etanna jānanti vimūḍhacittāḥ svāvidyayā saṃvṛtamānasā ye ॥ 19 ॥	19. These worlds ever revolve round him like iron drawn by magnet. This, those of deluded minds know not, because of understandings enveloped with ignorance of their own creation.
0101	20	स्वाज्ञानमप्यात्मनि शुद्धबुद्धे स्वरोपयन्तीह निरस्तमाये । संसारमेवानुसरन्ति ते वै पुत्रादिसक्ताः पुरुकर्मयुक्ताः ॥ २० ॥	svājñānamapyātmani śuddhabuddhe svāropayantiha nirastamāye । saṃsāramevānūsaranti te vai putrādisaktāḥ purukarmayuktāḥ ॥ 20 ॥	20. They superimpose their own nescience upon Him who is the Self of all, who is pure, who is beyond Maya. Attached to wives and sons and engaged in actions of various kinds, they wander about in the Samsara.
0101	21	यथाऽप्रकाशो न तु विद्यते रवौ ज्योतिःस्वभावे परमेश्वरे तथा । विशुद्धविज्ञानघने रघूत्तमेऽविद्या कथं स्यात्परतः परात्मनि ॥ २१ ॥	yathā'prakāśo na tu vidyate ravau jyotiḥsvabhāve parameśvare tathā । viśuddhavijñānaghane raghūttame'vidyā katham syātparataḥ parātmani ॥ 21 ॥	21. They do not know Him who abides in their own hearts, like those who forgetting the necklace round their own necks run about in quest of it everywhere. Just as darkness does not abide in the sun whose nature is light itself even so Avidya (nescience) does not abide in Supreme Lord whose nature is light. How can nescience reside in the supreme Raghu (Rama) who is replete with pure intelligence, and who is the supreme-most?
0101	22	यथा हि चाक्ष्णा भ्रमता गृहादिकं विनष्टदृष्टेभ्रमतीव दृश्यते । तथैव देहेन्द्रियकर्तुरात्मनः कृते परेऽध्यस्य जने विमुह्यति ॥ २२ ॥	yathā hi cākṣṇā bhramatā gṛhādikaṃ vinaṣṭadrṣṭerbhramatīva dṛśyate । tathaiva dehendriyakarturātmanāḥ kṛte pare'dhyasya jano vimuhyati ॥ 22 ॥	22. Just as stars and other objects appear moving to one of defective sight from the turning of the eyes, even so is man stupefied in superimposing the notion of doer upon the supreme self, when the doer is the aggregate of the body, the senses and the Ahankara (ego).
0101	23	नाहो न रात्रिः सवितुर्यथा भवेत् प्रकाशरूपाव्यभिचारतः क्वचित् । ज्ञानं तथाज्ञानमिदं द्वयं हरौ रामे कथं स्थास्यति शुद्धचिद्घने ॥ २३ ॥	nāho na rātriḥ savituryathā bhavet prakāśarūpāvyabhicārataḥ kvacit । jñānaṃ tathājñānamidaṃ dvayaṃ harau rāme katham sthāsyati śuddhacidghane ॥ 23 ॥	23. Day and night never appear in the sun whose nature, which is light, never leaves him. In the same way how can then knowledge and ignorance abide in Hari (Rama) whose nature is pure intelligence itself (chidghana).
0101	24	तस्मात्परानन्दमये रघूत्तमे विज्ञानरूपे हि न विद्यते तमः । अज्ञानसाक्षिण्यरविन्दलोचने मायाश्रयत्वान्न हि मोहकारणम् ॥ २४ ॥	tasmātparānandamaye raghūttame vijñānarūpe hi na vidyate tamaḥ । ajñānasākṣiṇyaravindalocane māyāśrayatvāna hi mohakāraṇam ॥ 24 ॥	24. Therefore darkness never abides in the foremost of Raghus, the lotus-eyed Rama, who is full of bliss, whose essence is knowledge; he is the witness of nescience itself. Therefore, it never overpowers him.
0101	25	अत्र ते कथयिष्यामि रहस्यमपि दुर्लभम् । सीताराममरुत्सूनुसंवादं मोक्षसाधनम् ॥ २५ ॥	atra te kathayīṣyāmi rahasyamapi durlabham । sitārāmamarutsūnusavādaṃ mokṣasādhanaṃ ॥ 25 ॥	25. Here I shall tell thee a mystery which is difficult of comprehension. It is the dialogue between Sita, Rama and Hanuman and is a means of emancipation.
0101	26	पुरा रामायणे रामे रावणं देवकण्टकम् । हत्वा रणे रणश्लाघी सपुत्रबलवाहनम् ॥ २६ ॥	purā rāmāyaṇe rāme rāvaṇaṃ devakaṇṭakam । hatvā raṇe raṇaślāghī saputrabalavāhanaṃ ॥ 26 ॥	26—27. In the days of the Ramayana, Rama who was skilled in warfare having killed Ravana, that thorn on the side of the gods, with all his sons, army and followers, came to Ayodhya in company with Sita, Sugriva, Lakshmana, Hanuman and others.
0101	27	सीतया सह सुग्रीवलक्ष्मणाभ्यां समन्वितः । अयोध्यामगमद्रामो हनूमत्प्रमुखैर्वृतः ॥ २७ ॥	sītayā saha sugrīvalakṣmaṇābhyāṃ samanvitaḥ । ayodhyāmagamadrāmo hanūmatpramukhairvṛtaḥ ॥ 27 ॥	Included above..

Installed on the throne, surrounded by Vasishtha and other great men, he was seated resplendent like a million suns.
0101	29	दृष्ट्वा तदा हनूमन्तं प्राञ्जलिं पुरतः स्थितम् । कृतकार्यं निराकाङ्क्षं ज्ञानापेक्षं महामतिम् ॥ २९ ॥	dṛṣṭvā tadā hanūmantaṃ prāñjaliṃ purataḥ sthitaṃ । kṛtakāryaṃ nirākāṅkṣaṃ jñānāpekṣaṃ mahāmatim ॥ 29 ॥	29—30. Seeing Hanuman standing in front of him with folded hands, his duties performed, without attachment to anything, of great intelligence; and desirous of instruction, Rama said to Sita “do thou declare to Hanuman the truth. He is without faults, qualified to obtain knowledge and devoted to us.”
0101	30	रामः सीतामुवाचेदं ब्रूहि तत्त्वं हनूमते । निष्कल्मषोऽयं ज्ञानस्य पात्रं नो नित्यभक्तिमान् ॥ ३० ॥	rāmaḥ sītāmuvācedaṃ brūhi tattvaṃ hanūmate । niṣkalmaṣo'yaṃ jñānasya pātraṃ no nityabhaktimān ॥ 30 ॥	Included above..

0101	32	सीतोवाच रामं विद्धि परं ब्रह्म सच्चिदानन्दमद्वयम् । सर्वोपाधिविनिर्मुक्तं सत्तामात्रमगोचरम् ॥ ३२ ॥	sītovāca rāmaṃ viddhi paraṃ brahma saccidānandamadvayam । sarvopādhivinirmuktaṃ sattāmātramagocaram ॥ 32 ॥	32—33. Sita said: “Know Rama to be the Supreme Brahman, Truth, Intelligence and Bliss, without a second, free from all superimpositions, being itself beyond conception. Happy, pure, calm, free from defect, devoid of faults, pervading all, the self of all self-illuminated and above error.

Know me to be the Primeval Prakriti, the creator, preserver and destroyer. By mere proximity to Him, do I ever watchfully create all this.
0101	35	तत्सन्नधिध्यानमया सृष्टं तस्मिन्नारोप्यतेऽबुधैः । अयोध्यानगरे जन्म रघुवंशेऽतिनिर्मले ॥ ३५ ॥	tatsānnidhyānamayā sṛṣṭaṃ tasminnāropyate'budhaiḥ । ayodhyānagare janma raghuvaṃśe'tinirmale ॥ 35 ॥	35—42. From proximity to Him what is created by me is superimposed upon Him by the ignorant. Birth in Ayodhya in the highly sacred family of the Raghus, assisting at the sacrifice of Vishwamitra, removing the curse upon Ahalya, breaking of Mahadeva's bow, my marriage to him, destruction of the pride of Bhargava residence for twelve years with me in Ayodhya, journey to the Dandakaranya, killing of Viradha and the illusory Maricha, abduction of the illusory Sita, emancipation of Jatayu and Kabandha, worship of Rama by Sabari, meeting with Sugriva, killing of Bali and the quest after Sita, bridging the ocean and the siege of Lanka, killing of the evil minded Ravana in battle together with all his sons, installation of Vibhishana on the throne of Lanka, the ride in the Pushpaka car with me, journey to Ayodhya, and installation of Rama on the throne, these and like actions though done by me (Maya), the ignorant attribute to the unchangeable Rama, the self of all.

Rama never moves, nor stands, nor grieves, nor wishes for anything, nor renounces, nor does anything. The embodiment of bliss, unmoved, unchangeable, he appears to be following the attributes of Maya.
0101	44	ततो रामः स्वयं प्राह हनूमन्तमुपस्थितम् । शृणु तत्त्वं प्रवक्ष्यामि ह्यात्मानात्मपरात्मनाम् ॥ ४४ ॥	tato rāmaḥ svayaṃ prāha hanūmantamupasthitam । śṛṇu tattvaṃ pravakṣyāmi hyātmānātmaparātmanām ॥ 44 ॥	44. The Lord Mahadeva said: Then Rama himself said to Hanuman who was standing near him “Listen now to the truth about self, not self but the Supreme Self as I declare it to thee.”
0101	45	आकाशस्य यथा भेदस्तिविधो दृश्यते महान् । जलाशये महाकाशस्तदवच्छिन्न एव हि । प्रतिबिम्बाख्यमपरं दृश्यते त्रिविधं नभः ॥ ४५ ॥	ākāśasya yathā bhedastrividho dṛśyate mahān । jalāśaye mahākāśastadavacchinna eva hi । pratibimbākhyamaparaṃ dṛśyate trividhaṃ nabhaḥ ॥ 45 ॥	45. Just as there appears to be three kinds of space, viz., space absolute, space as limited by a jar and space as reflected in the water that is in the jar.

0101	46	बुद्ध्यवच्छिन्नचैतन्यमेकं पूर्णमथापरम् । आभासस्त्वपरं बिम्बभूतमेवं त्रिधा चितिः ॥ ४६ ॥	buddhyavacchinnacaitanyamekaṁ pūrṇamathāparam । ābhāsavaparam bimbabhūtamevaṁ tridhā citiḥ ॥ 46 ॥	46—47. Even so is the Intelligence (Chaitanya) limited by the principle of cognition and Intelligence reflected and Intelligence absolute. In this way Intelligence is threefold. The notion of the doer which is the function of intelligence as reflected in the Buddhi together with the notion of Jiva (embodied self) is superimposed upon the unlimited, the undefiled, the witness, (Absolute Intelligence), by the foolish.
0101	47	साभासबुद्धेः कर्तृत्वमविच्छिन्नेऽविकारिणि । साक्षिण्यारोप्यते भ्रान्त्या जीवत्वं च तथा बुधेः ॥ ४७ ॥	sābhāsabuddheḥ kartṛtvamavicchinne'vikāriṇi । sākṣiṇyāropyate bhrāntyā jīvatvaṁ ca tathā budhaiḥ ॥ 47 ॥	Included above..

The reflection of the intelligence is an erroneous belief as it is said to be a result of nescience. Brahma is without limitations and limitation is a superimposition upon Him.
0101	49	अविच्छिन्नस्य पूर्णेन एकत्वं प्रतिपाद्यते । तत्त्वमस्यादिवाक्यैश्च साभासस्याहमस्तथा ॥ ४९ ॥	avicchinnaṁasya pūrṇena ekatvaṁ pratipādyate । tattvamasyādivākyaiśca sābhāsasyāhamastathā ॥ 49 ॥	49. The unity of the limitless with the reflected self with what underlies the notion of egoism is established through sayings like Thou art That.
0101	50	ऐक्यज्ञानं यदोत्पन्नं महावाक्येन चात्मनोः । तदाऽविद्या स्वकार्यैश्च नश्यत्येव न संशयः ॥ ५० ॥	aikyajñānaṁ yadotpannaṁ mahāvākyena cātmanoḥ । tadā'vidyā svakāryaiśca naśyatyeva na saṁśayaḥ ॥ 50 ॥	50. When this knowledge of the identity of the two selves arises through the great saying (Thou art that), then Avidya with all her off- shoots is destroyed. Of this, there is no doubt.
0101	51	एतद्विज्ञाय मद्भक्तो मद्भावायोपपद्यते । मद्भक्तिविमुखानां हि शास्त्रगतेषु मुह्यताम् । न ज्ञानं न च मोक्षः स्यात्तेषां जन्मशतैरपि ॥ ५१ ॥	etadvijñāya madbhakto madbhāvāyopapadyate । madbhaktivimukhānāṁ hi śāstragarteṣu muhyatām । na jñānaṁ na ca mokṣaḥ syātteṣāṁ janmaśatairapi ॥ 51 ॥	51. Knowing this, my devotee attains to my own self. Let those who are devoid of devotion to me, roll in the abyss of the Shastras. Theirs is neither knowledge nor emancipation, even through hundreds of incarnations.
0101	52	इदं रहस्यं हृदयं ममात्मनो मयैव साक्षात्कथितं तवानघ । मद्भक्तिहीनाय शठाय न त्वया दातव्यमैन्द्रादपि राज्यतोऽधिकम् ॥ ५२ ॥	idaṁ rahasyaṁ hṛdayaṁ mamātmano mayaiḥ sāksātkathitaṁ tavānagha । madbhaktihīnāya śaṭhāya na tvayā dātavyamaindrādapi rājyato'dhikam ॥ 52 ॥	52. This deep mystery of the heart (essence) of my own self has been in truth declared by me to thee, O thou faultless one. Let it not be divulged to one who is without faith in me, who is of evil disposition, even though he gives for it, a kingdom greater than that of Indra himself."

The Lord Mahadeva said: " Thus, O Goddess, have I declared to thee the mystery of Rama, (Ramahridaya). It is a great secret, it is dear to the heart, it is a purifier and destroyer of sin.
0101	54	साक्षाद्रामेण कथितं सर्ववेदान्तसङ्ग्रहम् । यः पठेत्सततं भक्त्या स मुक्तो नात्र संशयः ॥ ५४ ॥	sāksādrāmeṇa kathitaṁ sarvavedāntasaṅgraham । yaḥ paṭhatsatataṁ bhaktyā sa mukto nātra saṁśayaḥ ॥ 54 ॥	54. This was said by Rama himself. It is a compendium of all the Vedanta. Whoever always reads it with faith, becomes emancipated. Of this, there is no doubt.
0101	55	ब्रह्महत्यादि पापानि बहुजन्मार्जितान्यपि । नश्यन्त्येव न सन्देहो रामस्य वचनं यथा ॥ ५५ ॥	brahmahatyādi pāpāni bahujanmārjitānyapi । naśyantyeva na sandeho rāmasya vacanaṁ yathā ॥ 55 ॥	55. Sins like that of Brahmanicide, even though committed in many lives, are destroyed by this, there is no doubt in this as it is the saying of Rama himself.

He who is greatly fallen, who is a man of very sinful deeds, who is always hankering after other people's wealth and other people's wives, who is a thief, who is guilty of the sin of Brahmanicide, patricide and matricide, who is a doer of evil to assemblies of yogis, even if such a person after worshipping Rama read this Ramahridaya with faith, he attains to a status which is worshipped by all the gods and which even yogis cannot attain.

The solicitation of the Gods to Vishnu for Incarnation. Parvati said: O Lord of the world, blessed am I, recipient of grace am I, my desire has been fulfilled. Through thy kindness, the knot of my heart which was lurking in the shape of doubt has been cut asunder.

The Lord Mahadeva said—Listen, O Goddess, as I tell thee that mystery of mysteries, the Adhyatma Ramayana story of Rama, as told to me in days of yore by Rama.
0102	5	तदद्य कथयिष्यामि शृणु तापत्रयापहम् । यच्छ्रुत्वा मुच्यते जन्तुरज्ञानोत्थमहाभयात् । प्राप्नोति परमामृद्धिम् दीर्घायुः पुत्रसन्ततिम् ॥ ५ ॥	tadadya kathayiṣyāmi śṛṇu tāpatrayāpaham । yacchrutvā mucyate janturajñānotthamahābhayāt । prāpnoti paramāmṛddhim dīrghāyuh putrasantatim ॥ 5 ॥	5. What I shall tell thee to-day is the destroyer of the three kinds of fear, the Adhyatmika, the Adhidaivika and the Adhibhoutika (internal, supernatural and external), by hearing which an embodied being is released from great fear caused by ignorance, obtains great affluence, long life and numerous progeny.

Sunk under the weight of oppression of Ravana and the other Rakshasas, the earth assuming the form of a cow went accompanied with the gods and the Munis to the God whose seat is the lotus. There with tears in her eyes she told Brahma all her sorrow, brahma could not discover the cause of it in his heart, but realizing that the self is the same in all, after reflecting for a Muhūrta (one hour) he found it out.

Then Brahma, together with all the Devas and the earth, went to the ocean of milk, to Hari who abides in the heart of all, who knows no decay and who is the omniscient lord of all, and with tears of joy running in his eyes and in faltering accents full of devotion he praised Him in words clear and embodying the essence of the Vedas and through hymns founded upon many a Purana.

Somehow or other Brahma had a sight of Him who cannot be seen by those whose minds are uncontrolled. Shining like a sapphire, with a smiling countenance and eyes like buds of the lotus, bedecked with a crown, necklet, armlets, earrings, bracelets, etc., blazing forth with splendour of the Srivatsa and Koustubha gems, praised by Sanaka and others surrounded by his followers, carrying the conch, the discus, the mace and the lotus, wearing a garland of flowers of the forest, a sacred thread of gold and a dress of the colour like gold, accompanied with Sri and Bhumi and riding the Garuda, thus He appeared to Brahma who commenced praising Him in accents faltering through joy.

Those who are thy devotees and know the truth, wish only for devotion to thy feet. Therefore, let me ever have devotion to thy feet. Devotion to thee is the only remedy for those who are being scorched with the fever of the Samsara.

Then in anger he broke the vessels containing milk, curds and butter with a stick and threw down the whole of it. He then gave the milk and curds to Lakshmana, Bharata and Satrugna, and when the cook informed the mother of it, she laughingly ran to catch him.

Just on seeing her coming Rama and his companions all ran off. Running after Rama, with faltering steps she caught him and taking him by the hand led him away without saying anything. Acting like a child Rama began to sob.

Then the mother fondled the children and pressed them to her breast. In this way, He Who is the source of happiness to all, who is of the nature of bliss, having assumed a childlike form through Maya, made the husband and wife (Dasaratha and Kausalya) happy.
0103	59	मायाबालवपुर्धृत्वा रमयामास दम्पती । अथ कालेन ते सर्वे कौमारं प्रतिपेदिरे ॥ ५९ ॥	māyābālavapurdhṛtvā ramayāmāsa dampatī atha kālena te sarve kaumāraṃ pratipedire 59	59—61. In time those children grew up to boyhood. They were then invested with the sacred thread by Vasishta and made proficient in all the sciences. Those lords of the world, who had taken human forms through sport, knew the meaning of all Sastras and became attached to the science of arms.

Lakshmana always reverently followed Rama like a devotee and Satrugna did the same to Bharata. With his bows and arrows in quiver the Lord Rama riding a horse always went to the forest in company of Lakshmana for the purpose of hunting. Killing noxious brutes, he brought them and laid them before his father.

Taking his meals daily in the company of his relations he heard the mysteries of the Dharmasastras expounded by Munis and expounded them himself.
0103	66	एवं परात्मा मनुजावतारो मनुष्यलोकाननुसृत्य सर्वम् । चक्रेऽविकारी परिणामहीनो विचार्यमाणे न करोति किञ्चित् ॥ ६६॥ इति श्रीमदध्यात्मरामायणे उमामहेश्वरसंवादे बालकाण्डे तृतीयः सर्गः ॥ ३॥	evaṁ parātmā manuḷāvatāro manuṣyalokānanusṛtya sarvaṁ । cakre'vikāri pariṇāmahīno vicāryamaṇe na karoti kiñcit ॥ 66 ॥ iti śrīmadadhyātmaramāyaṇe umāmaheśvara-saṁvāde bālakāṇḍe tṛtīyaḥ sargaḥ ॥ 3 ॥	66. In this way did the Supreme Self having taken a human form did all that the good amongst men do. When reflected upon in his true nature he is in truth without change, without blemish and though doing is in reality doing nothing.
0104	1	॥ चतुर्थः सर्गः ॥ श्रीमहादेव उवाच कदाचित्कौशिकोऽभ्यागादयोध्यां ज्वलनप्रभः । द्रष्टुं रामं परात्मानं जातं ज्ञात्वा स्वमायया ॥ १॥	॥ caturthaḥ sargaḥ ॥ śrīmahādeva uvāca kadācitkauśiko'bhyāgādāyodhyāṁ jvalanaprabhaḥ । draṣṭuṁ rāmaṁ parātmānaṁ jātaṁ jñātvā svamāyayā ॥ 1 ॥	1. The Lord Mahadeva said: Once upon a time the Rishi Viswamitra who was blazing like fire, came to Ayodhya to see Rama, having come to know of the supreme self's incarnation as such through Maya.

On seeing him Raja Dasaratha immediately rose up from his seat and with Vasishta worshipped him according to the Shastras.
0104	3	कृतार्थोऽस्मि मुनीन्द्राहं त्वदागमनकारणात् ॥ ३॥	kṛtārtho'smi munīndrāhaṁ tvadāgamanakāraṇāt ॥ 3 ॥	3. Welcoming the Rishi with folded hands and with reverence, the Raja said to him: O Lord of Munis, I have, by seeing thee here, gained the object of my desire.

Prosperity goes to houses where persons like thee go. Tell me the object of thy coming and I shall fulfil it.

Give them to me if thou wish, after consulting Vasishta. The Raja became anxious and consulted Vasishta in secret. "O Master, what shall I do? My heart does not bear separation from Rama. I got these sons with great hardship after the lapse of many years.

They are equal to the gods. Of these Rama is dearest of all. If Rama goes away from here, I shall not live.

If he is refused, the Muni will curse me. There is no doubt in this. How shall it be good for me as well as I not depart from truth (tell me.)
0104	12	वसिष्ठ उवाच शृणु राजन् देवगुह्यं गोपनीयं प्रयत्नतः । रामो न मानुषो जातः परमात्मा सनातनः ॥ १२ ॥	vasiṣṭha uvāca śṛṇu rājan devaguhyaṁ gopaniyaṁ prayatnataḥ । rāmo na mānuṣo jātaḥ paramātmā sanātanaḥ ॥ 12 ॥	12. Said Vasishta : “Hear, O King, this mystery of the gods which is to be kept secret. Rama is no human being born. He is the eternal supreme self.
0104	13	भूमेर्भारावताराय ब्रह्मणा प्रार्थितः पुरा । स एव जातो भवने कौसल्यायां तवानघ ॥ १३ ॥	bhūmerbhārāvātārāya brahmaṇā prārthitaḥ purā । sa eva jāto bhavane kausalyāyāṁ tavānagha ॥ 13 ॥	13. In days of yore solicited by Brahma for lessening the burden of the earth, he, O thou sinless one! is born in thy house from Kausalya.
0104	14	त्वं तु प्रजापतिः पूर्वं कश्यपो ब्रह्मणः सुतः । कौसल्या चादितिर्देवमाता पूर्वं यशस्विनी ॥ १४ ॥	tvam tu prajāpatiḥ pūrvaṁ kaśyapo brahmaṇaḥ sutaḥ । kausalyā cāditirdevamātā pūrvaṁ yaśasvinī ॥ 14 ॥	14. Thou wast formerly Kasyapa Prajapati, the son of Brahma and the auspicious Kausalya, Aditi, the mother of the gods. Both of you performed severe austerities for many years.
0104	15	भवन्तो तप उग्रं वै तेषां बहुवत्सरम् । अग्राम्याविषयो विष्णुपूजाध्यानैकतत्परौ । तदा प्रसन्नो भगवान् वरदो भक्तवत्सलः ॥ १५ ॥	bhavantau tapa ugraṁ vai tepāthe bahuvasaram । agrāmyaviṣayau viṣṇupūjādhyānaikatatparau । tadā prasanno bhagavān varado bhaktavatsalaḥ ॥ 15 ॥	15. Unattached to all objects of the world, you were absorbed in devotion and meditation of Vishnu.
0104	16	वृणीष्व वरमित्युक्ते त्वं मे पुत्रो भवामल । इति त्वया याचितोऽसौ भगवान् भूतभावनः ॥ १६ ॥	vr̥ṇiṣva varamityukte tvam me putro bhavāmala । iti tvayā yācito'sau bhagavān bhūtabhāvanaḥ ॥ 16 ॥	16 - 18. Then that god, the giver of boons who is ever dear to his devotees, became well pleased and told you to solicit boons from him and you said, do thou, O sinless one, be my son. Thus solicited by thee, the upholder of the world said “let it be so”. Verily he is now born as Rama. Lakshmana is, O King, Sesa, who always follows Vishnu. Bharata and Satrugna are the bearers of the conch, the discus and the mace. The mother of the world, the Yoga Maya, is born as Sita, the daughter of Janaka.

This great mystery thou should not reveal to anyone. Therefore with a joyful heart, worshipping Viswamitra, thou should send Rama, the Lord of Rama (Lakshmi) together with Lakshmana.
0104	21	वसिष्ठेनैवमुक्तस्तु राजा दशरथस्तदा । कृतकृत्यमिवात्मानं मेने प्रमुदितान्तरः ॥ २१ ॥	vasiṣṭhenaivamuktastu rājā daśarathastadā । kṛtakṛtyamivātmānaṁ mene pramuditāntaraḥ ॥ 21 ॥	21. Thus advised by Vasishta, the king Dasaratha became well pleased and thought himself blessed.
0104	22	आहूय रामरामेति लक्ष्मणेति च सादरम् । आलिङ्ग्य मूर्ध्न्यवघ्राय कौशिकाय समर्पयत् ॥ २२ ॥	āhūya rāmarāmeti lakṣmaṇeti ca sādaram । āliṅgya mūrdhnyavaghrāya kauśikāya samarpayat ॥ 22 ॥	22. 0104	23	ततोऽतिहृष्टो भगवान् विश्वामित्रः प्रतापवान् । आशीर्भिरभिनन्द्याथ आगतौ रामलक्ष्मणौ । गृहीत्वा चापतूणीरबाणखड्गधरौ ययौ ॥ २३ ॥	tato'tihṛṣṭo bhagavān viśvāmitraḥ pratāpavān । āśīrbhirabhinandyātha āgatau rāmalakṣmaṇau । grhītvā cāpatūṇīrabāṇakhadgadharau yayau ॥ 23 ॥	23. The Lord Viswamitra of great lustre became highly gratified and blessed the king. Rama and Lakshmana then went out armed with bows, arrows, quivers and swords.

Having gone a little way, the Rishi Viswamitra called Rama and with reverence communicated to him the two celestial sciences known Bala and Atibala. By merely knowing these sciences hunger and lassitude do not affect one.

Then having crossed the Ganges they came to the forest where Tataka lived. Viswamitra then said to Rama of unfailing prowess.
0104	27	अत्रास्ति ताटका नाम राक्षसी कामरूपिणी । बाधते लोकमखिलं जहि तामविचारयन् ॥ २७ ॥	atrāsti tāṭakā nāma rākṣasī kāmārūpiṇī । bādhati lokamakhilaṁ jahi tāmavicārayan ॥ 27 ॥	27. “Here lives Tataka, a Rakshasi, who can assume diverse forms at will. Rama then said to the Rishi Viswamitra: "Do you, O Muni, now enter your sacrificial place.

He feasted Rama and his brother with ripe fruits and other things and entertained them with sweet ancient stories for three days.

0105	12	चतुर्थेऽहनि सम्प्राप्ते कोशिको राममब्रवीत् । राम राम महायज्ञं द्रष्टुं गच्छामहे वयम् ॥ १२ ॥	caturthe'hani samprāpte kauśiko rāmamabravit । rāma rāma mahāyajñam draṣṭuṁ gacchāmahe vayam ॥ 12 ॥	12. On the advent of the fourth day he said to Rama: “O Rama! O Rama of great prowess! we shall now go and see the great sacrifice in the city of the king of the Videhas, Janaka of great soul.
0105	13	विदेहराजनगरे जनकस्य महात्मनः । तत्र माहेश्वरं चापमस्ति न्यस्तं पिनाकिना ॥ १३ ॥	videharājanagare janakasya mahātmanah । tatra māheśvaram cāpamasti nyastam pinākinā ॥ 13 ॥	13—14. There thou shalt see the great bow of Maheswara placed by Pinaki (Mahadeva) and shall receive due worship.
0105	14	द्रक्ष्यसि त्वं महासत्त्वं पूज्यसे जनकेन च । इत्युक्त्वा मुनिभिस्ताभ्यां ययौ गङ्गासमीपगम् ॥ १४ ॥	drakṣyasi tvaṁ mahāsattvaṁ pūjyase janakena ca । ityuktvā munibhistābhyāṁ yayau gaṅgāsamīpagam ॥ 14 ॥	Included above..
0105	15	गौतमस्याश्रमं पुण्यं यत्राहल्याऽऽस्थिता तपः । दिव्यपुष्पफलोपेतपादपैः परिवेष्टितम् ॥ १५ ॥	gautamasyāśramam puṇyam yatrāhalyā"sthitā tapaḥ । divyapuṣpaphalopetapādapaiḥ pariveṣṭitam ॥ 15 ॥	15. Having said so the Muni together with Rama and Lakshmana went to the Ganges. They then reached the sacred Ashrama of Gantara which was close by and where Ahalya was performing penance. It was full of heavenly flowers and fruits and was surrounded with trees.
0105	16	मृगपाक्षिगणैर्हीनं नानाजन्तुविवर्जितम् । दृष्ट्वा वाच मुनिं श्रीमान् रामो राजीवलोचनः ॥ १६ ॥	mrgapakṣigaṇairhīnam nānājantuvivarjitam । drṣṭvovāca munim śrīmān rāmo rājīvalocanaḥ ॥ 16 ॥	16—17. It was, however, devoid of deer and birds and relinquished by creatures of all descriptions. On seeing this ashrama in such a condition the auspicious Rama, eyes like the lotus, said to the Muni, “whose is this ashrama resplendent with glory, full of trees, flowers and fruits and yet devoid of living creatures.
0105	17	कस्यैतदाश्रमपदं भाति भास्वच्छुभं महत् । पत्रपुष्पफलयुक्तं जन्तुभिः परिवर्जितम् ॥ १७ ॥	kasyaitadāśramapadam bhāti bhāsvacchubham mahat । patrapuṣpaphalairyuktaṁ jantubhiḥ parivarjitam ॥ 17 ॥	Included above..
0105	18	आह्लादयति मे चेतो भगवन् ब्रूहि तत्त्वतः ॥ १८ ॥	āhlādayati me ceto bhagavan brūhi tattvataḥ ॥ 18 ॥	18. It gives joy to my heart. Tell me, O master, truly whose Ashrama is this?
0105	19	सर्वधर्मभृतां श्रेष्ठस्तपसाराधयन् हरिम् ॥ १९ ॥	sarvadharmabhṛtām śreṣṭhastapasārādhayan harim ॥ 19 ॥	19. Viśwamitra said: “Listen, O Rama, to the ancient story. There was a Rishi named Gautama, well-known throughout the world. That leader of men following the path of virtue worshipped Hari through austerities.
0105	20	तस्मै ब्रह्मा ददौ कन्यामहल्यां लोकसुन्दरीम् । ब्रह्मचर्येण सन्तुष्टः शुश्रूषणपरायणाम् ॥ २० ॥	tasmai brahmā dadau kanyāmahalyāṁ lokasundarīm । brahmacaryeṇa santuṣṭaḥ śuśrūṣaṇaparāyaṇām ॥ 20 ॥	20—21. Unto him Brahma pleased with his Brahmacharya gave in marriage his daughter Ahalya, who was remarkable throughout the world for beauty and devoted to her husband's service. With her, that great ascetic lived in this Ashrama. The god Indra was ever seeking opportunity to overpower her.
0105	21	तया सार्धमिहावात्सीद्वीतमस्तपतां वरः । शक्रस्तु तां धर्षयितुमन्तरं प्रेप्सुरन्वहम् ॥ २१ ॥	tayā sārddhamihāvātsīdgautamastapatām varaḥ । śakrastu tāṁ dharṣayitumantaram prepsuranvaham ॥ 21 ॥	Included above..
0105	22	कदाचिन्मुनिवेषेण गौतमे निर्गते गृहात् । धर्षयित्वाथ निरगात्त्वरितं मुनिरप्यगात् ॥ २२ ॥	kadācinmuniveṣeṇa gautame nirgate grhāt । dharṣayitvātha niragāttvaritaṁ munirapyagāt ॥ 22 ॥	22. Once upon a time as Gautama had gone out of the house he approached her in the guise of the Muni. Having visited her he forthwith came out. In the meantime, the Muni also returned home.
0105	23	दृष्ट्वा यान्तं स्वरूपेण मुनिः परमकोपनः । पप्रच्छ कस्त्वं दुष्टात्मन् मम रूपधरोऽधमः ॥ २३ ॥	drṣṭvā yāntam svarūpeṇa muniḥ paramakopanaḥ । papraccha kastaṁ duṣṭātman mama rūpadharo'dhamah ॥ 23 ॥	23. Seeing Indra coming out of his house disguised as himself, the Muni got very angry, and asked him “which vile wretch art thou who hast assumed my form.
0105	24	सत्यं ब्रूहि न चेद्भस्म करिष्यामि न संशयः । सोऽब्रवीद्देवराजोऽहं पाहि मां कामकिङ्करम् ॥ २४ ॥	satyaṁ brūhi na cedbhasma kariṣyāmi na saṁśayaḥ । so'braviddevarājo'ham pāhi māṁ kāmakiṅkaram ॥ 24 ॥	24. Speak out truly, otherwise I shall burn thee forthwith. There is no doubt in this. Indra replied, “I am the king of the gods, do thou save me the slave of lust.
0105	25	कृतं जुगुप्सितं कर्म मया कुत्सितचेतसा । गौतमः क्रोधताम्राक्षः शशाप दिविजाधिपम् ॥ २५ ॥	kṛtaṁ jugupsitaṁ karma mayā kutsitacetasā । gautamaḥ krodhatāmrākṣaḥ śaśāpa divijādhipam ॥ 25 ॥	25. Of vile intellect I have done a highly blameable deed. Gautama with eyes red with anger cursed the king of the gods.
0105	26	योनिलम्पट दुष्टात्मन् सहस्रभगवान् भव । शप्त्वा तं देवराजानं प्रविश्य स्वाश्रमं द्रुतम् ॥ २६ ॥	yonilampṭa duṣṭātman sahasrabhagavān bhava । śaptvā taṁ devarājānam praviśya svāśramam drutam ॥ 26 ॥	26. Attached as thou art to lust, O sinful wretch, do thou take thousand lustful forms.

0105	27	दृष्ट्वाहल्यां वेपमानां प्राञ्जलिं गौतमोऽब्रवीत् । दुष्टे त्वं तिष्ठ दुर्वृत्ते शिलायामाश्रमे मम ॥ २७ ॥	dr̥ṣṭvāhalyāṃ vepamānāṃ prāñjaliṃ gautamo'bravit । duṣṭe tvam̐ tiṣṭha durvṛtte śilāyāmāśrame mama ॥ 27 ॥	27—29. There seeing Ahalya trembling with folded hands he said to her: Thou you sinful woman! O vile wretch, do thou remain in my ashrama fixed on a slab of stone, without food, engaged day and night in austerities— bearing sun, wind, rain and the like, meditating with a single heart upon the supreme Lord Rama who abides in all hearts.
0105	28	निराहारा दिवारात्रं तपः परममास्थिता । आतपानिलवर्षादिसहिष्णुः परमेश्वरम् ॥ २८ ॥	nirāhārā divārātram̐ tapaḥ paramamāsthitā । ātapānilavarṣādisahīṣṇuḥ parameśvaram ॥ 28 ॥	Included above..

0105	30	एवं वर्षसहस्रेषु ह्यनेकेषु गतेषु च । रामो दाशरथिः श्रीमानागमिष्यति सानुजः ॥ ३० ॥	evaṃ varṣasahasreṣu hyanekeṣu gateṣu ca । rāmo dāśarathiḥ śrīmānāgamiṣyati sānujaḥ ॥ 30 ॥	30 - 32. This ashrama of mine shall become bereft of diverse creatures. In this way on the expiry of many thousands of years when auspicious Rama, the son of Dasaratha, shall visit this ashrama with his brother and shall ride the stone upon which thou art fixed, thou shall, be purified from sin and worshipping Rama with faith and circumambulating him and bowing unto him, be freed from this curse and shalt serve me happily as before.
0105	31	यदा त्वदाश्रयशिलां पादाभ्यामाक्रमिष्यति । तदैव धूतपापा त्वं रामं सम्पूज्य भक्तिः ॥ ३१ ॥	yadā tvadāśrayaśilāṃ pādābhyāmākramiṣyati । tadaiva dhūtapāpā tvam̐ rāmaṃ sampūjya bhaktiḥ ॥ 31 ॥	Included above..

Saying so Gautama went to that best of mountains the Himalaya. Since that time Ahalya is sitting in this auspicious ashrama, unseen by all creatures, subsisting upon air and waiting for the touch of the dust of thy feet. There she is sitting to-day, O best of Raghus, enaged in dire austerities.
0105	34	तव पादरजःस्पर्शं काङ्क्षते पवनाशना । आस्तेऽद्यापि रघुश्रेष्ठ तपो दुष्करमास्थिता ॥ ३४ ॥	tava pādarajaḥsparśaṃ kāṅkṣate pavanāśanā । āste'dyāpi raghuśreṣṭha tapo duṣkaramāsthitā ॥ 34 ॥	Included above..
0105	35	पावयस्व मुनेभ्योमहल्यां ब्रह्मणः सुताम् । इत्युक्त्वा राघवं हस्ते गृहीत्वा मुनिपुङ्गवः ॥ ३५ ॥	pāvayasva munerbhāryāmahalyāṃ brahmaṇaḥ sutām । ityuktvā rāghavaṃ haste grhītvā munipuṅgavaḥ ॥ 35 ॥	35—36. Do thou purify Ahalya, the wife of the Muni and the daughter of Brahma. So saying and taking Rama by the hand, that bull amongst Munis showed him Ahalya engaged in severe austerities. Then Rama touched the stone with his feet and saw that woman whose wealth was asceticism and bowing into her said “I am Rama”.
0105	36	दर्शयामास चाहल्यामुग्रेण तपसा स्थिताम् । रामः शिलां पदा स्पृष्ट्वा तां चापश्यत्तपोधनाम् ॥ ३६ ॥	darśayāmāsa cāhalyāmugreṇa tapasā sthitām । rāmaḥ śilāṃ padā spr̥ṣṭvā tāṃ cāpaśyattapodhanām ॥ 36 ॥	Included above..

Then having seen that best of Raghus, Rama, the lord of Rama (Lakshmi), with a robe of yellow silk, carrying the bow, with Lakshmana on his side, with a smiling face, with eyes like the lotus, with the śrivatsa mark on his breast, shining like the lapus lazuli, and illuminating all the ten quarters, the lady Ahalya, remembering the words of Gautama, and knowing him to be the supreme Narayana, with tears of joy running down her eyes worshipped Rama duly with argha and the rest. That virtuous woman then prostrated herself on the ground gazing with wonder. She then got up again seeing Rama with eyes like the lotus and with the hairs of the body bristling, hymned him thus in faltering accents.

Said Ahalya: “Wonderful! 'O Refuge of the world! it is that by touching the particles of dust of thy lotus feet which are ever sought for but never approached by Brahma, Sankara and the rest with hearts steadily engaged in devotion, am I blessed.
0105	44	अहो विचित्रं तव राम चेष्टितं मनुष्यभावेन विमोहितं जगत् । चलस्यजस्रं चरणादिवर्जितः सम्पूर्ण आनन्दमयोऽतिमायिकः ॥ ४४ ॥	aho vicitraṁ tava rāma ceṣṭitaṁ manuṣyabhāvena vimohitaṁ jagat l calasyajasraṁ caraṇādivarjitaḥ sampūrṇa ānandamayo'timāyikaḥ ॥ 44 ॥	44. Wonderful, O Rama! is thy work, that thou delude the world with thy human actions. Though devoid of feet and the like (organs of actions) perfect, ever full of bliss and above Maya thou art always moving.
0105	45	यत्पादपङ्कजपरगपवित्रगात्रा भागीरथी भवविरिञ्चिमुखान् पुनाति । साक्षात्स एव मम दृग्विषयो यदास्ते किं वर्ण्यते मम पुराकृतभागधेयम् ॥ ४५ ॥	yatpādapaṅkajaparāgapavitragātrā bhāgīrathī bhavaviriñcimukhān punāti । sākṣātsa eva mama dṛgviṣayo yadāste kiṁ varṇyate mama purākṛtabhāgadheyam ॥ 45 ॥	45. With a body consecrated with the dust of his lotus feet the daughter of Bhagiratha (Ganges) sanctifies Brahma, Shiva and the rest, when even he is at this moment present before eyes, how can my good karma in the past be described.
0105	46	मर्त्यावतारे मनुजाकृतिं हरिं रामाभिधेयं रमणीयदेहिनम् । धनुर्धरं पद्मविशाललोचनं भजामि नित्यं न परान् भजिष्ये ॥ ४६ ॥	martyāvātāre manuṣjākṛtiṁ hariṁ rāmābhidheyam ramaṇīyadehinam । dhanurdharaṁ padmaviśālalocaṇaṁ bhajāmi nityaṁ na parān bhajīṣye ॥ 46 ॥	46. Ever do I bow unto that Hari who has in this incarnation assumed a human shape and is called Rama, who is of a delightful form, who carries the bow, whose eyes are large like the lotus. I bow unto no other.
0105	47	यत्पादपङ्कजरजः श्रुतिभिरविमृग्यं यन्नाभिपङ्कजभवः कमलासनश्च । यन्नामसारसिको भगवान् पुरारिस्तं रामचन्द्रमनिशं हृदि भावयामि ॥ ४७ ॥	yatpādapaṅkajarajaḥ śrutibhirvimrgyaṁ yannābhipaṅkajabhavaḥ kamaḷāsanaśca । yannāmasārarasiko bhagavān purāristaṁ rāmācandramaniśaṁ hṛdi bhāvayāmi ॥ 47 ॥	47. The dust of whose lotus feet is to be sought for through the Vedas, from the lotus in whose navel sprang forth the lotus seated Brahma, whose name is ever cherished by the God Shiva that Ramachandra do I cherish in my heart day and night.
0105	48	यस्यावतारचरितानि विरिञ्चिलोके गायन्ति नारदमुखा भवपद्मजाद्याः । आनन्दजाश्रुपरिषिक्तकुचाग्रसीमा वागीश्वरी च तमहं शरणं प्रपद्ये ॥ ४८ ॥	yasyāvātāracaritaṇi viriñciloke gāyanti nāradamukhā bhavapadmajādyāḥ । ānandajāśrupariṣiktakucāgrasimā vāgīśvarī ca tamaḥaṁ śaraṇaṁ prapadye ॥ 48 ॥	48. I take refuge in Him whose deeds in various incarnations are sung in the world of Brahma by Narada, Shiva and Brahma and the rest, as well as by the goddess of speech with tears of joy running down her breasts.
0105	49	सोऽयं परात्मा पुरुषः पुराण एकः स्वयञ्ज्योतिरनन्त आद्यः । मायातनुं लोकविमोहनीयां धत्ते परानुग्रह एष रामः ॥ ४९ ॥	so'yaṁ parātmā puruṣaḥ purāṇa ekaḥ svayañjyotirananta ādyaḥ । māyātanaṁ lokavimohaniyāṁ dhatte parānugraha eṣa rāmaḥ ॥ 49 ॥	49. This Rama is verily that supreme self—the ancient Purusha; the self-illuminated, without limitation, beginning of all. Assuming a human form through Maya he deludes the world. This is his supreme grace.
0105	50	अयं हि विश्वेन्द्रवसंयमानामेकः स्वमायागुणबिम्बितो यः । विरिञ्चिविष्वीश्वरनामभेदान् धत्ते स्वतन्त्रः परिपूर्ण आत्मा ॥ ५० ॥	ayaṁ hi viśvodbhavasamyamānāmekāḥ svamāyāguṇabimbīto yaḥ । viriñcivīṣṇviśvaranāmabhedān dhatte svatantraḥ paripūrṇa ātmā ॥ 50 ॥	50. This Rama, who is free, full and the self of all, is alone the cause of the creation, preservation and destruction of the world. Through his Maya he becomes reflected in the various attributes of goodness, activity and darkness and assumes the names of Brahma, Vishnu and Shiva.
0105	51	नमोऽस्तु ते राम तवाङ्घ्रिपङ्कजं श्रिया धृतं वक्षसि लालितं प्रियात् । आक्रान्तमेकेन जगत्त्रयं पुरा ध्येयं मुनीन्द्रैरभिमानवर्जितैः ॥ ५१ ॥	namo'stu te rāma tavāṅghripaṅkajaṁ śriyā dhṛtaṁ vakṣasi lālitaṁ priyāt । ākrāntamekena jagattrayaṁ purā dhyeyaṁ munīndrairabhimānavarjitaiḥ ॥ 51 ॥	51. O Rama! Reverence to thy lotus feet which are lovingly placed on her breast by Sri (goddess of wealth). Only one of thy feet pervaded the three worlds in days of yore. They are now meditated upon by Munis devoid of egotism.
0105	52	जगतामादिभूतस्त्वं जगत्त्वं जगदाश्रयः । सर्वभूतेश्वसंयुक्त एको भाति भवान् परः ॥ ५२ ॥	jagatāmādibhūtastvaṁ jagattvaṁ jagadāśrayaḥ । sarvabhūteśvasamyukta eko bhāti bhavān paraḥ ॥ 52 ॥	52. Thou art the beginning of the world. Thou art the world itself, Thou art the refuge of the world. Thou art unattached, to everything, thou shine as the supreme self of all.

0105	53	ओङ्कारवाच्यस्त्वं राम वाचामविषयः पुमान् । वाच्यवाचकभेदेन भवानेव जगन्मयः ॥ ५३ ॥	oṅkāravācyastvaṃ rāma vācāmaviṣayaḥ pumān vācyavācakabhedena bhavāneva jagannmayah 53	53. O Rama! thou art that which is expressed by the syllable Om. Thou-art the Purusha, beyond the range of speech, with its distinctions of word and its meaning. Thou art verily the world itself. Thou alone, O Rama, appear under the various distinctions of effects, causes, doers, fruits of action and means of attainment thereof, through thy Maya of many forms.
0105	54	कार्यकारणकर्तृत्वफलसाधनभेदतः । एको विभासि राम त्वं मायया बहुरूपया ॥ ५४ ॥	kāryakāraṇakartṛtvaphalasāadhanabhedataḥ eko vibhāsi rāma tvam māyayā bahurūpayā 54	54. Deluded by Thy Maya, O Lord, people do not know Thee and think Thee who are the Lord of Maya to be a human personality.
0105	55	त्वन्मायामोहिताधियस्त्वां न जानन्ति तत्त्वतः । मानुषं त्वाभिमन्यन्ते मायिनं परमेश्वरम् ॥ ५५ ॥	tvannmāyāmohitadhīyastvāṃ na jānanti tattvataḥ mānuṣaṃ tvābhimanyante māyinaṃ paramēśvaram 55	55. Like akasa (space) thou art everywhere inside and outside, undefiled, unattached, unmoving, ever permanent, ever awake and one without a second.
0105	56	आकाशत्वं सर्वत्र बहिरन्तर्गतोऽमलः । असङ्गो ह्यचलो नित्यः शुद्धो बुद्धः सदव्ययः ॥ ५६ ॥	ākāśavattvaṃ sarvatra bahirantargato'malaḥ asaṅgo hyacalo nityaḥ śuddho buddhaḥ sadavyayaḥ 56	56. O Lord, how can I, a foolish and ignorant woman, know Thy true nature. Therefore, O Rama, with a single heart do I make hundreds of reverences to Thee. O Lord wherever I may incarnate may I always be attached to Thy lotus feet and have firm devotion to Thee alone.
0105	57	योषिन्मूढाहमज्ञा ते तत्त्वं जाने कथं विभो । तस्मात्ते शतशो राम नमस्कुर्यामिनयधीः ॥ ५७ ॥	yoṣinmūḍhāhamajñā te tattvaṃ jāne kathaṃ vibho tasmātte śataśo rāma namaskuryāmananyadhīḥ 57	57. Reverence be to Thee, O Thou chief of men! salutations to Thee, O thou who art ever dear to thy devotees, salutations to Thee I O thou lord of the senses, salutations to Thee, O Narayana, salutations to Thee.
0105	58	देव मे यत्र कुत्रापि स्थिताया अपि सर्वदा । त्वत्पादकमले सक्ता भक्तिरेव सदास्तु मे ॥ ५८ ॥	deva me yatra kutrāpi sthitāyā api sarvadā tvaṭpādakamale saktā bhaktireva sadāstu me 58	58—60. I make reverence to that Rama, and his brother, who is the one destroyer of the fear of the world, who is resplendent like hundreds of millions of suns, who carries the bow and the arrow, who is of the colour of the blue cloud, who wears robes of golden hue and earrings studded with gems and whose eyes are like the full-blown lotus.

0105	62	अहल्याया कृतं स्तोत्रं यः पठेद्भक्तिर्संयुतः । स मुच्यतेऽखिलैः पापैः परं ब्रह्माधिगच्छति ॥ ६२ ॥	ahalyayā kṛtaṃ stotraṃ yaḥ paṭhedbhaktisamyutaḥ sa mucyate'khilaiḥ pāpaiḥ paraṃ brahmādhigacchati 62	62. Whoever reads this hymn sung by Ahalya with faith is released from all sins and attains to the supreme Brahma.
0105	63	पुत्राद्यर्थे पठेद्भक्त्या रामं हृदि निधाय च । संवत्सरेण लभते वन्ध्या अपि सुपुत्रकम् ॥ ६३ ॥	putrādyarthe paṭhedbhaktyā rāmaṃ hṛdi nidhāya ca saṃvatsareṇa labhate vandhyā api suputrakam 63	63. Should a woman read it with the object of getting a son, having Rama in her heart then even if she is barren she gets a son in one year.
0105	64	सर्वान् कामानवाप्नोति रामचन्द्रप्रसादतः ॥ ६४ ॥	sarvān kāmānavāpnoti rāmacandraprasādataḥ 64	64 Through Rama's grace one attains to all that he wishes.

So saying with a loving heart he placed the hand of Sita over the hand of Rama.
0106	55	मुमोद जनको लक्ष्मीं क्षीराब्धिरिव विष्णवे । उर्मिलां चोरसीं कन्यां लक्ष्मणाय ददौ मुदा ॥ ५५ ॥	mumoda janako lakṣmīm kṣīrābdiriva viṣṇave । urmilāṃ caurasīm kanyāṃ lakṣmaṇāya dadau mudā ॥ 55 ॥	55. Janaka was then as happy as the ocean of milk after giving Lakshmi to Vishnu. He then gave his daughter Urmila to Lakshmana.
0106	56	तथैव श्रुतिकीर्तिं च माण्डवीं भ्रातृकन्यके । भरताय ददावेकां शत्रुघ्नयापरां ददौ ॥ ५६ ॥	tathaiva śrutikīrtiṃ ca maṇḍavīm bhrātrkānyake । bharatāya dadāvekāṃ śatrughṇyāparāṃ dadau ॥ 56 ॥	56. He also gave Srutikirti and Mandavi, his brother's daughters, to Bharata and Satrugna, one to Bharata and the other to Satrugna,
0106	57	चत्वारो दारसम्पन्ना भ्रातरः शुभलक्षणाः । विरेजुः प्रजया सर्वे लोकपाला इवापरे ॥ ५७ ॥	catvāro dārasampannā bhrātaraḥ śubhalakṣaṇāḥ । virejuḥ prajāyā sarve lokapālā ivāpare ॥ 57 ॥	57. All the four brothers, who were endowed with auspicious signs having thus got their wives shone like so many upholders of the world.
0106	58	ततोऽब्रवीद्वसिष्ठाय विश्वामित्राय मैथिलः । जनकः स्वसुतोदन्तं नारदेनाभिभूषितम् ॥ ५८ ॥	tato'bravidvasiṣṭhāya viśvāmitrāya maithilāḥ । janakaḥ svasutodantaṃ nāradenābhībhūṣitam ॥ 58 ॥	58. Janaka then related to Vasishtha and Viswamitra the manner of his daughter's birth as related to him by Narada.
0106	59	यज्ञभूमिविशुद्ध्यर्थं कर्षतो लाङ्गलेन मे । सीतामुखात्समुत्पन्ना कन्यका शुभलक्षणा ॥ ५९ ॥	yajñabhūmiviśuddhyartham karṣato lāṅgalena me । sītāmukhātsamutpannā kanyakā śubhalakṣaṇā ॥ 59 ॥	59. Said he: “As I was ploughing the ground for the purpose of purifying it for scarifice, Sita who was endowed with good fortune, appeared in the furrows.

I saw her with loving eyes and took her for my own daughter and gave her of moon-like appearance to my dear wife.
0106	61	एकदा नारदोऽभ्यागाद्विविक्ते माये संस्थिते । रणयन्महतीम् वीणां गायत्रारायणं विभ्रुम् ॥ ६१ ॥	ekadā nārado'byāgādvivikṭe mayi saṁsthite । raṇayanmahatīm vīṇāṃ gāyannārāyaṇaṃ vibhruṃ ॥ 61 ॥	61. Once as I was sitting alone, Narada came playing upon his Vina and singing the praises of the Lord Narayana.”

0106	62	पूजितः सुखमासीनो मामुवाच सुखान्वितः । शृणुष्व वचनं गुह्यं तवाभ्युदयकारणम् ॥ ६२ ॥	pūjitaḥ sukhamāsīno māmuvāca sukhānvitaḥ । śṛṇuṣva vacanaṁ guhyaṁ tavābhyudayaakāraṇam ॥ 62 ॥	62. Duly worshipped by me and sitting at ease he said to me “Listen to my mysterious speech which is for thy benefit”.
0106	63	परमात्मा हृषीकेशो भक्तानुग्रहकाम्यया । देवकार्यार्थसिद्ध्यर्थं रावणस्य वधाय च ॥ ६३ ॥	paramātmā hṛṣīkeśo bhaktānugrahakāmyayā । devakāryārthasiddhyartham rāvaṇasya vadhāya ca ॥ 63 ॥	63—64. The Supreme self of all, the lord of the senses, has incarnated as Rama through Maya taking a human form for the purpose of showing grace to his devotees and doing the work of the gods and killing Ravana. The great lord has now incarnated in the form of the four sons of Dasaratha.
0106	64	जातो राम इति ख्यातो मायामानुषवेषधृक् । आस्ते दाशरथिभूत्वा चतुर्धा परमेश्वरः ॥ ६४ ॥	jāto rāma iti khyāto māyāmānuṣaveṣadhṛk । āste dāśarathirbhūtvā caturdhā parameśvaraḥ ॥ 64 ॥	Included above..

Let her not be given to anyone else, as she is the ordained wife of Rama”. Saying so, Narada went away by the path of the gods.
0106	67	तदारभ्य मया सीता विष्णोर्लक्ष्मीर्विभाव्यते । कथं मया राघवाय दीयते जानकी शुभा ॥ ६७ ॥	tadārabhya mayā sītā viṣṇorlakṣmīrvibhāvyaṭe । katham mayā rāghavāya dīyate jānakī śubhā ॥ 67 ॥	67— 69. Since then I have looked upon Sita as Lakshmi for Vishnu. How shall I give to Raghava, Janaki of auspicious form? Revolving thus in my mind I thought of one expedient. This bow had formerly been lodged in my grand father’s house, having been thrown there by Shiva after burning the Tripura. Let this bow be made the stake, for the hand of Sita in order to destroy the pride of all.
0106	68	इति चिन्तासमाविष्टः कार्यमेकमचिन्तयम् । मत्पितामहगेहे तु न्यासभूतमिदं धनुः ॥ ६८ ॥	iti cintāsamāviṣṭaḥ kāryamekamacintayam । matpitāmahagehe tu nyāsabhūtamidaṁ dhanuḥ ॥ 68 ॥	Included above..

Through thy grace, O best of Rishis, Rama the lotus-eyed came here to see the bow. My object of life has now been accomplished, when I see thee, O Rama, sitting on the same seat with Sita, and shining like the sun.
0106	71	आगतोऽत्र धनुर्द्रष्टुं फलितो मे मनोरथः । अद्य मे सफलं जन्म राम त्वां सह सीतया ॥ ७१ ॥	āgato’tra dhanurdrasṭuṁ phalito me manorathaḥ । adya me saphalaṁ janma rāma tvāṁ saha sītayā ॥ 71 ॥	Included above..

0106	73	त्वत्पादाम्बुधरो ब्रह्मा सृष्टिचक्रप्रवर्तकः । बलिस्त्वत्पादसलिलं धृत्वाभूद्विजाधिपः ॥ ७३ ॥	tvatpādāmbudharo brahmā sṛṣṭicakrapravartakaḥ । balistvatpādāsaliṇaṁ dhṛtvābhūdivijādhipaḥ ॥ 73 ॥	73—74. By the touch of the dust of thy feet Ahalya, who was cursed by her husband, was forthwith released. “Who else is there who can protect the world except thyself”.
0106	74	त्वत्पादपांसुसंस्पृशदहल्या भर्तृशापतः । सद्य एव विनिमुक्ता कोऽन्यस्त्वत्तोऽधिरक्षिता ॥ ७४ ॥	tvatpādapaṁsusamsparśādahalyā bhartṛśāpataḥ । sadya eva vinirmuktā ko’nyastvatto’dhirakṣitā ॥ 74 ॥	Included above..

0107	28	तदा तपश्चरन्ल्लोके तिष्ठ त्वं ब्रह्मणो दिनम् । इत्युक्त्वान्तर्दधे देवस्तथा सर्वं कृतं मया ॥ २८॥	tadā tapaścaranllloke tiṣṭha tvam brahmaṇo dinaṁ । ityukṭvāntardadhe devastathā sarvaṁ kṛtaṁ mayā ॥ 28 ॥	28. “Performing thy austerities thou shalt then abide the day of Brahma.” So saying the god disappeared and I did all that he had commanded.
0107	29	स एव विष्णुस्त्वं राम जातोऽसि ब्रह्मणार्थितः । मयि स्थितं तु त्वत्तेजस्त्वयैव पुनराहृतम् ॥ २९॥	sa eva viṣṇustvam rāma jāto’si brahmaṇārthitaḥ । mayi sthitaṁ tu tvattejastvayaiva punarāhṛtaṁ ॥ 29 ॥	29. Thou art that Vishnu, O Rama, born at the solicitation of Brahma. The energy that was in me is now placed in thee.
0107	30	अद्य मे सफलं जन्म प्रतीतोऽसि मम प्रभो । ब्रह्मादिभिरलभ्यस्त्वं प्रकृतेः पारगो मतः ॥ ३०॥	adya me saphalaṁ janma pratīto’si mama prabho । brahmādi bhiralabhyastvam prakṛteḥ pārago mataḥ ॥ 30 ॥	30. My object in life has been accomplished, when thou, O Lord, art pleased with me. Thou art inapproachable by Brahma and the rest, and art known to be beyond prakṛiti.

0107	31	त्वयि जन्मादिषड्भावा न सन्त्यज्ञानसम्भवाः । निर्विकारोऽसि पूर्णस्त्व गमनादिविर्जितः ॥ ३१ ॥	tvayi janmādiṣaḍbhāvā na santyajñānasambhavāḥ । nirvikāro'si pūrṇastvaṃ gamanādivivartitaḥ ॥ 31 ॥	31. The six conditions of birth and the rest are not in thee. They are the products of nescience. Thou art without modification, full and bereft of motion and the like.
0107	32	यथा जले फेनजालं धूमो वह्नौ तथा त्वयि । त्वदाधारा त्वद्विषया माया कार्यं सृजत्यहो ॥ ३२ ॥	yathā jale phenajālaṃ dhūmo vahnau tathā tvayi । tvadādhārā tvadviṣayā māyā kāryaṃ sṛjatyaho ॥ 32 ॥	32. Like foam in water and smoke in fire, this Maya which is dependent upon thee and is within thy cognizance, produces this world, how wonderful is this.
0107	33	यावन्मायावृता लोकास्तावत्त्वां न विजानते । अविचारितसिद्धेष्वाविद्या विद्याविरोधिनी ॥ ३३ ॥	yāvanmāyāvṛtā lokāstāvattvāṃ na vijānate । avicāritasiddhaiṣā'vidyā vidyāvirodhiṇī ॥ 33 ॥	33. So long as the world is enveloped in Maya it does not know thee. This Maya flourishes only through error, it is opposed to knowledge (jnana) and vanishes with the appearance thereof.
0107	34	अविद्याकृतदेहादिसङ्घाते प्रतिबिम्बिता । चिच्छक्तिर्जीवलोकेऽस्मिन् जीव इत्यभिधीयते ॥ ३४ ॥	avidyākṛtadehādisaṅghāte pratibimbītā । cicchaktirjīvaloke'smin jīva ityabhidhiyate ॥ 34 ॥	34. The supreme intelligence when reflected in this conglomeration of the body and the rest (the senses, the mind, intellect, the vital airs) the products of nescience is called the Jiva or the embodied self.
0107	35	यावद्देहमनःप्राणबुद्ध्यादिष्वभिमानवान् । तावत्कर्तृत्वभोक्तृत्वसुखदुःखादिभाग्भवेत् ॥ ३५ ॥	yāvaddehamanaḥprāṇabuddhyādiṣvabhimānavān । tāvatkartṛtvabhokṛtvasukhaduḥkhādibhāgbhavet ॥ 35 ॥	35. As long as there is any sense of the I, in the body, the mind, the vital airs, the intellect and the rest, (the organs of perception and action), so long there is the notion of action and enjoyments of the fruit thereof as well as of partaking of happiness or misery.
0107	36	आत्मनःसंसृतिर्नास्ति बुद्धेर्ज्ञानं न जातिरिति । अविवेकाद्वयं युङ्क्त्वा संसारिणी प्रवर्तते ॥ ३६ ॥	ātmanahsaṃsṛtirnāsti buddherjñānaṃ na jātviti । avivekādvayaṃ yuṅktvā saṃsārīṇī pravartate ॥ 36 ॥	36. There is no creation (or destruction) of the world in the supreme self. There is no jnana (self-realization) in the Buddhi. Having joined the two selves and the buddhi in one through nescience, the embodied self acts in the world.
0107	37	जडस्य चित्समायोगाच्चित्तं भूयाच्चित्तेस्तथा । जडसङ्गाजडत्वं हि जलाग्न्योर्मेलनं यथा ॥ ३७ ॥	jaḍasya citsamāyogāccittvaṃ bhūyāccittestathā । jaḍasaṅgājjaḍatvaṃ hi jalāgnyormelanaṃ yathā ॥ 37 ॥	37. The (Buddhi) is of itself non-intelligent. It becomes possessed of intelligence through its union with the supreme intelligence. In the same manner through contact with non-intelligent Buddhi, the supreme self which is intelligence itself, appears to be non- intelligent like the combination of fire and water.
0107	38	यावत्त्वत्पादभक्तानां सङ्गसौख्यं न विन्दति । तावत्संसारदुःखोघात्र निवर्तनः सदा ॥ ३८ ॥	yāvattvatpādabhaktānāṃ saṅgasaukhyam na vindati । tāvatsaṃsāraduḥkhaughāna nivartennaraḥ sadā ॥ 38 ॥	38. Till man seeks the company of thy devotees, which brings about happiness, he cannot be released from the troubles of embodied existence,
0107	39	तत्सङ्गालब्धया भक्त्या यदा त्वां समुपासते । तदा माया शनैर्याति तानवं प्रतिपद्यते ॥ ३९ ॥	tatsaṅgalabdhayā bhaktyā yadā tvāṃ samupāsate । tadā māyā śanairyāti tānavaṃ pratipadyate ॥ 39 ॥	39. When through devotion acquired in the company of the good he worships thee, then Maya gradually becomes attenuated.
0107	40	ततस्त्वज्ज्ञानसम्पन्नः सद्गुरुस्तेन लभ्यते । वाक्यज्ञानं गुरोर्लब्ध्वा त्वत्प्रसादाद्विमुच्यते ॥ ४० ॥	tatastavajñānasampannaḥ sadgurustena labhyate । vākyaññānaṃ gurorlabdhvā tvatprasādādvimucyate ॥ 40 ॥	40. Then bent upon knowing thee; he approaches a wise preceptor and having from him acquired a knowledge of the great saying That art Thou, he becomes emancipated by thy grace.
0107	41	तस्मात्त्वद्भक्तिहीनानां कल्पकोटिशतेरपि । न मुक्तिशङ्का विज्ञानशङ्का नैव सुखं तथा ॥ ४१ ॥	tasmāttvadbhaktihīnānāṃ kalpakotiśatairapi । na muktishaṅkā vijñānaśaṅkā naiva sukhaṃ tathā ॥ 41 ॥	41. Hence for those who are turned away from thy lotus feet, there is no hope of emancipation nor of knowledge nor of happiness even in millions of kalpas.
0107	42	अतस्त्वत्पादयुगले भक्तिर्मे जन्मजन्मनि । स्यात्त्वद्भक्तिमतां सङ्गोविद्या याभ्यां विनश्यति ॥ ४२ ॥	atastavtpādāyugale bhaktirme janmajanmani । syāttvadbhaktimatāṃ saṅgo'vidyā yābhyāṃ vinaśyati ॥ 42 ॥	42. May I, therefore, have incarnation after incarnation devotion to those who are devoted to thy feet, for by their company this nescience is destroyed.
0107	43	लोके त्वद्भक्तिनिरतास्त्वद्भामृतवर्षिणः । पुनन्ति लोकमखिलं किं पुनः स्वकुलोद्भवान् ॥ ४३ ॥	loke tvadbhaktinirataṣṭvadbharmārtavarṣiṇaḥ । punanti lokamakhilaṃ kiṃ punaḥ svakulodbhavān ॥ 43 ॥	43. Those who are absorbed in devotion to thee, those who pour down in the world the ambrosia of thy religion, consecrate the whole world what to be said of their sanctifying those who are born in their own families.
0107	44	नमोऽस्तु जगतां नाथ नमस्ते भक्तिभावन । नमः कारुणिकानन्त रामचन्द्र नमोऽस्तु ते ॥ ४४ ॥	namo'stu jagatāṃ nātha namaste bhaktibhāvana । namaḥ kāruṇikānanta rāmacandra namo'stu te ॥ 44 ॥	44. Salutations to thee, O Lord of the world, Salutations to thee, O protector of thy devotees, Salutations to thee, O thou of infinite mercy, O Ramchandra, Salutations to thee.
0107	45	देव यद्यत्कृतं पुण्यं मया लोकजिगीषया । तत्सर्वं तव बाणाय भूयाद्राम नमोऽस्तु ते ॥ ४५ ॥	deva yadyatkṛtaṃ puṇyam mayā lokajigīṣayā । tatsarvaṃ tava bāṇāya bhūyādrāma namo'stu te ॥ 45 ॥	45. O Lord, whatever good actions have been done by me with the object of conquering the world, let them be a mark for thy arrow to shoot at. Salutations to thee, O Rama, again and again.

0107	46	ततः प्रसन्नो भगवान् श्रीरामः करुणामयः । प्रसन्नोऽस्मि तव ब्रह्मन् यत्ते मनसि वर्तते ॥ ४६ ॥	tataḥ prasanno bhagavān śrīrāmaḥ karuṇāmayah । prasanno'smi tava brahman yatte manasi vartate ॥ 46 ॥	46. Then the Lord Rama, who is full of mercy, said to Parasurama: “I am pleased with what is passing in thy mind, O Brahmana”.
0107	47	दास्ये तदखिलं कामं मा कुरुष्वत्र संशयम् । ततः प्रीतेन मनसा भार्गवो राममब्रवीत् ॥ ४७ ॥	dāsye tadakhilam kāmam mā kuruṣvātra saṁśayam । tataḥ prītena manasā bhārgavo rāmamabravīt ॥ 47 ॥	47. “I shall give thee all that thou desire, do not doubt this. Then with a joyful heart Bhargava said to Rama:
0107	48	यदि मेऽनुग्रहो राम तवास्ति मधुसूदन । त्वद्भक्तसङ्गस्त्वत्पादे दृढा भक्तिः सदास्तु मे ॥ ४८ ॥	yadi me'nugraho rāma tavāsti madhusūdana । tvadbhaktasaṅgastvatpāde dṛḍhā bhaktiḥ sadāstu me ॥ 48 ॥	48. “If, O slayer of Madhu, thou art graciously inclined towards me, then let me always have firm devotion to thee as well as the company of those who are devoted to thee.
0107	49	स्तोत्रमेतत्पठेद्यस्तु भक्तिहीनोऽपि सर्वदा । त्वद्भक्तिस्तस्य विज्ञानं भूयादन्ते स्मृतिस्तव ॥ ४९ ॥	stotrametatpāṭhedyastu bhaktihīno'pi sarvadā । tvadbhaktistasya vijñānaṁ bhūyādante smṛtistava ॥ 49 ॥	49. “Everyone who is devoid of devotion reading this hymn daily, may they have devotion to thee, as well as knowledge of thy own self and when leaving this body — remembrance of thee.”
0107	50	तथेति राघवेणोक्तः परिक्रम्य प्रणम्य तम् । पूजितस्तदनुज्ञातो महेन्द्राचलमन्वगात् ॥ ५० ॥	tatheti rāghavenoktaḥ parikramya praṇamya tam । pūjitastadanujñāto mahendṛācalamanvagāt ॥ 50 ॥	50. “Let it be so,” said Raghava. Having bowed and circumambulated him and having been worshipped by him in turn and having obtained his permission Parusurama went to the Mahendra mountain.
0107	51	राजा दशरथो हृष्टो रामं मृतमिवागतम् । आलिङ्ग्यालिङ्ग्य हर्षेण नेत्राभ्यां जलमुत्सृजत् ॥ ५१ ॥	rājā daśaratho hr̥ṣṭo rāmaṁ mṛtamivāgatam । āliṅgyāliṅgya harṣeṇa netrābhyāṁ jalamutsṛjat ॥ 51 ॥	51. Raja Dasaratha then joyfully seeing Rama, as if risen from the dead, embraced him again and again and shed tears of joy from his eyes.
0107	52	ततः प्रीतेन मनसा स्वस्थचित्तः पुरं ययौ । रामलक्ष्मणशत्रुघ्नभरता देवसंमिताः ॥ ५२ ॥	tataḥ prītena manasā svasthacittāḥ puram yayau । rāmalakṣmaṇaśatrughnabharatā devasaṁmitāḥ ॥ 52 ॥	52—55. And with a joyful heart went to his kingdom. Rama, Lakshmana, Bharata and Satrugna, who were like unto gods, each passed his time happily in the company of his wife. Rama, together with Sita, passed his life happily in his palace along with his father and mother like Hari with his consort in the heavens. Yudhajit, the brother of Kaikeyi, who was maternal uncle of Bharata, came to take him to his kingdom out of love. Raja Dasaratha also affectionately sent away Bharata and Satrugna in the company of Yudhajit, having duly worshipped him.

The queen Kausalya shone in the company of Sita and Rama just as Aditi, the mother of the gods, shines in the company of Indra and Sachi, the daughter of Puloma.
0107	57	साकेते लोकनाथप्रथितगुणगणो लोकसङ्गीतकीर्तिः श्रीरामः सीतयास्तेऽखिलजननिकरानन्दसन्दोहमूर्तिः । नित्यश्रीर्निर्विकारो निरवधिविभवो नित्यमायानिरासो मायाकार्यानुसारी मनुज इव सदा भाति देवोऽखिलेशः ॥ ५७ ॥ इति श्रीमदध्यात्मरामायणे उमामहेश्वरसंवादे बालकाण्डे सप्तमः सर्गः ॥ ७ ॥ समाप्तोऽयं बालकाण्डः	sākete lokanāthaprathitaguṇagaṇo lokasaṅgītakīrtiḥ śrīrāmaḥ sītayāste'khilajananikarānandasandohamūrtiḥ । nityaśrīrnirvikāro niravadhivibhavo nityamāyānirāso māyākāryānusārī manuja iva sadā bhāti devo'khilēśaḥ ॥ 57 ॥ iti śrīmadadhyaṭmarāmāyaṇe umāmaheśvarasaṁvāde bālakāṇḍe saptamaḥ sargaḥ ॥ 7 ॥ samāpto'yaṁ bālakāṇḍaḥ	57. The Lord of all the world, whose attributes are only known to the upholders of the world like Brahma and the rest, whose incarnation is for bringing happiness to those who are devoted to him, who is always associated with Shree, who is without decay, whose power is limitless, whom Maya cannot overpower, who does all through the action of Maya, and who is the ruler of all, though appearing to act as a human being, is Rama who lives in Ayodhya, in the company of Sita.

0201	1	॥ अध्यात्मरामायणे अयोध्याकाण्डम् ॥ ॥ प्रथमः सर्गः ॥ एकदा सुखमासीनं रामं स्वान्तःपुराजिरे । सर्वाभरणसम्पन्नं रत्नसिंहासने स्थितम् ॥ १॥	adhyātmarāmāyaṇe ayodhyākāṇḍam prathamah sargaḥ ekadā sukhamaśīnaṃ rāmaṃ svāntaḥpurājire । sarvābharaṇasampannaṃ ratnasimhāsane sthitam 1	1-3 Sri Mahadeva said: Once upon a time as Rama, who was decked with ornaments of every description, and looked resplendent like the leaf of the blue lotus with the koustubha gem and a pearl necklace round his neck, and was being fanned by Sita with a golden chamara (fan made of yak tail) and was amusing himself with betel-leaf and the like in the courtyard of his palace upon a seat studded with gems, the Rishi Narada descended from the heavens reverentially to see him.

The Muni was resplendent like a piece of clear crystal and shone like the autumnal moon. His face was heavenly to behold and he came down suddenly to see Rama.

Rama said to Narada in words full of affection, "O great Muni! difficult it is to get a sight of thee for men of the world like us who are ever devoted to objects of the senses.
0201	7	अवाप्तं मे पूर्वजन्मकृतपुण्यमहोदयैः । संसारिणापि हि मुने लभ्यते सत्समागमः ॥ ७॥	avāptaṃ me pūrvajanmakṛtapuṇyamahodayaiḥ । saṃsārīṇāpi hi mune labhyate satsamāgamah 7	7. This sight of thee is the fruit of good actions done in past lives. Even men of the world by chance get the company of the good.
0201	8	अतस्त्वदर्शनादेव कृतार्थोऽस्मि मुनीश्वर । किं कार्यं ते मया कार्यं ब्रूहि तत्करवाणि भोः ॥ ८॥	atastvaddarśanādeva kṛtārtho'smi munīśvara । kiṃ kāryaṃ te mayā kāryaṃ brūhi tatkaravāṇi bhoḥ 8	8. Thereupon Narada said to him who was ever dear to his devotees. Why are you, O Rama, beguiling me by speeches like those of worldly men.
0201	10	संसार्यहमिति प्रोक्तं सत्यमेतत्त्वया विभो । जगतामादिभूता या सा माया गृहिणी तव ॥ १०॥	saṃsāryahamiti proktaṃ satyametatvayā vibho । jagatāmādhībūtā yā sā māyā gṛhiṇī tava 10	10. On account of its connection with thee, this nescience is called Maya Avyakrita. From it is evolved Mahat, from Mahat Ahankara and from Ahankara the Linga.
0201	21	अहङ्कारश्च बुद्धिश्च पञ्चप्राणैन्द्रियाणि च । लिङ्गमित्युच्यते प्राज्ञैर्जन्ममृत्युसुखादिमत ॥ २१ ॥	ahaṅkāraśca buddhiśca pañcaprāṇendriyāṇi ca । liṅgamityucyate prājñairjanmamṛtyusukhādimat ॥ 21 ॥	21. 0201	22	स एव जीवसञ्ज्ञश्च लोके भाति जगन्मयः । अवाच्यानाद्यविद्यैव कारणोपाधिरुच्यते ॥ २२ ॥	sa eva jīvasaṅjñāśca loke bhāti jaganmayaḥ । avācyānādyavidyaiva kāraṇopādhirucyate ॥ 22 ॥	22. That it is which is known as the embodied self and appears in the world as if immersed in the world. That Avidya, which cannot be described, which is beginning-less, is the root cause of all superimposition.

Three are the limiting conditions of the absolute intelligent self - the gross, the subtle, and the causal. Joined to these, it is the embodied self, freed from these, is the Supreme Self.
0201	24	जाग्रत्स्वप्नसुषुप्त्याख्या संसृतिर्या प्रवर्तते । तस्या विलक्षणः साक्षी चिन्मात्रस्त्वं रघूत्तम ॥ २४ ॥	jāgratsvapnasusuptyākhyā saṁsṛtiryā pravartate । tasyā vilakṣaṇaḥ sāksi cinmātrastvaṁ raghūttama ॥ 24 ॥	24. The conditions of world by life known as the waking, the dreaming and the dreamless slumber states are different from the witnessing self which, O best of Raghus, art thou.
0201	25	त्वत्त एव जगज्जातं त्वयि सर्वं प्रतिष्ठितम् । त्वय्येव लीयते कृत्स्नं तस्मात्त्वं सर्वकारणम् ॥ २५ ॥	tvatta eva jagajjātaṁ tvayi sarvaṁ pratiṣṭhitam । tvayyeva liyate kṛtsnaṁ tasmāttvaṁ sarvakāraṇam ॥ 25 ॥	25. From thee alone has the world been produced. In thee all exists. In thee is all absorbed. Therefore, thou art the universal cause.
0201	26	रज्जावहिमिवात्मानं जीवं ज्ञात्वा भयं भवेत् । परात्माहमिति ज्ञात्वा भयदुःखैर्विमुच्यते ॥ २६ ॥	rajjāvahimivātmānaṁ jīvaṁ jñātvā bhayaṁ bhavet । parātmāhamiti jñātvā bhayaduḥkhairvimucyate ॥ 26 ॥	26. Like the rope mistaken for the snake there is fear in mistaking the Atma (self) for the embodied self. “I am the Supreme self”, knowing this, one is released from sorrow.
0201	27	चिन्मात्रज्योतिषा सर्वाः सर्वदेहेषु बुद्धयः । त्वया यस्मात्प्रकाश्यन्ते सर्वस्यात्मा ततो भवान् ॥ २७ ॥	cinmātrajyotiṣā sarvāḥ sarvadeheṣu buddhayaḥ । tvayā yasmātpṛakāśyante sarvasyātmā tato bhavān ॥ 27 ॥	27. Because intellects in all bodies are illuminated by Thee who art absolute limitless intelligence, therefore thou art the self of all.
0201	28	अज्ञानान्नयस्यते सर्वं त्वयि रज्जौ भुजङ्गवत् ॥ २८ ॥	ajñānānnayasyate sarvaṁ tvayi rajjau bhujaṅgavat ॥ 28 ॥	28. Just as the snake is superimposed upon the rope, so is all this superimposed upon thee by nescience. By knowing thee, all this disappears. Hence one should strive for attainment of knowledge of thee.
0201	29	त्वत्पादभक्तियुक्तानां विज्ञानं भवति क्रमात् । तस्मात्त्वद्भक्तियुक्ता ये मुक्तिर्भाजस्त एव हि ॥ २९ ॥	tvatpādabhaktiyuktānāṁ vijñānaṁ bhavati kramāt । tasmāttvadbhaktiyuktā ye muktibhājasta eva hi ॥ 29 ॥	29. Those who are devoted to thy feet gradually acquire knowledge of thee. Hence those who are endowed with devotion to thee are only fit for receiving emancipation.
0201	30	अहं त्वद्भक्तभक्तानां तद्भक्तानां च किङ्करः । अतो मामनुगृह्णीष्व मोहयस्व न मां प्रभो ॥ ३० ॥	ahaṁ tvadbhaktabhaktānāṁ tadbhaktānāṁ ca kiṅkaraḥ । ato māmanugṛhṇīṣva mohayasva na māṁ prabho ॥ 30 ॥	30. I am the servant of thy devotees’ devotees’ devotee. Therefore, do thou not delude me, O Lord, but be gracious unto me.
0201	31	त्वन्नाभिकमलोत्पन्नो ब्रह्मा मे जनकः प्रभो । अतस्तवाहं पौत्रोऽस्मि भक्तं मां पाहि राघव ॥ ३१ ॥	tvannābhikamalotpanno brahmā me janakaḥ prabho । atastavāhaṁ pautro’smi bhaktaṁ māṁ pāhi rāghava ॥ 31 ॥	31. Brahma my Sire was born from the lotus in thy navel. Hence, I am thy grandson, do thou, O Lord, protect me, thy devotee.
0201	32	इत्युक्त्वा बहुशो नत्वा स्वानन्दाश्रुपरिप्लुतः । उवाच वचनं राम ब्रह्मणा नोदितोऽस्म्यहम् ॥ ३२ ॥	ityuktvā bahuśo natvā svānandāśrupariplutaḥ । uvāca vacanaṁ rāma brahmaṇā nodito’smyaham ॥ 32 ॥	32. Having said so and repeatedly bowed to Rama with tears of joy running down his eyes. Narada said to him as he was directed by Brahma.
0201	33	रावणस्य वधायाय जातोऽसि रघुसत्तम । इदानीं राज्यरक्षार्थं पिता त्वामभिषेक्ष्यति ॥ ३३ ॥	rāvaṇasya vadhārthāya jāto’si raghusattama । idānīm rājyarakṣārthaṁ pitā tvāmabhiṣeṣyati ॥ 33 ॥	33. O best of Raghus, thou art born for the destruction of Ravana . Thy father will now install thee as heir-apparent for the protection of the kingdom.
0201	34	यदि राज्याभिसंसक्तो रावणं न हनिष्यसि । प्रतिज्ञा ते कृता राम भूभारहरणाय वै ॥ ३४ ॥	yadi rājyābhisamsakto rāvaṇaṁ na haniṣyasi । pratijñā te kṛtā rāma bhūbhāraharaṇāya vai ॥ 34 ॥	34. If installed in the kingdom, thou shalt not kill Ravana. Thou had promised to lighten the load of the earth.”

0201	35	तत्सत्यं कुरु राजेन्द्र सत्यसन्धस्त्वमेव हि । श्रुत्वैतद्वदितं रामो नारदं प्राह सस्मितम् ॥ ३५ ॥	tatsatyam kuru rājendra satyasaṁdhaswameva hi । śrutvaitadgaditam rāmo nāradaṁ prāha sasmitam ॥ 35 ॥	35. Do thou, O King of kings, fulfil it. Thou art of true resolve. Hearing this speech of Narada, Rama said to him with a smile.
0201	36	शृणु नारद मे किञ्चिद्विद्यतेऽविदितं क्वचित् । प्रतिज्ञातं च यत्पूर्वं करिष्ये तन्न संशयः ॥ ३६ ॥	śṛṇu nārada me kiñcidvidyate'viditam kvacit । pratijñātaṁ ca yatpūrvam kariṣye tanna saṁśayaḥ ॥ 36 ॥	36. Hear me, O Narada, nothing is unknown to me. I shall fulfil the promise I had formerly made, of this there is no doubt.
0201	37	किन्तु कालानुरोधेन तत्तत्प्राग्बन्धसङ्ख्यात् । हरिष्ये सर्वभूभारं क्रमेणासुरमण्डलम् ॥ ३७ ॥	kintu kālānurodhena tattatprārabdhasaṅkṣayāt । hariṣye sarvabhūbhāraṁ krameṇāsuraṁḍalam ॥ 37 ॥	37. When under the influence of time the karma which gave each of them his present incarnation has become exhausted, I shall kill the whole of the Rakshasas, and thus lighten the load of the earth.
0201	38	रावणस्य विनाशार्थं श्वो गन्ता दण्डकाननम् । चतुर्दश समास्तत्र ह्युषित्वा मुनिवेषधृक् ॥ ३८ ॥	rāvaṇasya vināśārthaṁ śvo gantā daṇḍakānaṁ । caturdaśa samāstatra hyuṣitvā muniveṣadhṛk ॥ 38 ॥	38 - 39. For the purpose of killing Ravana, tomorrow do I go to the Dandaka forest. There, living for fourteen years, under the guise of a Muni I shall kill that vile creature with his family, having made Sita a pretext for it. On Rama having said so, Narada became highly pleased.
0201	39	सीतामिषेण तं दुष्टं सकुलं नाशयाम्यहम् । एवं रामे प्रतिज्ञाते नारदः प्रमुमोद ह ॥ ३९ ॥	sītamiṣeṇa taṁ duṣṭaṁ sakulaṁ nāśayāmyaham । evaṁ rāme pratijñāte nāradaḥ pramumoda ha ॥ 39 ॥	Included above..

Having circumambulated him three times and prostrated himself before him, he went away by the path of the gods with Rama's permission.
0201	41	संवादं पठति शृणोति संस्मरेद्वा यो नित्यं मुनिवररामयोः सभक्त्या । सम्प्राप्त्यमरसुदुर्लभं विमोक्षं केवल्यं विरतिपुरःसरं क्रमेण ॥ ४१ ॥ इति श्रीमदध्यात्मरामायणे उमामहेश्वरसंवादे अयोध्याकाण्डे प्रथमः सर्गः ॥ १ ॥	saṁvādaṁ paṭhati śṛṇoti saṁsmaredvā yo nityaṁ munivararāmayoḥ sabhaktyā । samprāptyamarasudurlabhaṁ vimokṣaṁ kaivalyaṁ viratipuraḥsaraṁ krameṇa ॥ 41 ॥ iti śrīmadadhyātmārāmāyaṇe umāmaheśvarasaṁvāde ayodhyākāṇḍe prathamah sargaḥ ॥ 1 ॥	41. Whoever reads, hears or remembers this dialogue between the best of Rishis (Narada) and Rama, with devotion, obtains the status of a liberated soul which is so difficult to be attained by the gods together with Vairagya and the other concomitants thereof.
0202	1	॥ द्वितीयः सर्गः ॥ अथ राजा दशरथः कदाचिद्रहसि स्थितः । वसिष्ठं स्वकुलाचार्यमाहूयेदमभाषत ॥ १ ॥	॥ dvitīyaḥ sargaḥ ॥ atha rājā daśarathaḥ kadācidrahasi sthitaḥ । vasiṣṭhaṁ svakulācāryamāhūyēdamabhāṣata ॥ 1 ॥	1. To-morrow I shall install Rama as heir-apparent."

Said Rama, "Blessed am I, by placing this water washed off thy feet on my head." On Rama saying so, Vasishta laughed and said:
0202	22	त्वत्पादसलिलं धृत्वा धन्योऽभूद्विरिजापतिः । ब्रह्मापि मत्पिता ते हि पादतीर्थहताशुभः ॥ २२॥	tvatpādasalilaṃ dhṛtvā dhanyo'bhūdvirijāpatiḥ । brahmāpi matpitā te hi pādātīrthahatāśubhaḥ ॥ 22 ॥	22. Now thou art saying this only to give a lesson to the world. I know thee to be the Supreme self, incarnated in the world together with Lakshmi.
0202	24	देवकार्यार्थसिद्ध्यर्थं भक्तानां भक्तिसिद्ध्ये । रावणस्य वधार्थाय जातं जानामि राघवं ॥ २४॥	devakāryārthasiddhyartham bhaktānāṃ bhaktisiddhaye । rāvaṇasya vadhārthāya jātaṃ jānāmi rāghava ॥ 24 ॥	24. Thou art the internal ruler, the mover of the wheel of the world. Thou art beyond ken. Having taken up a body made of pure goodness, self- dependent, thou appear in the world like man under thy Yogic power. I know the office of a priest to be a low and blame-able one. The Supreme self shall be born in the race of the Ikshwaku under the name of Rama. This I came to know in days of yore, having been told of it by Brahma. Since then hoping to be connected with thee, I took up this role of the purohita of the Raghus, blame-able though it be, for the purpose of being thy preceptor.

O scion of the Raghu race, that object of mine has this day been accomplished. The great illusion which deludes all the world and is dependent upon thee, let that Maya not delude me, do thou, O leader of the Raghu race, so ordain. If thou wish to give me a preceptor's fee, let that be my fee.

I have said all this incidentally. It should not be revealed by me on any occasion. I have been sent by Raja Dasaratha, O leader of the Raghus, to invite thee. He shall install thee tomorrow on the throne. Today do thou together with Sita observe a fast according to ordinances. Do thou purify thyself and controlling thy organs of sense, sleep on the ground. I am going to the king, thou shalt go to him tomorrow.

O son of Sumitra, tomorrow I shall be installed as heir-apparent, I am merely an instrument. Thou art the real doer and the enjoyer.

Vasishta also having gone to the king told him that everything had been done. As the king was telling Vasishta of the installation of Rama, someone amongst the people of the city heard of it and went and spoke to Rama's mother Kausalya as well as to Sumitra.

On receipt of this glad news they became overjoyed and gave him a handsome and valuable necklace. Then Kausalya who loved Rama much, out of affection for him, worshipped the goddess Lakshmi for Rama's success. "Raja Dasaratha speaks the truth and will fulfil his promise. He is, however, under the influence of Kaikeyi and overpowered with love what will he do?" Thus agitated in mind she worshipped the goddess Durga.

That woman, who was hunch-backed and was bent in three places in the body, went up to the roof of the palaces and saw the town decorated on all sides. It was adorned with arches of various kinds as well as with festoons and flags and was full of festivities of every description. Struck with wonder she came down.

On hearing of it, the queen Kaikeyi, who was sweet of speech forthwith rose up and gave her a gold anklet studded with gems and asked her as to why on the occasion of joy was she saying there was approaching danger.

0202	61	सुमित्रायाः समीचीनं भविष्यति न संशयः । लक्ष्मणो राममन्वेति राज्यं सोऽनुभविष्यति ॥ ६१ ॥	sumitrāyāḥ samīcīnaṃ bhaviṣyati na saṃśayaḥ । lakṣmaṇo rāmamanveti rājyaṃ so'nubhaviṣyati ॥ 61 ॥	61. It will be agreeable to Sumitra. There is no doubt in this. Lakshmana follows Rama. He and Lakshmana shall therefore enjoy the sovereign power.

He marched with an army accompanied by thee, O thou of handsome form. As that great bowman was fighting with the Rakshasas, the nail of the axle of his car broke and fell down and the king knew it not. But thou with great firmness of mind put thy hand into the hole of the axle and, O thou of black eyes, thou stood there protecting the life of thy husband. Then having killed all the Asuras that conqueror saw thee standing. Greatly astonished he joyfully embraced thee, and said to thee "Do thou ask of me what is in thy mind. I am the giver of boons.

When there is opportunity, then do thou give me the boons'.

Hearing this from the woman who was bent in three places in the body, the daughter of the king of Kekaya took all that she said to be for her good. Deluded by the company of the vicious, one takes the bad for the good. To her the vile Kaikeyi said, "How earnest art thou to possess such intelligence".

0203	65	वनं प्रयाहि शीघ्रं त्वमद्यैव पितुराज्ञया । चतुर्दश समास्त्र वस मुन्यन्नभोजनः ॥ ६५॥	vanam prayāhi śīghraṃ tvamadyaiva piturājñayā । caturdaśa samāstratra vasa munyannabhojanaḥ ॥ 65 ॥	Included above..
0203	66	एतदेव पितुस्तेऽद्य कार्यं त्वं कर्तुमर्हसि । राजा तु लज्जते वक्तुं त्वामेवं रघुनन्दन ॥ ६६॥	etadeva pituste'dya kāryaṃ tvam kartumarhasi । rājā tu lajjate vaktuṃ tvāmevaṃ raghunandana ॥ 66 ॥	66. “This thy father's obligation should thou fulfil, the king, O Raghunandan, is ashamed to tell thee so.”
0203	67	श्रीराम उवाच भरतस्यैव राज्यं स्यादहं गच्छामि दण्डकान् । किन्तु राजा न वक्तीह मां न जानेऽत्र कारणम् ॥ ६७॥	śrīrāma uvāca bharatasyaiva rājyaṃ syādahaṃ gacchāmi daṇḍakān । kintu rājā na vaktīha māṃ na jāne'tra kāraṇam ॥ 67 ॥	67. Said Sri Rama. Let the kingdom be Bharata's. I shall go to the Dandaka forest. But the king does not speak to me. I do not know the cause.
0203	68	श्रुत्वैतद्रामवचनं दृष्ट्वा रामं पुरः स्थितम् । प्राह राजा दशरथो दुःखितो दुःखितं वचः ॥ ६८॥	śrutvaitadrāmavacanam drṣṭvā rāmaṃ puraḥ sthitam । prāha rājā daśaratho duḥkhito duḥkhitaṃ vacaḥ ॥ 68 ॥	68. Hearing this speech of Rama and seeing him standing in front, Raja Dasaratha in distress said the following painful words:
0203	69	स्त्रीजितं भ्रान्तहृदयमुन्मार्गपरिवर्तिनम् । निगृह्य मां गृहाणेदं राज्यं पापं न तद्भवेत् ॥ ६९॥	strījitaṃ bhrāntahrdayamunmārgaparivartinam । nigrhya māṃ grhāṇedaṃ rājyaṃ pāpaṃ na tadbhavet ॥ 69 ॥	69. “Conquered by a woman, deluded in mind, walking in an unrighteous path am I. Do thou confine me and take this kingdom, In this there will be no sin.
0203	70	एवं चेदनुत्तं नैव मां स्पृशेद्रघुनन्दन । इत्युक्त्वा दुःखसन्तप्तो विललाप नृपस्तदा ॥ ७०॥	evaṃ cedanṛtaṃ naiva māṃ sprśedraghunandana । ityuktvā duḥkhasantapto vilālāpa nṛpastadā ॥ 70 ॥	70. In this way no sin will attach to me, O scion of the Raghu race”. So saying, burning with pain, the king wept.
0203	71	हा राम हा जगन्नाथ हा मम प्राणवल्लभ । मां विसृज्य कथं घोरं विपिनं गन्तुमर्हसि ॥ ७१॥	hā rāma hā jagannātha hā mama prāṇavallabha । māṃ visṛjya katham ghoram vipinaṃ gantumarhasi ॥ 71 ॥	71. Oh Rama, O Lord of the world, Oh thou dearer to me than life itself. Leaving me here, how can thou go to the dire forest?
0203	72	इति रामं समालिङ्ग्य मुक्तकण्ठो रुरोद ह । विमृज्य नयने रामः पितुः सजलपाणिना ॥ ७२॥	iti rāmaṃ samālīṅgya muktakaṇṭho ruroda ha । vimṛjya nayane rāmaḥ pituḥ sajalapaṇinā ॥ 72 ॥	72. Thus saying, he embraced Rama and wept loudly. Rama then wiped the tears off his father's eyes with his hands.
0203	73	आश्वासयामास नृपं शनैः स नयकोविदः । किमत्र दुःखेन विभो राज्यं शासतु मेऽनुजः ॥ ७३॥	āśvāsayaṃāsa nṛpaṃ śanaiḥ sa nayakovidāḥ । kimatra duḥkhena vibho rājyaṃ śāsatu me'nujah ॥ 73 ॥	73. Skilled in the science of polity, he gradually comforted the king and said: “What cause is here for sorrow, O Sire, let my brother rule the kingdom”.

0203	74	अहं प्रतिज्ञां निस्तौय पुनर्यास्यामि ते पुरम् । राज्यात्कोटिगुणं सौख्यं मम राजन् वने सतः ॥ ७४ ॥	ahaṁ pratijñāṁ nistōya punaryāsyāmi te puram । rājyātkoṭiguṇaṁ saukhyaṁ mama rājan vane sataḥ ॥ 74 ॥	74. “Having fulfilled my promise I shall return to thy city. To me by living in the forest, there is million times more happiness than in ruling a kingdom.
0203	75	त्वत्सत्यपालनं देव कार्यं चापि भविष्यति । कैकेय्याश्च प्रियो राजन् वनवासो महागुणः ॥ ७५ ॥	tvatsatyapālanaṁ deva kāryaṁ cāpi bhaviṣyati । kaikeyyāśca priyo rājan vanavāso mahāguṇaḥ ॥ 75 ॥	75. “Thy promise shall become true and the work (of the gods) accomplished. It shall also be agreeable to Kaikeyi. There is much merit in residing in a forest.
0203	76	इदानीं गन्तुमिच्छामि व्येतु मातुश्च हृज्ज्वरः । सम्भारश्चोपहृयन्तामभिषेकार्थमाहताः ॥ ७६ ॥	idānīm gantumicchāmi vyetu mātusḥ hrjjuvareḥ । sambhāraśchopahṛiyantāmabhiṣekārthamāhṛtāḥ ॥ 76 ॥	76. This moment I desire to go. Let the fever of my mother’s heart go, let the preparations made for my installation be cancelled.
0203	77	मातरं समनुश्वास्य अनुनीय च जानकीम् । आगत्य पादौ वन्दित्वा तव यास्ये सुखं वनम् ॥ ७७ ॥	mātaraṁ samanuśvāsyā anuniya ca jānakīm । āgatya pādau vanditvā tava yāsyē sukhaṁ vanam ॥ 77 ॥	77. Having comforted my mother and counselled Janaki, I shall come back and having bowed to thy feet shall gladly go to the forest.
0203	78	इत्युक्त्वा तु परिक्रम्य मातरं द्रष्टुमाययौ । कौसल्यापि हरेः पूजां कुरुते रामकारणात् ॥ ७८ ॥	ityuktvā tu parikramya mātaraṁ draṣṭumāyayau । kausalyāpi hareḥ pūjāṁ kurute rāmakāraṇāt ॥ 78 ॥	78. Having said so and circumambulated his father, Rama came to see his mother Kousalya , who was worshipping Hari for his sake.
0203	79	होमं च कारयामास ब्राह्मणेभ्यो ददौ धनम् । ध्यायते विष्णुमेकाग्रमनसा मौनमास्थिता ॥ ७९ ॥	homaṁ ca kārayāmāsa brāhmaṇebhyo dadau dhanam । dhyāyate viṣṇumekāgramanasā maunamāsthitā ॥ 79 ॥	79. She had caused the Homa sacrifice to be performed and given wealth to Brahmanas and was meditating silently with a concentrated mind upon Vishnu.
0203	80	अन्तःस्थमेकं घनाचित्रकाशं निरस्तसर्वातिशयस्वरूपम् । विष्णुं सदानन्दमयं हृदब्जे सा भावयन्ती न ददर्श रामम् ॥ ८० ॥ इति श्रीमदध्यात्मरामायणे उमामहेश्वरसंवादे अयोध्याकाण्डे तृतीयः सर्गः ॥ ३ ॥	antaḥsthamekaṁ ghanacitprakāśaṁ nirastasarvātīśayasvarūpam । viṣṇuṁ sadānandamayam hṛdabje sā bhāvayantī na dadarśa rāmam ॥ 80 ॥ iti śrīmadadhyātmārāmāyaṇe umāmaheśvarasaṁvāde ayodhyākāṇḍe tṛtīyaḥ sargaḥ ॥ 3 ॥	80. As she was meditating upon Vishnu, the one abiding in all hearts as the internal ruler, who is the one intelligent and effulgent self of all, beyond all limitations, ever the abode of bliss, in the lotus of her heart, she did not see Rama.
0204	1	ततः सुमित्रा दृष्ट्वैनं रामं राज्ञीं ससम्भ्रमा । कौसल्यां बोधयामास रामोऽयं समुपस्थितः ॥ १ ॥	tataḥ sumitrā dṛṣṭvainaṁ rāmaṁ rājñīm sasambhramā । kausalyāṁ bodhayāmāsa rāmo’yaṁ samupasthitāḥ ॥ 1 ॥	1. Then Sumitra seeing Rama, speedily called out to Kousalya saying here is Rama.
0204	2	श्रुत्वेव रामनामैषा बहिर्दृष्टिप्रवाहिता । रामं दृष्ट्वा विशालाक्षमालिङ्ग्याङ्गे न्यवेशयत् ॥ २ ॥	śrutvaiva rāmanāmaiṣā bahirdṛṣṭipravāhitā । rāmaṁ dṛṣṭvā viśālākṣamāliṅgyāṅge nyaveśayat ॥ 2 ॥	2. Hearing the name of Rama, she forthwith directed her eyes outward and leaving off her meditation on seeing him of large eyes, embraced him and seated him in her lap.
0204	3	मूर्ध्न्यवघ्राय पस्पृशं गात्रं नीलोत्पलच्छवि । भुङ्क्ष्व पुत्रेति च प्राह मिष्टमन्नं क्षुधार्दितः ॥ ३ ॥	mūrdhnyavaghrāya pasparśa gātraṁ nīlotpalacchavi । bhuṅkṣva putreti ca prāha miṣṭamannaṁ kṣudhārditaḥ ॥ 3 ॥	3. She smelt him on the forehead and touched his body resplendent like the blue lotus and said, “O son, do thou eat some sweets, thou art troubled with hunger.”
0204	4	रामः प्राह न मे मातर्भोजनावसरः कुतः । दण्डकागमने शीघ्रं मम कालोऽद्य निश्चितः ॥ ४ ॥	rāmaḥ prāha na me mātarbhojanāvasaraḥ kutāḥ । daṇḍakāgamane śighraṁ mama kālo’dya nīścitāḥ ॥ 4 ॥	4. Rama said, “O mother, this is not the time for eating. It is time for me to go today to the Dandaka forest, so it has been settled.
0204	5	कैकेयीवरदानेन सत्यसन्धः पिता मम । भरताय ददौ राज्यं ममाप्यारण्यमुत्तमम् ॥ ५ ॥	kaikeyīvaradānena satyasandhaḥ pitā mama । bharatāya dadau rājyaṁ mamāpyāraṇyamuttamam ॥ 5 ॥	5. “Because of the boons he had given to Kaikeyi, my father of truthful promise has given the kingdom to Bharata and me the good forest.
0204	6	चतुर्दश समास्तत्र ह्युषित्वा मुनिवेषधृक् । आगमिष्ये पुनः शीघ्रं न चिन्तां कर्तुमर्हसि ॥ ६ ॥	caturdaśa samāstatra hyuṣitvā muniveṣadhṛk । āgamiṣyē punaḥ śighraṁ na cintāṁ kartumarhasi ॥ 6 ॥	6. “There dressed like a Muni I shall live for fourteen years and come back immediately on the expiration thereof, thou should have no anxiety about it.”
0204	7	तच्छ्रुत्वा सहसोद्विग्ना मूर्च्छिता पुनरुत्थिता । आह रामं सुदुःखार्ता दुःखसागरसम्प्लुता ॥ ७ ॥	tacchrutvā sahasodvignā mūrccchitā punarutthitā । āha rāmaṁ suduḥkhārtā duḥkhasāgarasamplutā ॥ 7 ॥	7. On hearing this, Kousalya became greatly confused and fell into a swoon; then she got up and in great pain and sunk in the ocean of sorrow said to Rama:
0204	8	यदि राम वनं सत्यं यासि चेन्नयं मामपि । त्वद्विहीना क्षणार्धं वा जीवितं धारये कथम् ॥ ८ ॥	yadi rāma vanaṁ satyaṁ yāsi cennaya māmapi । tvadvihinā kṣaṇārdhaṁ vā jīvitaṁ dhāraye katham ॥ 8 ॥	8. “If thou, O Rama art truly going to the forest, then take me also. Bereft of thee, how shall I live even for half a moment?”
0204	9	यथा गौर्बालकं वर्त्सं त्यक्त्वा तिष्ठेन्न कुत्रचित् । तथैव त्वां न शक्नोमि त्यक्तुं प्राणात्प्रियं सुतम् ॥ ९ ॥	yathā gaurbālakam vatsaṁ tyaktvā tiṣṭhenna kutracit । tathaiva tvāṁ na śaknōmi tyaktuṁ prāṇātpriyaṁ sutam ॥ 9 ॥	9. “Just as a cow cannot bear the separation of her young calf, even so I cannot leave thee, my son, who art dearer to me than life itself”.
0204	10	भरताय प्रसन्नश्चेद्राज्यं राजा प्रयच्छतु । किमर्थं वनवासाय त्वामाज्ञापयति प्रियम् ॥ १० ॥	bharatāya prasannaśchedrājyaṁ rājā prayacchatu । kimarthaṁ vanavāsāya tvāmājñāpayati priyam ॥ 10 ॥	10. “Let the Raja, if it pleases him, give the kingdom to Bharata, but why does he order thee who art dear to him to go to the forest.

0204	11	कैकेय्या वरदो राजा सर्वस्वं वा प्रयच्छतु । त्वया किमपराद्धं हि कैकेय्या वा नृपस्य वा ॥ ११ ॥	kaikeyyā varado rājā sarvasvaṃ vā prayacchatu । tvayā kimaparāddhaṃ hi kaikeyyā vā nr̥pasya vā ॥ 11 ॥	11. "If the king desires to grant boons to Kaikeyi, let him give her all that he has. But what hast thou done to offend Kaikeyi or the king?"
0204	12	पिता गुरुर्यथा राम तवाहमधिका ततः । पित्राऽऽज्ञप्तो वनं गन्तुं वारयेयमहं सुतम् ॥ १२ ॥	pitā gururyathā rāma tavāhamadhikā tataḥ । pitrā"jñapto vanaṃ gantuṃ vārayeyamaham sutam ॥ 12 ॥	12. If thy father is thy master, I thy mother am even greater than him. If he tells thee to go to the forest, I tell thee not to go.
0204	13	यदि गच्छसि मद्राक्यमुल्लङ्घ्य नृपवाक्यतः । तदा प्राणान् परित्यज्य गच्छामि यमसादनम् ॥ १३ ॥	yadi gacchasi madrākyaṃ ullāṅghya nr̥pavākyaṭaḥ । tadā prāṇān parityajya gacchāmi yamasādanam ॥ 13 ॥	13. "If disregarding my saying thou goest to the forest at the king's command, then I shall give up life and go to the abode of the king of the dead."
0204	14	लक्ष्मणोऽपि ततः श्रुत्वा कौसल्यावचनं रुषा । उवाच राघवं वीक्ष्य दहन्निव जगत्त्रयम् ॥ १४ ॥	lakṣmaṇo'pi tataḥ śrutvā kausalyāvacanam ruṣā । uvāca rāghavam viṣya dahanniva jagatrayam ॥ 14 ॥	14. Hearing this speech of Kousalya, Lakshmana looking at Rama, angrily spoke as follows as if he was going to burn the three worlds with anger.
0204	15	उन्मत्तं भ्रान्तमनसं कैकेयीवशवर्तिनम् । बद्ध्वा निहन्मि भरतं तद्भ्रून्मातुलानपि ॥ १५ ॥	unmattaṃ bhrāntamanasaṃ kaikeyīvaśavartinam । baddhvā nihanmi bharataṃ tadbandhūnmātulānapi ॥ 15 ॥	15. "I shall bind Bharata who is deluded and under the influence of Kaikeyi, and kill him and all his relations and maternal uncles.
0204	16	अद्य पश्यन्तु मे शौर्यं लोकान् प्रदहतः पुरा । राम त्वमभिषेकाय कुरु यत्नमरिन्दम ॥ १६ ॥	adya paśyantu me śauryaṃ lokān pradahataḥ purā । rāma tvamabhiṣekāya kuru yatnamarindama ॥ 16 ॥	16. Let them see my prowess today burning the three worlds like the fire at the end of Kalpa. Do thou, O scorcher of foes, take steps to have thyself installed.
0204	17	धनुष्पाणिरहं तत्र निहन्त्यां विघ्नकारिणः । इति ब्रुवन्तं सोमित्रिमालिङ्ग्य रघुनन्दनः ॥ १७ ॥	dhanuṣpāṇirahaṃ tatra nihanāyāṃ vighnakāriṇaḥ । iti bruvantaṃ saumitrimālīṅgya raghunandanaḥ ॥ 17 ॥	17. "Bow in hand I shall kill all who throw obstacles in thy way." As the son of Sumitra was saying so, Rama embraced him and said:
0204	18	शूरोऽसि रघुशार्दूल ममात्यन्तहिते रतः । जानामि सर्वं ते सत्यं किन्तु तत्समयो न हि ॥ १८ ॥	śūro'si raghuśārdūla mamātyantahite rataḥ । jānāmi sarvaṃ te satyaṃ kintu tatsamayo na hi ॥ 18 ॥	18. "O lion of the Raghu race, brave and greatly attached to me art thou. I know that all thou say is true, but this is not the time for it.
0204	19	यदिदं दृश्यते सर्वं राज्यं देहादिकं च यत् । यदि सत्यं भवेत्तत्र आयासः सफलश्च ते ॥ १९ ॥	yadidaṃ dr̥śyate sarvaṃ rājyaṃ dehādikaṃ ca yat । yadi satyaṃ bhavettatra āyāsaḥ saphalaśca te ॥ 19 ॥	19. If all that is seen here as the body, kingdom and the like, were true, then thy effort would be fruitful.
0204	20	भोगा मेघवितानस्थविद्युल्लेखेव चञ्चलाः । आयुरप्यग्निसन्तप्तलोहस्थजलबिन्दुवत् ॥ २० ॥	bhogā meghavitānasthavidyullekheva cañcalāḥ । āyurapyagnisantaptalohasthajalabinduvaṭ ॥ 20 ॥	20. Like a flash of lightning in a mass of clouds unstable are all worldly enjoyments. Life also is like a drop of water upon a piece of heated iron (liable to disappear any moment).
0204	21	यथा व्यालगलस्थोऽपि भेको दंशानपेक्षते । तथा कालाहिना ग्रस्तो लोको भोगानशाश्वतान् ॥ २१ ॥	yathā vyālagalastho'pi bheko daṃśānapekṣate । tathā kālāhinā grasto loko bhogānaśāśvatān ॥ 21 ॥	21. Like a frog hanging in a serpent's throat being yet desirous of eating the serpent's flesh with his teeth, men of the world are desirous of enjoyment of unstable worldly objects, even though they are being swallowed up by the serpent of time.
0204	22	करोति दुःखेन हि कर्मतन्त्रं शरीरभोगार्थमहर्निशं नरः । देहस्तु भिन्नः पुरुषात्समीक्ष्यते को वात्र भोगः पुरुषेण भुज्यते ॥ २२ ॥	karoti duḥkhena hi karmatantraṃ śarīrabhogārthamaharṇiśaṃ naraḥ । dehasṭu bhinnnaḥ puruṣātsamīkṣyate ko vātra bhogaḥ puruṣeṇa bhujyate ॥ 22 ॥	22. Night and day man does work of diverse description with great trouble for the sake of the body. But the body is distinct from the purusha (self), what enjoyment can the purusha then have here?
0204	23	पितृमातृसुतभ्रातृदारबन्वादिसङ्गमः । प्रपायामिव जन्तूनां नद्यां काशीघवच्चलः ॥ २३ ॥	pitṛmātr̥sutabhrātr̥dārabandhāvādisaṅgamaḥ । prapāyāmiva jantūnāṃ nadyāṃ kāśhaughavacchalaḥ ॥ 23 ॥	23. Unstable in the world is the meeting of fathers, mothers, brothers, wives and relations, like that of people at a place for drinking water or like two pieces of wood meeting in a stream.
0204	24	छायेव लक्ष्मीश्चपला प्रतीता तारुण्यमम्बूर्मैवदध्रुवं च । स्वप्नोपमं स्त्रीसुखमायुरल्पं तथापि जन्तोर्भिमान एषः ॥ २४ ॥	chāyeva lakṣmīśchapaḥ pratitā tāruṇyamambūrmivadadhruvaṃ ca । svapnopamaṃ strīasukhamāyuralpaṃ tathāpi jantorabhimāna eṣaḥ ॥ 24 ॥	24. Fickle like a shadow is fortune, unstable like the waves of the ocean is youth, the pleasure derived from the company of women is like a dream, life is short and yet embodied beings have so much attachment to these.
0204	25	संसृतिः स्वप्नसदृशी सदा रोगादिसङ्कुला । गन्धर्वनगरप्रख्या मूढस्तामनुवर्तते ॥ २५ ॥	saṃsṛtiḥ svapnasadr̥śī sadā rogādisaṅkulā । gandharvanagaraprakhyā mūḍhastāmanuvartate ॥ 25 ॥	25. The course of worldly life is like a dream. It is always troubled with diseases and the like. It is like a castle in the air. Only a fool runs after it.
0204	26	आयुष्यं क्षीयते यस्मादादित्यस्य गतागतः । दृष्टान्येषां जरामृत्यू कथञ्चिन्नैव बुध्यते ॥ २६ ॥	āyusaṃ kṣīyate yasmādādityasya gatāgataḥ । dr̥ṣṭvānyeṣāṃ jarāmṛtyū kathañcinnaiḥ budhyate ॥ 26 ॥	26. Life is waning at each rising and setting of the sun and even though we see others dying and growing old, yet we never awake from our own dream (of the vanity of world life).
0204	27	स एव दिवसः सैव रात्रिरित्येव मूढधीः । भोगाननुपतत्येव कालवेगं न पश्यति ॥ २७ ॥	sa eva divasaḥ saiva rātrirityeva mūḍhadhīḥ । bhogānanupatatyeva kālavegaṃ na paśyati ॥ 27 ॥	27. Each day is like the other, each night like the other, and yet foolish man runs after worldly enjoyments and sees not the flight of time.

0204	28	प्रतिक्षणं क्षरत्येतदायुरामघटाम्बुवत् । सपत्ना इव रोगौघाः शरीरं प्रहरन्त्यहो ॥ २८ ॥	pratikṣaṇaṃ kṣaratyetadāyurāmaghaṭāmbuvat । sapatnā iva rogaughāḥ śarīraṃ praharantyaḥ ॥ 28 ॥	28. Oh! Alas! like water in an unbaked jar of clay, life is waning away every moment. Diseases like enemies are assaulting the body on every side.
0204	29	जरा व्याघ्रौव पुरतस्तर्जयन्त्यवतिष्ठते । मृत्युः सहैव यात्येष समयं सम्प्रतीक्षते ॥ २९ ॥	jarā vyāghrōv puratastarjayantyavatiṣṭhate । mṛtyuḥ sahaiva yātyeṣa samayaṃ sampratīkṣate ॥ 29 ॥	29. Like a tigress, old age is looming here frightening us and death ever on the watch to swallow us is waiting its time.
0204	30	देहेऽहम्भावमपन्नो राजाहं लोकविश्रुतः । इत्यस्मिन्मनुते जन्तुः कृमिविड्भस्मसञ्ज्ञिते ॥ ३० ॥	dehe'hambhāvamāpanno rājāhaṃ lokaviśrutaḥ । ityasminmanute jantuḥ kṛmiviḍbhasmasañjñite ॥ 30 ॥	30. "I am the body" acting under this notion one says, "I am a king known throughout the world." Thus embodied beings believe the body which is food for worms or is liable to be changed into dirt or dust, to be their own self.
0204	31	त्वगस्थिमान्सविष्मूत्ररेतोरक्तादिसंयुतः । विकारी परिणामी च देह आत्मा कथं वद ॥ ३१ ॥	tvagasthimānsaviṣmūtraretoraktādisaṃyutaḥ । vikārī pariṇāmī ca deha ātmā kathaṃ vada ॥ 31 ॥	31. "Tell me, how can the body which is composed of skin, bones, flesh, secretions, urine, semen, blood and the like, which is ever changing, ever decaying, be the self."
0204	32	यमास्थाय भवान्लोकं दग्धुमिच्छति लक्ष्मण । देहाभिमानिनः सर्वे दोषाः प्रादुर्भवन्ति हि ॥ ३२ ॥	yamāsthāya bhavānlokaṃ dagdhumicchati lakṣmaṇa । dehābhimāninaḥ sarve doṣāḥ prādurbhavanti hi ॥ 32 ॥	32. The belief under which you, O Lakshmana, wish to burn the worlds is that through which all those faults appear to him who takes the body to be true.
0204	33	देहोऽहमिति या बुद्धिरविद्या सा प्रकीर्तिता । नाहं देहाश्चिदात्मेति बुद्धिर्विद्येति भण्यते ॥ ३३ ॥	deho'hamiti yā buddhiravidyā sā prakīrtitā । nāhaṃ dehaścidātmeti buddhirvidyeti bhaṇyate ॥ 33 ॥	33. "I am this body." This notion is called avidya (nescience) "I am not this body but the intelligent self." This is called knowledge.
0204	34	अविद्या संसृतेर्हेतुर्विद्या तस्या निवर्तिका । तस्माद्यत्नः सदा कार्या विद्याभ्यासे मुमुक्षुभिः । कामक्रोधादयस्तत्र शत्रवः शत्रुसूदन ॥ ३४ ॥	avidyā saṃsṛterheturvidyā tasyā nivartikā । tasmādyatnaḥ sadā kāryo vidyābhyāse mumukṣubhiḥ । kāmākrodhādayastatra śatravaḥ śatrusūdana ॥ 34 ॥	34. Avidya (nescience) is the cause of the world, knowledge of self is the destroyer thereof. Those desirous of emancipation should, therefore, always strive for that acquirement of knowledge of self.
0204	35	तत्रापि क्रोध एवालं मोक्षविघ्नय सर्वदा । येनाविष्टः पुमान् हन्ति पितृभ्रातृसुहृत्सखीन् ॥ ३५ ॥	tatrāpi krodha evālaṃ mokṣavighnāya sarvadā । yēnāviṣṭaḥ pumān hanti pitṛbhrāṭṛsuhrṭsakhīn ॥ 35 ॥	35. O destroyer of foes, desire, passion and the like, are the enemies. Of these, passion is alone capable of impeding the path of emancipation. Under its influence man kills fathers, brothers, friends and those who are attached to him.
0204	36	क्रोधमूलो मनस्तापः क्रोधः संसारबन्धनम् । धर्मक्षयकरः क्रोधस्तस्मात्क्रोधं परित्यज ॥ ३६ ॥	krodhamūlo manastāpaḥ krodhaḥ saṃsārabandhanam । dharmakṣayakaraḥ krodhastasmātkrodhaṃ parityaja ॥ 36 ॥	36. All mental fever has its root in passion. Passion is the great cord that binds the world. Passion is the destroyer of virtue, do thou therefore relinquish passion.
0204	37	क्रोध एष महान् शत्रुस्तृष्णा वैतरणी नदी । सन्तोषो नन्दनवनं शान्तिरेव हि कामधुक् ॥ ३७ ॥	krodha eṣa mahān śatrustrīṣṇā vaitaraṇī nadī । santoṣo nandanavanam śāntireva hi kāmadhuk ॥ 37 ॥	37. This anger is the great enemy. Desire is the Vaitarani river, contentment is the Nandana garden (the heavenly garden of Indra) and peace is the Kamadhenu (the cow which yields every desired object.)
0204	38	तस्माच्छान्तिं भजस्वाद्य शत्रुरेवं भवेत्त ते । देहेन्द्रियमनःप्राणबुद्ध्यादिभ्यो विलक्षणः ॥ ३८ ॥	tasmācchāntiṃ bhajasvādya śatrulevaṃ bhavenna te । dehendriyamanahprāṇabuddhyādibhyo vilakṣaṇaḥ ॥ 38 ॥	38. Do thou therefore betake thyself to forgiveness, thus thou shalt have no enemy. Different from the body, the organs of sense, the life breaths and the intellect, self-effulgent, unchangeable, is the pure formless Atma (self).
0204	39	आत्मा शुद्धः स्वयञ्ज्योतिरविकारी निराकृतिः । यावद्देहेन्द्रियप्राणैर्भिन्नत्वं नात्मनो विदुः ॥ ३९ ॥	ātmā śuddhaḥ svayañjyotiravikārī nirākṛtiḥ । yāvaddhendriyaprāṇairbhinnatvaṃ nātmano viduḥ ॥ 39 ॥	39. So long as people do not know the self to be distinct from the body, the sense organs and the life breaths, they are troubled by worldly sorrows and are under the influence of death. Do thou therefore always contemplate in thy heart upon thyself as distinct from the body.

0205	7	रामोऽपि पादचरेण गजाश्वादिविवर्जितः । गच्छति द्रक्ष्यथ विभुं सर्वलोकैकसुन्दरम् ॥ ७ ॥	rāmo'pi pādacāreṇa gajāśvādivivarjitaḥ । gacchati drakṣyatha vibhuṃ sarvalokaikasundaram ॥ 7 ॥	7. See here is Rama, the lord of the world and the most handsome among men also going along the road unaccompanied with elephants, horses and the like.
0205	8	राक्षसी कैकेयीनाम्नी जाता सर्वविनाशिनी । रामस्यापि भवेद्दुःखं सीतायाः पादयानतः ॥ ८ ॥	rākṣasī kaikeyīnāmnī jātā sarvavināśinī । rāmasyāpi bhavedduḥkhaṃ sitāyāḥ pādāyānataḥ ॥ 8 ॥	8. This Kaikeyi is a monstress horn for universal destruction. Rama shall suffer pain by Sita 's going on foot in his company. Fate is all powerful. Human exertion is powerless:
0205	9	बलवान् विधिरेवात्र पुम्प्रयत्नो हि दुर्बलः । इति दुःखाकुले वृन्दे साधूनां मुनिपुङ्गवः ॥ ९ ॥	balavān vidhīrevātra pumprayatno hi durbalaḥ । iti duḥkhākule vṛnde sādḥūnāṃ munipuṅgavaḥ ॥ 9 ॥	9. Then into the assembly of those good people who were distressed at Rama 's banishment, the Rishi Vamadeva went and said:
0205	10	अब्रवीद्वामदेवोऽथ साधूनां सङ्गमध्मगः । मानुशोचथ रामं वा सीतां वा वच्मि तत्त्वतः ॥ १० ॥	abravīdvāmadevo'tha sādḥūnāṃ saṅghamadhyagaḥ । mānuśocatha rāmaṃ vā sitāṃ vā vacmi tattvataḥ ॥ 10 ॥	10-11. "Do not grieve over Rama, or Sita. I tell you truly. This Rama is the Supreme Vishnu- the primeval Narayana. This Janaki is Lakshmi who is known as the Yoga Maya of Vishnu.
0205	11	एष रमः परो विष्णुरादिनारायणः स्मृतः । एषा सा जानकी लक्ष्मीर्योगमायेति विश्रुता ॥ ११ ॥	eṣa ramaḥ paro viṣṇurādinārāyaṇaḥ smṛtaḥ । eṣā sā jānakī lakṣmīryogamāyeti viśrutā ॥ 11 ॥	Included above..
0205	12	असौ शेषस्तमन्वेति लक्ष्मणाख्यश्च साम्प्रतम् । एष मायागुणैर्युक्तस्तत्तदाकारवानिव ॥ १२ ॥	asau śeṣastamanveti lakṣmaṇākhyāśca sāmpratam । eṣa māyāguṇairyuktastattadākāravāniva ॥ 12 ॥	12. This Lakshmana, who is now following Rama, is Sesa. Associated with the attributes of Maya, he assumes, as if it were, various forms.
0205	13	एष एव रजोयुक्तो ब्रह्माभूद्विश्वभावनः । सत्त्वाविष्टस्तथा विष्णुस्त्रिजगत्प्रतिपालकः ॥ १३ ॥	eṣa eva rajoyukto brahmābhūdviśvabhāvanaḥ । sattvāviṣṭastathā viṣṇustrijagatpratipālakaḥ ॥ 13 ॥	13. Associated with the attribute of Rajas (action) he becomes Brahma, the creator of the world. Under the influence of goodness (satwa) he becomes Vishnu, the upholder of three worlds.
0205	14	एष रुद्रस्तामसोऽन्ते जगत्प्रलयकारणम् । एष मत्स्यः पुरा भूत्वा भक्तं वैवस्वतं मनुम् ॥ १४ ॥	eṣa rudrastāmaso'nte jagatpralayakāraṇam । eṣa matsyaḥ purā bhūtvā bhaktaṃ vaivasvataṃ manum ॥ 14 ॥	14. At the end of a Kalpa under the influence of darkness (Tamas), he becomes Rudra, the cause of the destruction of the world. Assuming the form of a fish, this Raghava in days of yore, became the protector of his devotee Manu and having placed him into a boat protected him till dissolution.
0205	15	नाव्यारोप्य लयस्यान्ते पालयामास राघवः । समुद्रमथने पूर्वं मन्दरे सुतलं गते ॥ १५ ॥	nāv्यāropya layasyānte pālayāmāsa rāghavaḥ । samudramathane pūrvaṃ mandare sutalaṃ gate ॥ 15 ॥	15 – 16. At the churning of the ocean, when the Mandara mountain had sunk to the bottom of the sea, this foremost of Raghus, in the form of a tortoise bore that mountain on his back.
0205	16	अधारयत्स्वपृष्ठेऽद्रिं कूर्मरूपी रघूत्तमः । मही रसातलं याता प्रलये सूकरोऽभवत् ॥ १६ ॥	adhārayatsvapṛṣṭhe'driṃ kūrmarūpī raghūttamaḥ । mahī rasātalaṃ yātā pralaye sūkaro'bhavat ॥ 16 ॥	Included above..

0205	17	तोलयामास दृष्टम्रे तां क्षोणीं रघुनन्दनः । नारसिंहं वपुः कृत्वा प्रह्लादवदः पुरा ॥ १७ ॥	tolayāmāsa dṛṣṭrāgre tāṃ kṣoṇīm raghunandanah । nārasimhaṃ vapuh kṛtvā prahlādavaradaḥ purā ॥ 17 ॥	17. When the earth had gone down to the nether regions, at the time of the universal dissolution, this scion of the Raghu race, assumed the form of a boar and balanced it on the point of his tusk.
0205	18	त्रैलोक्यकण्टकं रक्षः पाटयामास तन्नखैः । पुत्रराज्यं हतं दृष्ट्वा हृदित्या याचितः पुरा ॥ १८ ॥	trailokyakāṇṭakaṃ rakṣaḥ pāṭayāmāsa tannakhaiḥ । putrarājyaṃ hṛtaṃ dṛṣṭvā hyadityā yācitaḥ purā ॥ 18 ॥	18. Assuming the form of Narasimha (man-lion), this giver of boons to Prahlada in days of yore, tore with his nails his father Hiranyakashipu who had become the thorn of the world.
0205	19	वामनत्वमुपागम्य याच्यया चाहरत्सुनः । दुष्टक्षत्रियभूभारनिवृत्त्यै भार्गवोऽभवत् ॥ १९ ॥	vāmanatvamupāgamy yācīyāyā cāharatpunah । duṣṭakṣatriyabhūbhāranivṛtṭyai bhārgavo'bhavat ॥ 19 ॥	19. Seeing her son's kingdom gone, (from the hands of Indra into those of Bali, the Asura king), solicited by Aditi in days of yore assuming the form of a dwarf (Vamana), he brought it back by begging it of Bali. For clearing the earth of vile Kashatriyas who had become the burden of the earth, he became Bhargava (Parusurama).
0205	20	स एव जगतां नाथ इदानीं रामतां गतः । रावणादीनि रक्षांसि कोटिशो निहनिष्यति ॥ २० ॥	sa eva jagatāṃ nātha idānīm rāmatāṃ gataḥ । rāvaṇādīni rakṣāṃsi koṭīśo nihaniṣyati ॥ 20 ॥	20. This very person has now incarnated as Rama - the lord of the world. He will kill Ravana and other Rakshasas by the million.
0205	21	मानुषेणैव मरणं तस्य दृष्टं दुरात्मनः । राज्ञा दशरथेनापि तपसाराधितो हरिः ॥ २१ ॥	mānuṣeṇaiva maraṇaṃ tasya dṛṣṭaṃ durātmanaḥ । rājñā daśarathenaṇi tapasārādhitō hariḥ ॥ 21 ॥	21 . The death of that vile wretch has been ordained only through man. The Lord Hari was propitiated by Dasaratha through austerities with the object of becoming his son and therefore he has incarnated as such.
0205	22	पुत्रत्वाकाङ्क्षया विष्णोस्तदा पुत्रोऽभवद्धरिः । स एव विष्णुः श्रीरामो रावणादिवधाय हि ॥ २२ ॥	putratvākāṅkṣayā viṣṇostadā putro'bhavaddhariḥ । sa eva viṣṇuḥ śrīrāmo rāvaṇādivadhāya hi ॥ 22 ॥	22-23. That very Vishnu (Sri Rama) for the destruction of Ravana and the rest, with Lakshmana as his companion, is going to the forest today. This Sita is verily the Maya of Vishnu, the cause of the creation, preservation and destruction of the universe.
0205	23	गन्ताद्यैव वनं रामो लक्ष्मणेन सहायवान् । एषा सीता हरमेया सृष्टिस्थित्यन्तकारिणी ॥ २३ ॥	gantādyaiḥ vanaṃ rāmo lakṣmaṇena sahāyavān । eṣā sītā harermayā sṛṣṭisthityantakārīṇī ॥ 23 ॥	Included above..
0205	24	राजा वा कैकेयी वापि नात्र कारणमण्वपि । पूर्वद्युनोरदः प्राह भूभारहरणाय च ॥ २४ ॥	rājā vā kaikeyī vāpi nātra kāraṇamaṇvapi । pūrvedyurnāradaḥ prāha bhūbhāraḥaraṇāya ca ॥ 24 ॥	24. The king or Kaikeyi is not at all the slightest agent here. The day before, Narada said the same for the purpose of lightening the load of the world.
0205	25	रामोऽप्याह स्वयं साक्षाच्छो गमिष्याम्यहं वनम् । अतो रामं समुद्दिश्य चिन्तां त्यजत बालिशाः ॥ २५ ॥	rāmo'pyāha svayaṃ sāksācchvo gamiṣyāmyaham vanam । ato rāmaṃ samuddiśya cintāṃ tyajata bālīśāḥ ॥ 25 ॥	25. Rama also said : " I shall go to the forest tomorrow. Therefore so far as Rama is concerned, do you, O foolish men, leave off all anxiety.
0205	26	रामरामेति ये नित्यं जपन्ति मनुजा भुवि । तेषां मृत्युभयादीनि न भवन्ति कदाचन ॥ २६ ॥	rāmarāmeti ye nityaṃ japanti manujā bhuvi । teṣāṃ mṛtyubhayādīni na bhavanti kadācana ॥ 26 ॥	26. Those men who, in this world, daily recite the name Rama, for them, there is never any fear of death and the like.
0205	27	का पुनस्तस्य रामस्य दुःखशङ्का महात्मनः । रामनाम्नैव मुक्तिः स्यात्कलौ नान्येन केनचित् ॥ २७ ॥	kā punastasya rāmasya duḥkhaśāṅkā mahātmanaḥ । rāmanāmnaiva muktiḥ syātkalau nānyena kenacit ॥ 27 ॥	27. What fear of pain can there be for that great soul - Rama by repeating whose name and by no other means there is emancipation in the Kali age.
0205	28	मायामानुषरूपेण विडम्बयति लोककृत् । भक्तानां भजनार्थाय रावणस्य वधाय च ॥ २८ ॥	māyāmānuṣarūpeṇa viḍambayati lokakṛt । bhaktānāṃ bhajanārthāya rāvaṇasya vadhāya ca ॥ 28 ॥	28 - 29. The creator of the world deludes the world through a human form taken under the influence of Maya. For helping his devotees in their devotion, for the destruction of Ravana, for accomplishing the object of his father the king, he has taken a human form. So saying the great Muni Vamadeva became silent.
0205	29	राज्ञश्चाभीष्टसिद्ध्यर्थं मानुषं वपुराश्रितः । इत्युक्त्वा विररामाय वामदेवो माहामुनिः ॥ २९ ॥	rājñāścābhiṣṭasiddhyartham mānuṣaṃ vapurāśritaḥ । ityuktṭvā virarāmātha vāmadevo māhāmuniḥ ॥ 29 ॥	Included above..
0205	30	श्रुत्वा तेऽपि द्विजाः सर्वे रामं ज्ञात्वा हरिं विभुम् । जहुर्हृत्संशयग्रन्थिं राममेवान्वचिन्तयन् ॥ ३० ॥	śrutvā te'pi dvijāḥ sarve rāmaṃ jñātvā hariṃ vibhum । jahurhṛtsaṃśayagranthiṃ rāma mevānvacintayan ॥ 30 ॥	30. Those twice born men also on hearing all this and knowing Rama to be the all-pervading Hari, left off the doubt which like a knot had become fastened in their hearts and meditated upon Rama.
0205	31	य इदं चिन्तयेन्नित्यं रहस्यं रामसीतयोः । तस्य रामे दृढा भक्तिर्भवद्विज्ञानपूर्विका ॥ ३१ ॥	ya idaṃ cintayennityaṃ rahasyaṃ rāmasītayoh । tasya rāme dṛḍhā bhaktirbhavedvijñānapūrvikā ॥ 31 ॥	31. Whoever daily meditates upon this mystery of Rama and Sita attains to devotion coupled with knowledge of Rama's nature.

0205	32	रहस्यं गोपनीयं वो यूयं वै राघवप्रियाः । इत्युक्त्वा प्रययौ विप्रस्तेऽपि रामं परं विदुः ॥ ३२ ॥	rahasyaṃ gopaniyaṃ vo yūyaṃ vai rāghavapriyāḥ । ityuktvā prayayau vipraste'pi rāmaṃ paraṃ viduḥ ॥ 32 ॥	32. This mystery ought to be kept concealed by you who are dear to Rama. So saying the Brahmana (Vamadeva) went away and those men also knew Rama to be the supreme being.
0205	33	ततो रामः समाविश्य पितृगृहमवारितः । सानुजः सीतया गत्वा कैकेयीमिदमब्रवीत् ॥ ३३ ॥	tato rāmaḥ samāviśya pitṛgṛhamavāritaḥ । sānujaḥ sītayā gatvā kaikeyīmidadamabravit ॥ 33 ॥	33. Then Rama having entered his father's house unobstructed, went up to Kaikeyi together with his brother and Sita and said :
0205	34	आगताः स्मो वयं मातस्त्रयस्ते सम्मतं वनम् । गन्तुं कृताधियः शीघ्रमाज्ञापयतु नः पिता ॥ ३४ ॥	āgatāḥ smo vayaṃ mātastṛyaste sammatam vanaṃ । gantum kṛtadhiyaḥ śīghramājñāpayatu naḥ pitā ॥ 34 ॥	34." O mother, here we three have come in order to go to the forest, where thou wish us to go. Speedily are we going, let the father order us".
0205	35	इत्युक्त्वा सहसोत्थाय चौराणि प्रददौ स्वयम् । रामाय लक्ष्मणायाथ सीतायै च पृथक् पृथक् ॥ ३५ ॥	ityuktā sahasotthāya cīrāṇi pradadau svayaṃ । rāmāya lakṣmaṇāyātha sītāyai ca pṛthak pṛthak ॥ 35 ॥	35. Thus addressed Kaikeyi forthwith rose up and gave garments fit for wearing in the forest to Rama, Lakshmana and Sita separately.
0205	36	रामस्तु वस्त्राण्युत्सृज्य वन्यचौराणि पर्यधात् । लक्ष्मणोऽपि तथा चक्रे सीता तत्र विजानती ॥ ३६ ॥	rāmastu vastrāṇyutsṛjya vanyacīrāṇi paryadhāt । lakṣmaṇo'pi tathā cakre sītā tanna vijānatī ॥ 36 ॥	36. Rama having left off his clothes put on these garments fit for the forest. Lakshmana also did the same; not so Sita who did not know how to use them.
0205	37	हस्ते गृहीत्वा रामस्य लज्जया मुखमैक्षत । रामो गृहीत्वा तच्चौरमंशुके पर्यवेष्टयत् ॥ ३७ ॥	haste grhītva rāmasya lajjayā mukhamaikṣata । rāmo grhītva taccīramaṃśuke paryaveṣṭayat ॥ 37 ॥	37. Taking the garment in her hand she looked at Rama shyly. Rama then took hold of the garment and tied it round her shoulder.
0205	38	तद् दृष्ट्वा रुरुदुः सर्वे राजदाराः समन्ततः । वसिष्ठस्तु तदाकर्ण्य रुदितं भर्त्सयन् रुषा ॥ ३८ ॥	tad drṣṭvā ruruḍuḥ sarve rājadārāḥ samantataḥ । vasiṣṭhastu tadākarnya ruditaṃ bhartsayan ruṣā ॥ 38 ॥	38. On seeing this all the wives of the king wept on every side of the house. Hearing this weeping, Vasishta angrily warded them off.
0205	39	कैकेयीं प्राह दुर्वृते राम एव त्वया वृतः । वनवासाय दुष्टे त्वं सीतायै किं प्रयच्छसि ॥ ३९ ॥	kaikeyīm prāha durvṛtte rāma eva tvayā vṛtaḥ । vanavāsāya duṣṭe tvam sītāyai kiṃ prayacchasi ॥ 39 ॥	39. Said he to Kaikeyi, "Rama alone was, O vile woman, asked by thee to go to the forest. Why art thou, O wretch, giving these rags to Sita?
0205	40	यदि रामं समन्त्रेति सीता भक्त्या पतिव्रता । दिव्याम्बरधरा नित्यं सर्वाभरणभूषिता ॥ ४० ॥	yadi rāmaṃ samanveti sītā bhaktiā pativratā । divyāmbaradharā nityaṃ sarvābharaṇabhūṣitā ॥ 40 ॥	40. "If Sita follows Rama out of conjugal devotion, let her go clad in heavenly garments decked with all ornaments.
0205	41	रमयत्वनिशं रामं वनदुःखनिवारिणी । राजा दशरथोऽप्याह सुमन्त्रं रथमानय ॥ ४१ ॥	ramayatvaniśaṃ rāmaṃ vanaduḥkhanivārīṇī । rājā daśaratho'pyāha sumantraṃ rathamānaya ॥ 41 ॥	41. "Let her cheer up Rama and lighten the troubles of the forest, day and night," Raja Dasaratha then said to Sumantra. "Do thou bring a car".
0205	42	रथमारुह्य गच्छन्तु वनं वनचरप्रियाः । इत्युक्त्वा राममालोक्य सीतां चैव सलक्ष्मणम् ॥ ४२ ॥	rathamāruhya gacchantu vanaṃ vanacarapriyāḥ । ityuktvā rāmamālokya sītāṃ caiva salakṣmaṇam ॥ 42 ॥	42-43. "Let these who are dear to the residents of the forest go having mounted the car." So saying and seeing Rama, Sita and Lakshmana, the king fell on the ground and wept bathing his face in tears, Sita mounted the car speedily in sight of Rama. Rama also circumambulated his father and mounted it.
0205	43	दुःखान्निपतितो भूमौ रुरोदाश्रुपरिप्लुतः । आरुरोह रथं सीता शीघ्रं रामस्य पश्यतः ॥ ४३ ॥	duḥkhānnipatito bhūmau rurodāśrupariplutaḥ । āruroha rathaṃ sītā śīghraṃ rāmasya paśyataḥ ॥ 43 ॥	Included above..
0205	44	रामः प्रदक्षिणं कृत्वा पितरं रथमारुहत् । लक्ष्मणः खड्गयुगलं धनुस्तूणीयुगं तथा ॥ ४४ ॥	rāmaḥ pradakṣiṇaṃ kṛtvā pitaraṃ rathamāruhat । lakṣmaṇaḥ khaḍgayugalaṃ dhanustūṇiyugaṃ tathā ॥ 44 ॥	44. Lakshmana took two swords, a pair of bows and arrows in quivers and having mounted the car urged the charioteer to drive on.
0205	45	गृहीत्वा रथमारुह्य नोदयामास सारथिम् । तिष्ठ तिष्ठ सुमन्त्रेति राजा दशरथोऽब्रवीत् ॥ ४५ ॥	grhītva rathamāruhya nodayāmāsa sārathim । tiṣṭha tiṣṭha sumantreti rājā daśaratho'bravit ॥ 45 ॥	45-46. Stop Sumantra, stop," said Raja Dasaratha. "Go on, go on," so urged by Rama, he drove off. After Rama had proceeded on, the king became unconscious and fell on the ground.
0205	46	गच्छ गच्छेति रामेण नोदितोऽचोदयद्रथम् । रामे दूरं गते राजा मूर्च्छितः प्रापतद्भुवि ॥ ४६ ॥	gaccha gaccheti rāmeṇa nodito'codayadratham । rāme dūraṃ gate rājā mūrccchitaḥ prāpatadbhuvī ॥ 46 ॥	Included above..
0205	47	पौरास्तु बालवृद्धाश्च वृद्धा ब्राह्मणसत्तमाः । तिष्ठ तिष्ठेति रामेति क्रोशन्तो रथमन्वयुः ॥ ४७ ॥	paurāstu bālavṛddhāśca vṛddhā brāhmaṇasattamāḥ । tiṣṭha tiṣṭheti rāmeti krośanto rathamanyayuh ॥ 47 ॥	47. The people of the town, young and old, and virtuous Brahmanas of advanced years, followed the car shouting "stop Rama, stop"
0205	48	राजा रुदित्वा सुचिरं मां नयन्तु गृहं प्रति । कौसल्याया राममातुरित्याह परिचारकान् ॥ ४८ ॥	rājā ruditvā suciraṃ māṃ nayantu grhaṃ prati । kausalyāyā rāmamāturityāha paricārakān ॥ 48 ॥	48. The king then wept for a long time and said to his servants to take me to the house of Rama's mother Kousalya speedily.
0205	49	किञ्चित्कालं भवेत्तत्र जीवन् दुःखितस्य मे । अत ऊर्ध्वं न जीवामि चिरं रामं विना कृतः ॥ ४९ ॥	kiñcitkālaṃ bhavettatra jivanaṃ duḥkhitasya me । ata ūrdhvaṃ na jivāmi ciraṃ rāmaṃ vinā kṛtaḥ ॥ 49 ॥	49. "Let the short time I have to pass in sorrow be passed there. I shall not live long after this, deprived of the company of Rama."

0205	50	ततो गृहं प्रविश्यैव कौसल्यायाः पपात ह । मूर्च्छितश्च चिराद्बुद्ध्वा तूष्णीमेवावतस्थिवान् ॥ ५० ॥	tato grhaṁ praviśyaiva kausalyāyāḥ papāta ha । mūrccchitaśca cirādbuddhvā tūṣṇīmevāvatasthivān ॥ 50 ॥	50. Having entered the house of Kousalya , the king fell then into a swoon and when brought to consciousness after a long lime remained silent.
0205	51	रामस्तु तमसातीरं गत्वा तत्रावसत्सुखी । जलं प्राश्य निराहरो वृक्षमूलोऽवपदिभुः ॥ ५१ ॥	rāmastu tamasātīraṁ gatvā tatrāvasatsukhī । jalaṁ prāśya nirāhāro vrkṣamūle'svapadivibhuḥ ॥ 51 ॥	51-52 Rama, the lord of the world, having arrived on the banks of the Tamasa river, became happy. There he took no food, but drank water and lived and slept at the foot of a tree with Sita on his side. There Lakshmana of virtuous soul, who knew what was dharmā, protected him, bow and arrow in hand together with Sumantra.
0205	52	सीतया सह धर्मात्मा धनुष्पाणिस्तु लक्ष्मणः । पालयामास धर्मज्ञः सुमन्त्रेण समन्वितः ॥ ५२ ॥	sītayā saha dharmātmā dhanuṣpāṇistu lakṣmaṇaḥ । pālayāmāsa dharmajñaḥ sumantreṇa samanvitaḥ ॥ 52 ॥	Included above..
0205	53	पौराः सर्वे समागत्य स्थितास्तस्याविद्वरतः । शक्ता रामं पुरं नेतुं नो चेद्रच्छामहे वनम् ॥ ५३ ॥	paurāḥ sarve samāgatya sthītāstasyāvidvārataḥ । śaktā rāmaṁ puram netuṁ no cedgacchāmahe vanam ॥ 53 ॥	53. The people of the town also went there and stood not far off determined to take Rama back to the town, otherwise to accompany him to the forest.
0205	54	इति निश्चयमाज्ञाय तेषां रामोऽतिविस्मितः । नाहं गच्छामि नगरमेते वै क्लेशभागिनः ॥ ५४ ॥	iti niścayamājñāya teṣāṁ rāmo'tivismitaḥ । nāhaṁ gacchāmi nagaramete vai kleśabhāgināḥ ॥ 54 ॥	54. Knowing this to be their resolve, Rama greatly surprised thought "I shall not go back to the city. Why are these even troubling themselves by accompanying me to the forest."
0205	55	भविष्यन्तीति निश्चित्य सुमन्त्रमिदमब्रवीत् । इदानीमेव गच्छामः सुमन्त्र रथमानय ॥ ५५ ॥	bhaviṣyantīti niścitya sumantramidamabravīt । idānimeva gacchāmaḥ sumantra rathamānaya ॥ 55 ॥	55. So thinking he said to Sumantra, "We shall go just now, bring my car, O Sumantra."
0205	56	इत्याज्ञप्तः सुमन्त्रोऽपि रथं वाहरयोजयत् । आरुह्य रामः सीता च लक्ष्मणोऽपि ययुर्दुतम् ॥ ५६ ॥	ityājñaptaḥ sumantro'pi rathaṁ vāhairayojayat । āruhya rāmaḥ sītā ca lakṣmaṇo'pi yayurdrutam ॥ 56 ॥	56. Thus ordered Sumantra yoked the horses to the car and Rama together with Sita and Lakshmana speedily mounted it and drove off.
0205	57	अयोध्याभिमुखं गत्वा किञ्चिद्दूरं ततो ययुः । तेऽपि राममदृष्ट्वैव प्रातरुत्थाय दुःखिताः ॥ ५७ ॥	ayodhyābhimukhaṁ gatvā kiñcidūrāṁ tato yayuḥ । te'pi rāmamadrṣṭvaiva prātarutthāya duḥkhitāḥ ॥ 57 ॥	57 -58. Having gone a little way towards Ayodhya, they went off towards the forest. The people not seeing Rama there in the morning became much distressed. Going by the track of the wheels of the car they went to the town thinking of Rama together with Sita day and night.
0205	58	रथनैमिगतं मार्गं पश्यन्तस्ते पुरं ययुः । हृदि रामं ससीतं ते ध्यायन्तस्तस्थुरन्वहम् ॥ ५८ ॥	rathanemigataṁ mārgaṁ paśyantaste puram yayuḥ । hr̥di rāmaṁ sasitaṁ te dhyāyantastasthuranvahaṁ ॥ 58 ॥	Included above..

Sumantra also respectfully drove the car speedily. There Rama and Sita saw villages full of people.
0205	60	गङ्गातीरं समागच्छच्छृङ्गवेराविद्वरतः । गङ्गां दृष्ट्वा नमस्कृत्य स्नात्वा सानन्दमानसः ॥ ६० ॥	gaṅgātīraṁ samāgacchacchr̥ṅgaverāvidvārataḥ । gaṅgāṁ drṣṭvā namaskṛtya snātvā sānandamānasaḥ ॥ 60 ॥	60 - 62. He then reached the banks of the Ganges with the ashrama of Srīngivera close by. On seeing the mighty and sacred river Rama bowed to her, bathed in it with a joyful heart and then that best of Raghus sat at the foot of a Simshapa tree. Then Guha, having heard from people of the advent of Rama, was greatly pleased and speedily came there to meet his friend and master. Having brought fruits, honey and flowers with devotion, he placed them before Rama and prostrated himself to the ground.

So saying the Rishi of auspicious fortune went with Lakshmana and all his pupils. Having gone to a place between the hill and the Ganges, he selected a suitable site. There Rama who was the abode of the world built two houses one to the south-east and the other to the north-west and both beautiful to behold.

Worshipped by Valmiki in the company of the gods and the chiefs of the Rishis, Rama, together with Sita and Lakshmana, lived happily like the King of the gods (Indra) with his consort Sachi.

"Killed in battle, O thou brave man, I shall attain to the supreme condition. Otherwise having killed Rama in battle I shall have Sita without fear".

"Therefore. O thou of great fortune, get up and becoming a deer of wonderful shape entice Rama and Lakshmana a long way off from the hermitage. Go forth speedily and return and live here happily as before".

"If thou speakest anything more to terrify me, I shall surely kill thee this instant with this sword".
0306	36	यदि मां राघवो हन्यात्तदा मुक्तो भवार्णवात् । मां हन्याद्यादि चेददुष्टस्तदा मे निरयो ध्रुवम् ॥ ३६ ॥	yadi māṁ rāghavo hanyāttadā mukto bhavārṇavāt । māṁ hanyādyadi cedduṣṭastadā me nirayo dhruvam ॥ 36 ॥	36. Hearing that speech of Ravana, Maricha thought in his mind: "If Rama kills me I shall be released from this ocean of worldly life. If this vile wretch kills me, I shall surely go to hell."
0306	37	इति निश्चित्य मरणं रामादुत्थाय वेगतः । अब्रवीद्रावणं राजन् करोम्याज्ञां तव प्रभो ॥ ३७ ॥	iti niścitya maraṇaṁ rāmādutthāya vegataḥ । abravīdrāvaṇaṁ rājan karomyājñāṁ tava prabho ॥ 37 ॥	37. Having thus resolved to die at the hands of Rama, Maricha got up speedily and said to Ravana, "I shall, O Lord, do thy bidding".
0306	38	इत्युक्त्वा रथमास्थाय गतो रामाश्रमं प्रति । शुद्धजाम्बूनदप्रख्यो मृगोऽभूद्रौष्यबिन्दुकः ॥ ३८ ॥	ityuktvā rathamāsthāya gato rāmāśramaṁ prati । śuddhajāmbūnadaprakhyo mṛgo'bhūdraupyabindukaḥ ॥ 38 ॥	38-41. Having said so they both mounted the car and went to the ashrama of Rama. Maricha then became a deer of the color of pure gold, with silver spots, his horns were made of jewels and his feet of costly gems, his eye were of blue stone and his lustre was like that of lightning. Thus he roamed about in the forest close to the ashrama of Rama within the sight of Sita . Now running, now standing, again coming up, agitated with fear, in this way that vile Rakshasa assuming the form of a deer under the influence of Maya allured Sita.

Now Rama having known all that Ravana intended to do, said to Sita as she was alone, " Hear, O Janaki, what I say".

0307	2	रावणो भिक्षुरूपेण आगमिष्यति तेऽन्तिकम् । त्वं तु छायां त्वदाकारं स्थापयित्वाटजे विश ॥ २ ॥	rāvaṇo bhikṣurūpeṇa āgamiṣyati te'ntikam । tvaṃ tu chāyāṃ tvadākārāṃ sthāpayitvotaje viśa ॥ 2 ॥	2. “Ravana shall come to thee in the guise of a mendicant. On Ravana having been killed thou shalt, O good lady, come to me as before”.

Hearing this speech of Rama, Sita did as she was told and, having placed an illusive Sita outside, entered the fire.

0307	6	पश्य राम मृगं चित्रं कानकं रत्नभूषितम् । विचित्रबिन्दुभिर्युक्तं चरन्तमकुतोभयम् । बद्ध्वा देहि मम क्रीडामृगो भवतु सुन्दरः ॥ ६ ॥	paśya rāma mṛgaṃ citraṃ kānakaṃ ratnabhūṣitam । vicitrabindubhiryuktaṃ carantamakutobhayam । baddhvā dehi mama krīḍāmṛgo bhavatu suṇḍaraḥ ॥ 6 ॥	6.. “See Rama, this variegated golden deer, adorned with gems, spotted with wonderful hues, and roaming about fearlessly.”

0307	9	लक्ष्मणो राममाहेदं देवायं मृगरूपधृक् । मारीचोऽत्र न सन्देह एवम्भूतो मृगः कुतः ॥ ९ ॥	lakṣmaṇo rāmamāhedaṃ devāyaṃ mṛgarūpadhṛk । mārīco'tra na sandeḥa evambhūto mṛgaḥ kutaḥ ॥ 9 ॥	9. Therefore do thou carefully protect Sita who is good and free from faults”. Then Lakshmana said to Rama, “O Lord, this deer is Maricha in the shape of a deer. There is no doubt in this. Otherwise how could there be a deer like this.”
0307	11	गमिष्यामि मृगं बद्ध्वा ह्यानयिष्यामि सत्वरः । त्वं प्रयत्नेन सन्तिष्ठ सीतासंरक्षणोद्यतः ॥ ११ ॥	gamiṣyāmi mṛgaṃ baddhvā hyānayaṣyāmi satvaraḥ । tvaṃ prayatnena santiṣṭha sītāsaṃrakṣaṇodyataḥ ॥ 11 ॥	11. “I shall go and binding this deer shall soon bring him. So saying Rama went after the illusive deer. That Maya upon which the world rests, which appears in the shape of the world and which deludes all, under its influence, Rama, though he was the intelligent self and perfect, yet ran after the deer. The Lord is merciful towards his devotees, and to make this saying true Hari ran after Maricha.

In order to please Sita even though he knew what the deer was, the Lord went after it. Otherwise what has Rama, who is without desire, who knows his own self, who is the Supreme self, to do with woman or a deer?

Now running near the cottage, now running away from it, now hiding himself, thus the deer did carry the Lord Rama a long way off the cottage.

Then Rama having known that he was a Rakshasa pierced him who had appeared under the guise of a deer, with an arrow. Then Maricha having assumed his usual form fell on the ground bleeding from the mouth.

So uttering words simulating those of Rama, he fell bleeding from the mouth.

Emerging from his body a light entered Rama in the sight of all the world. Seeing this the gods were struck with wonder.

Pierced by the arrow of Rama, he ever remembered him from fear, having relinquished all in the shape of home, wealth and the rest.
0307	23	हृदि रामं सदा ध्यात्वा निर्धूताशेषकल्मषः । अन्ते रामेण निहतः पश्यन् राममवाप सः ॥ २३ ॥	hṛdi rāmaṁ sadā dhyātvā nirdhūtāśeṣakalmaṣaḥ । ante rāmeṇa nihataḥ paśyan rāmamavāpa saḥ ॥ 23 ॥	23. Always meditating upon Rama in his heart with all his impurities destroyed, when killed by Rama he saw him standing before himself, and therefore attained to him.

Whether he be a Brahmana or a sinful being, a Rakshasa or a vicious person, if he remembers Rama when leaving the body, he attains to the supreme abode.
0307	25	इति तेऽन्योन्याभाष्य ततो देवा दिवं ययुः ॥ २५ ॥	iti te'nyonyamābhāṣya tato devā divaṁ yayuḥ ॥ 25 ॥	25 – 26. So saying to each other the gods went to heaven. Rama then thought “how that vile Rakshasa when dying imitated my voice uttering “I am dying O Lakshmana.” On hearing this voice like mine, what shall Sita think and how shall it fare with her?

Angrily looking at Lakshmana with tears in her eyes Sita said: “Wretch, dost thou wish evil to thy brother. Thou hast been sent by Bharata wishing for the death of Rama and on his departure from the world to carry me off. Thou shall not have me as I shall give up life this moment.

The mendicant said, “Who art thou, of eyes like the lotus, who is thy husband, O sinless one, with what object is thy residence here in this forest, the haunt of the Rakshasas? Tell me all this, O good woman, and I shall tell thee my own story.”

Hearing Sita 's cry of pain the vulture Jadayu of sharp beak soon rose up from the mountain side and said to Ravana: “tarry, tarry, when I am here, who can go away carrying off the wife of the lord of the world from his lonely home in the forest, like a dog carrying of the libations prepared for a sacrifice with the aid of the mantras?”

"The body is composed of the five elements and is unintelligent, made up of skin, flesh, blood and bones. "The embodied self is neither male nor female, nor neuter. It is all-pervading and everlasting. It is one without a second, unblemished like space (akasa), eternal, knowledge itself and pure. How can it be the object of grief?"
0403	17	तारोवाच देहोऽचित्काष्ठवद्राम जीवो नित्यश्चिदात्मकः । सुखदुःखादिसम्बन्धः कस्य स्याद्राम मे वद ॥ १७ ॥	tārovāca deho'citkāṣṭhavadrāma jīvo nityaścidātmakah । sukhaduḥkhādisambandhaḥ kasya syādrāma me vada ॥ 17 ॥	17. Tara said. "When the body is non-intelligent like a piece of wood, and the embodied self is eternal and of the nature of intelligence itself, then, tell me, O Rama, with whom is this contact of pleasure and pain."
0403	18	श्रीराम उवाच । अहङ्कारादिसम्बन्धो यावद्देहेन्द्रियैः सह । संसारस्तावदेव स्यादात्मनस्त्वविवेकिनः ॥ १८ ॥	śrīrāma uvāca । ahaṅkāradīsambandho yāvaddehendriyaiḥ saha । saṁsārastāvadeva syādātmanastvavivekinaḥ ॥ 18 ॥	18. Sri Rama said: "So long as there is connection of the Ahankara (the principle of ego) and the rest with the body and the sense- organs, there is transmigratory existence (samsara) for the self of the unwise.
0403	19	मिथ्यारोपितसंसारो न स्वयं विनिवर्तते । विषयान् ध्यायमानस्य स्वप्ने मिथ्यागमो यथा ॥ १९ ॥	mithyāropitasamśāro na svayaṁ vinivartate । viṣayaṁ dhyāyamānasya svapne mithyāgamo yathā ॥ 19 ॥	19. "This samsara, which has been erroneously imposed upon the self, does not go of itself for one who, like a person, in dream cherishes objects of sense.

" On account of the contact of the beginning-less Avidya (nescience) and the sense of I which is its effect, with the Atma (self) in the world agitated with attachment and aversion, though in reality non-existent, appears to exist.
0403	21	मन एव हि संसारो बन्धश्चैव मनः शुभे । आत्मा मनःसमानत्वमेत्य तद्गतबन्धभाक् ॥ २१ ॥	mana eva hi saṁsāro bandhaścaiva manaḥ śubhe । ātmā manaḥsamānatvametya tadgatabandhabhāk ॥ 21 ॥	21. "The mind is verily the world. The mind, O good lady, is the bondage. The superimposition or identification of the mind with the self (Atma) is the cause of the bondage of the latter."
0403	22	यथा विशुद्धः स्फटिकोऽलक्तकादिसमीपगः । तत्तद्वर्णयुगाभाति वस्तुतो नास्ति रञ्जनम् ॥ २२ ॥	yathā viśuddhaḥ sphaṭiko'laktakādisamīpagaḥ । tattadvarṇayugābhāti vastuto nāsti rañjanam ॥ 22 ॥	22-23. "Just as a piece of crystal, which is in fact colorless, takes the red or other color from the object with which it is brought into contact, in like manner is the world process of necessity due to the contact of the self with the intellect and the organs of sense. The mind cannot of itself cognize without a cognizing self behind it. The self, on the other hand, making the objects created by the mind its own, takes the form of the latter like the piece of crystal of the object with which it is brought into contact, and thus becomes bound by the attributes of those objects and wanders about in the samsara as if powerless.

"Having first created the attributes of attachment and aversion, then actions of diverse kinds, the mind takes in various forms white, red and black (the good, the active and the passive) due to the three qualities of satva, rajas and tamas.

In this way through the influence of karma (action) the embodied self wanders till the period of universal dissolution.
0403	26	सर्वोपसंहृतो जीवो वासनाभिः स्वकर्मभिः । अनाद्यविद्यावशगस्तिष्ठत्यभिनिवेशतः ॥ २६ ॥	sarvopasaṁhṛtao jīvo vāsanābhiḥ svakarmabhiḥ । anādyavidyāvaśagastiṣṭhatyabhiniveśataḥ ॥ 26 ॥	26. At the time of universal dissolution, the self survives with vasanas taking impressions of past karma attaching to him under the influence of beginning-less avidya.
0403	27	सृष्टिकाले पुनः पूर्ववासनामानसैः सह । जायते पुनरप्येवं घटीयन्त्रमिवावशः ॥ २७ ॥	sṛṣṭikāle punaḥ pūrvavāsanāmānasaiḥ saha । jāyate punarapyevaṁ ghaṭīyantramivāvaśaḥ ॥ 27 ॥	27. "At the time of the creation, he is born again together with the vasanas born of the mind. In this way, like a wheel for drawing water, jiva is forced to go round and round.
0403	28	यदा पुण्यविशेषेण लभते सङ्गतिं सताम् । मद्भक्तानां सुशान्तानां तदा मद्भिषया मतिः ॥ २८ ॥	yadā puṇyaviśeṣeṇa labhate saṅgatiṁ satām । madbhaktānāṁ suśāntānāṁ tadā madviṣayā matiḥ ॥ 28 ॥	28. "When through special merit acquired by good karma in the past, he gets the company of pious devotees who are of a contented disposition, then his mind becomes directed towards me (the supreme self.)

0403	29	मत्कथाश्रवणे श्रद्धा दुर्लभा जायते ततः । ततः स्वरूपविज्ञानमनायासेन जायते ॥ २९ ॥	matkathāśravaṇe śraddhā durlabhā jāyate tataḥ । tataḥ svarūpavijñānamanāyāseṇa jāyate ॥ 29 ॥	29. "On hearing stories relating to me, then is faith produced in him which is so difficult of attainment. Then comes to him without any trouble the knowledge of self.
0403	30	तदाचार्यप्रसादेन वाक्यार्थज्ञानतः क्षणात् । देहेन्द्रियमनःप्राणाहङ्कृतिभ्यः पृथक् स्थितम् ॥ ३० ॥	tadācāryaprasādena vāk्यārthajñānataḥ kṣaṇāt । dehendriyamanahprāṇahāṅkṛtibhyaḥ prthak sthitam ॥ 30 ॥	30-31. "Then through the grace of the preceptor as well as knowledge of the meaning of the great saying "That art Thou" and the like and his own experience, he forthwith realizes the distinction between the body, the organs of sense, the vital airs and the principle of ego (ahankara) and know himself to be the intelligent and the blissful self who is one without a second and becomes thenceforth released. Thus have I declared to thee the truth.

"Thou should also with a pure mind reflect upon what I have said. In this manner, thou shall not be touched by the net of karma and shall be freed from the bondage thereof.

"O lady of fair eyebrows, O auspicious woman, thou hast performed devotion unto me in a past birth. Therefore, for thy emancipation have I shown thee my form.

Hearing in great amazement all what the holy Rama had said, Tara left off all sorrow born of the notion of I in the body and bowed to that best of Raghus and became a jivan mukta (emancipated in life) and blessed with the realization of self through a moment's company of Rama, the supreme self.

Having shaken off all bondage caused by nescience which is beginning-less, she became pure and released. Sugriva also having heard all the above from the mouth of Rama, relinquished all nescience and became easy in mind.

Then Angada, the chief of the monkeys, said to some of them: “We have been wandering about in the forest and a month has gone over it”.
0407	3	सीता नाधिगतास्माभिर्न कृतं राजशासनम् । यदि गच्छाम किष्किन्धा सुग्रीवोऽस्मान् हनिष्यति ॥ ३॥	sītā nādhigatāsmābhirna kṛtaṃ rājaśāsanam । yadi gacchāma kiṣkindhāṃ sugrīvo’smān haniṣyati ॥ 3 ॥	3. “We have not yet found Sita, nor have we carried out the commands of the king. If we go back to Kishkindha, Sugriva shall kill us”.
0407	4	विशेषतः शत्रुसुतं मां मिषान्निहनिष्यति । मयि तस्य कुतः प्रीतिरहं रामेण रक्षितः ॥ ४॥	viśeṣataḥ śatrusutaṃ māṃ miṣānnihaniṣyati । mayi tasya kutaḥ pṛitirahaṃ rāmeṇa rakṣitaḥ ॥ 4 ॥	4. “Seeking a pretext he shall certainly kill me, the son of his enemy. How can there be in his heart any affection for me. I have been protected by Rama”.
0407	5	इदानीं रामकार्यं मे न कृतं तन्मिषं भवेत् । तस्य मद्भ्रनने नूनं सुग्रीवस्य दुरात्मनः ॥ ५॥	idānīm rāmakāryaṃ me na kṛtaṃ tanmiṣaṃ bhavet । tasya maddhanane nūnaṃ sugrīvasya durātmanaḥ ॥ 5 ॥	5. “I have not done the work of Rama. This will be the pretext for the evil-minded Sugriva killing me”.
0407	6	मातृकल्पां भ्रातृभार्या पापात्मानुभवत्यसौ । न गच्छेयमतः पार्श्वं तस्य वानरपुङ्गवाः ॥ ६॥	mātr̥kalpāṃ bhrātr̥bhāryāṃ pāpātmānubhavatyasau । na gaccheyamataḥ pāṛśvaṃ tasya vānarapuṅgavāḥ ॥ 6 ॥	6. “He has taken to wife the wife of his brother who is like a mother unto him. O chiefs of monkeys, I shall not therefore go near him.”
0407	7	त्यक्ष्यामि जीवितं चात्र येन केनापि मृत्युना । इत्यश्रुनयनं केचिद्दृष्ट्वा वानरपुङ्गवाः ॥ ७॥	tyakṣyāmi jīvitaṃ cātra yena kenāpi mṛtyunā । ityaśrunayanaṃ kecidḍṛṣṭvā vānarapuṅgavāḥ ॥ 7 ॥	7-8. “I shall give up life here by some method or other”. Thus seeing the heir-apparent weeping, some of the leaders of the monkeys sorrowfully and with tears in their eyes said:

"What is thy grief for? We are the protectors of thy life, we shall live in this cave free from fear. This cave will be for us a town full of every good thing like unto a city of the gods". As they were thus slowly talking amongst themselves the son of the wind who was skilled in polity overheard them and embracing Angada said, "Why art thou thinking in this way. Evil thinking does not befit thee".

We are all the companions of Vishnu, the dweller in the Vaikunta. Seeing the supreme being incarnate as man, we have by our own will incarnated as monkeys through his Maya alone. Then Angada and the rest of the brave warriors said amongst themselves:

"Why art thou taking such nonsense in my presence as if thou had no fear. Thou art the vilest of monkeys and of a vile intellect. Who is this Rama who lives in the forest. I shall kill that vilest amongst men together with Sugriva".

"I shall, after killing thee today, kill the daughter of Janaka and then Rama and Lakshmana and then ere long I shall kill the powerful Sugriva together with his host of monkeys." Hearing this speech of the ten-necked Ravana, the son of the Wind highly enraged said to Ravana as if scorching him with his words.

"O vile Ravana! Even a crore of beings like thee are not equal to me. Of immeasurable strength and the slave of Rama am I". Hearing these words of Hanuman, Ravana, the ten-faced, angrily said to one of the Rakshasas who was standing near him.

" Do thou cut this monkey to pieces, let all Asura friends and relations see this. Then Vibhishana warned off the great Asura who was bent upon killing the monkey, saying, "O king! A monkey sent by a foreign king should not be killed by you who are endowed with power".

Hearing these words of Vibhishana, Ravana said. "The tail of monkeys is highly dear to them. Therefore, having covered his tail with clothes and the like and having carefully applied fire to it and taking him round the town, do you send him away. Let all the leaders of the monkeys see this."

Having applied lighted fire to the point of his tail, the Rakshasas bound him tight with cords and powerful asuras led dragging him around the town and crying "he is a thief" by blast of trumpets and repeatedly beating him.

Hanuman suffered all this in order to accomplish some purpose of his own. Having gone to the western gate, the son of the wind became of a small size and released himself from his bonds. He then became of the size of a mountain and having gone up the gate of the town, took up a pillar and in a moment killed all those Rakshasas. Then thinking of what he was to do next, he jumped down from the top of the place to the top of house after house with his burning tail and thus burnt the whole of Lanka, together with its turrets, palaces and arched gateways.

With the exception of the house of Vibishana the whole of the town was reduced to ashes.

"Do thou move on, O lord of the gods, we shall go to the seashore surrounded with hosts of brave monkeys on all sides".
0601	27	श्रुत्वा हनूमतो वाक्यमुवाच रघुनन्दनः । सुग्रीव सैनिकान् सर्वान् प्रस्थानायभिनोदय ॥ २७ ॥	śrutvā hanūmato vākyaṁuvāca raghunandanaḥ । sugrīva sainikān sarvān prasthānāyābhinodaya ॥ 27 ॥	27. Hearing this speech of Hanuman, Raghunandana said, "O Sugrīva, do thou order all the army to march..".
0601	28	इदानीमेव विजयो मुहुर्तः परिवर्तते । अस्मिन्मुहुर्ते गत्वाहं लङ्कां राक्षससङ्कुलाम् ॥ २८ ॥	idānīmeva vijayo muhurtaḥ parivartate । asminmuhurte gatvāhaṁ laṅkāṁ rākṣasasaṅkulām ॥ 28 ॥	28-29. "Now is the auspicious muhurta for victory. Even in this muhurta I shall go and destroy the impregnable Lanka, together with its Rakshasas, its arched gateways and Ravana and shall bring back Sita . My right arm is throbbing". Note: A Muharta is a period of 48 minutes.
0601	29	सप्राकारां सुदुर्धर्षां नाशयामि सरावणाम् । आनेष्यामि च सीतां मे दक्षिणाक्षि स्फुरत्यधः ॥ २९ ॥	saprākārāṁ sudurdharṣāṁ nāśayāmi sarāvaṇām । āneṣyāmi ca sītāṁ me dakṣiṇākṣi sphuratyadhaḥ ॥ 29 ॥	Included above..

"Let the army of the brave monkeys march. Let the leaders protect the army on the front, rear and on the sides".
0601	31	हनुमन्तमथारुह्य गच्छाम्यग्रेऽङ्गदं ततः । आरुह्य लक्ष्मणो यातु सुग्रीव त्वं मया सह ॥ ३१ ॥	hanūmantamathāruhya gacchāmyagre'ṅgadaṁ tataḥ । āruhya lakṣmaṇo yātu sugrīva tvam mayā saha ॥ 31 ॥	31. "I shall go first riding over the shoulders of Hanuman. Then Lakshmnna shall go carried by Angada. Do thou, Sugriva, go with me.
0601	32	गजो गवाक्षो गवयो मैन्दो द्विविद एव च । नलो नीलः सुषेणश्च जाम्बवांश्च तथापरे ॥ ३२ ॥	gajo gavākṣo gavayo maindo dvivida eva ca । nalo nīlaḥ suṣeṇaśca jāmbavāṁśca tathāpare ॥ 32 ॥	32-33. "Let Gaya, Gavaksha, Gavaya, Mainda, Dwivida, Nala, Nila, Sushena, Jambavan and all others, who are conquerors of enemies, go leading their hosts everywhere".
0601	33	सर्वे गच्छन्तु सर्वत्र सेनायाः शत्रुघातिनः । इत्याज्ञाय हरीन् रामः प्रतस्थे सहलक्ष्मणः ॥ ३३ ॥	sarve gacchantu sarvatra senāyāḥ śatrughātināḥ । ityājñāpya harīn rāmaḥ pratasthe sahalakṣmaṇaḥ ॥ 33 ॥	Included above..
0601	34	सुग्रीवसहितो हर्षोत्सेनामध्यगतो विभुः । वारणेन्द्रनिभाः सर्वे वानराः कामरूपिणः ॥ ३४ ॥	sugrīvasahito harṣōtsenāmadhyagato vibhuḥ । vāraṇendranibhāḥ sarve vānarāḥ kāmārūpiṇaḥ ॥ 34 ॥	34. Having given this order, Rama, together with Lakshmana cheerfully set out on his journey along with Sugriva with the army of the monkeys.
0601	35	क्ष्वेलन्तः परिगर्जन्तो जग्मुस्ते दक्षिणां दिशम् । भक्षयन्तो ययुः सर्वे फलानि च मधूनि च ॥ ३५ ॥	kṣvelantaḥ parigarjanto jagmuṣte dakṣiṇāṁ dīśam । bhakṣayanto yayuḥ sarve phalāni ca madhūni ca ॥ 35 ॥	35 -36. All the monkeys who could assume diverse forms at will were like the king of elephants. They went about jumping and roaring towards the south. Eating fruits and drinking honey they all went about saying: "We shall in the presence of Raghava kill Ravana this day". In this manner those best of monkeys of immeasurable prowess went on.
0601	36	ब्रुवन्तो राघवस्याग्रे हनिष्यामोऽद्य रावणम् । एवं ते वानरश्रेष्ठा गच्छन्त्यस्तुलविक्रमाः ॥ ३६ ॥	bruvanto rāghavasyāgre haniṣyāmo'dya rāvaṇam । evaṁ te vānaraśreṣṭhā gacchantyastulavikramāḥ ॥ 36 ॥	Included above..
0601	37	हरिभ्यामुह्यमानौ तौ शुशुभते रघूत्तमौ । नक्षत्रैः सेवितौ यद्वच्चन्द्रसूर्याविवाम्बरे ॥ ३७ ॥	haribhyāmuhyamānau tau śuśubhāte raghūttamau । nakṣatraiḥ sevitaḥ yadvaccandrasūryāvivāmbare ॥ 37 ॥	37. Carried by the two monkeys Hanuman and Angada, those two best of the Raghus, Rama and Lakshmana, looked beautiful like the sun and the moon in the heavens.
0601	38	आवृत्य पृथिवीं कृत्वा जगाम महती चमूः । प्रस्फोटयन्तः पुच्छाग्रानुद्रहन्तश्च पादपान् ॥ ३८ ॥	āvṛtya pṛthivīm kṛtsnām jagāma mahatī camūḥ । prasphoṭayantaḥ pucchāgrānudrahantaśca pādapān ॥ 38 ॥	38- 39. Having covered the whole of the earth all that array marched on. Dashing their tails, uprooting trees and mounting hills they went with the speed of the wind. Everywhere innumerable monkeys filled the earth.

0601	39	शैलानारोहयन्तश्च जग्मुरातवेगतः । असङ्ख्याताश्च सर्वत्र वानराः परिपूरिताः ॥ ३९ ॥	śailānārohayantaśca jagmurmārutavegataḥ । asankhyātāśca sarvatra vānarāḥ paripūrītāḥ ॥ 39 ॥	Included above..
0601	40	हृष्टस्ते जग्मुरत्यर्थं रामेण परिपालिताः । गता चमूदेवारात्रं कचिन्नासज्जत क्षणम् ॥ ४० ॥	hṛṣṭāste jagmuryartham rāmeṇa paripālītāḥ । gatā camūdivārātram kvacinnāsajjata kṣaṇam ॥ 40 ॥	40. Very cheerfully they went on protected by Rama. Day and night the army marched on and did not stop anywhere for a moment.
0601	41	काननानि विचित्राणि पश्यन्मलयसह्ययोः । ते सह्यं समतिक्रम्य मलयं च तथा गिरिम् ॥ ४१ ॥	kānanāni vicitrāṇi paśyanmalayasahyayoh । te sahyam samatikramya malayam ca tathā girim ॥ 41 ॥	41. Seeing the various forests of the Sahya and Malaya mountains, and having passed those hills, they gradually reached the ocean which was roaring fearfully.
0601	42	आयुश्चानुपूर्वेण समुद्रं भीमनिःस्वनम् । अवतीर्य हनूमन्तं रामः सुग्रीवसंयुतः ॥ ४२ ॥	āyauścānupūrvēṇa samudram bhīmaniḥsvanam । avatīrya hanūmantam rāmaḥ sugrīvasamyutaḥ ॥ 42 ॥	42-43. Having got down from Hanuman's shoulders, Rama accompanied with Sugriva went to the side of the water and said: “We have all reached the ocean, which is the abode of crocodiles.
0601	43	सलिलाभ्याशमासाद्य रामो वचनमब्रवीत् । आगताः स्मो वयं सर्वे समुद्रं मकरालयम् ॥ ४३ ॥	salilābhyāśamāsādyā rāmo vacanamabravīt । āgatāḥ smo vayaṁ sarve samudram makarālayam ॥ 43 ॥	Included above..
0601	44	इतो गन्तुमशक्यं नो निरुपायेन वानराः । अत्र सेनानिवेशोऽस्तु मन्त्रयामाऽस्य तारणे ॥ ४४ ॥	ito gantumashakyaṁ no nirupāyena vānarāḥ । atra senāniveśo'stu mantrayāmo'sya tāraṇe ॥ 44 ॥	44. “Without proper means, henceforward it is impossible to go, O monkeys. Let the army encamp here, we shall consult as to the means of crossing the sea.”
0601	45	श्रुत्वा रामस्य वचनं सुग्रीवः सागरान्तिके । सेनां न्यवेशयत् क्षिप्रं रक्षितां कपिकुञ्जैः ॥ ४५ ॥	śrutvā rāmasya vacanam sugrīvaḥ sāgarāntike । senām nyaveśayat kṣipram rakṣitām kapikuñjaraiḥ ॥ 45 ॥	45. Hearing this speech of Rama, Sugriva made the whole army, which was protected by the leaders of the monkeys, encamp on the sea shore.
0601	46	ते पश्यन्तो विषेदुस्तं सागरं भीमदर्शनम् । महोन्नततरङ्गाढ्यं भीमनक्रभयङ्करम् ॥ ४६ ॥	te paśyanto viṣedustaṁ sāgaram bhīmadarśanam । mahonnatatarāṅgāḍhyaṁ bhīmanakrabhayaṅkaram ॥ 46 ॥	46-47. Seeing that ocean of fearful appearance, full of waves rolling high and dangerous to cross on account of its fearful crocodiles, unfathomable like the sky, they became anxious, saying “How shall we cross the ocean, the abode of Varuna?”
0601	47	अग्राधं गगनाकारं सागरं वीक्ष्य दुःखिताः । तरिष्यामः कथं घोरं सागरं वरुणालयम् ॥ ४७ ॥	agādham gaganākāraṁ sāgaram vīkṣya duḥkhitāḥ । tariṣyāmaḥ katham ghoraṁ sāgaram varuṇālayam ॥ 47 ॥	Included above..
0601	48	हन्तव्योऽस्माभिरद्यैव रावणो राक्षसाधमः । इति चिन्ताकुलाः सर्वे रामपार्श्वे व्यवस्थिताः ॥ ४८ ॥	hantavyo'smābhiradyaiva rāvaṇo rākṣasādhamaḥ । iti cintākulāḥ sarve rāmapārśve vyavasthitāḥ ॥ 48 ॥	48. “Ravana, the vilest of Rakshasas, should be killed by us today.” Thus filled with anxiety all of them stood near Rama.
0601	49	रामः सीतामनुस्मृत्य दुःखेन महतावृतः । विलप्य जानकीं सीतां बहुधा कार्यमानुषः ॥ ४९ ॥	rāmaḥ sītāmanusmṛtya duḥkhena mahatāvṛtaḥ । vilapya jānakīm sītām bahudhā kāryamānuṣaḥ ॥ 49 ॥	49. Rama also remembering Sita and overcome with great sorrow grieved for her greatly like one who assumes a human form for a specific object.
0601	50	अद्वितीयश्चिदात्मैकः परमात्मा सनातनः । यस्तु जानाति रामस्य स्वरूपं तत्त्वतो जनः ॥ ५० ॥	advitīyaścidātmaikāḥ paramātmā sanātanaḥ । yastu jānāti rāmasya svarūpaṁ tattvato janāḥ ॥ 50 ॥	50-52. He who knows the nature of Rama to be one without a second, Intelligence itself, the Ancient Supreme Purusha, is not touched by sorrow and the like. How can then there be in Him, who is bliss, undecaying: sorrow, joy, fear, avarice, delusion and the like which are indications of ignorance? Sorrow is for one who has the notion of self in the body, not for the unembodied intelligent self.
0601	51	तं न स्पृशति दुःखादि किमुतानन्दमव्ययम् । दुःखहर्षभयक्रोधलोभमोहमदादयः ॥ ५१ ॥	taṁ na spr̥ṣati duḥkhādi kimutānandamavyayam । duḥkhaharṣabhayakrodhalobhamohamadādayaḥ ॥ 51 ॥	Included above..
0601	52	अज्ञानलिङ्गान्येतानि कुतः सन्ति चिदात्मनि । देहाभिमानिनो दुःखं न देहस्य चिदात्मनः ॥ ५२ ॥	ajñānalingānyetāni kutāḥ santi cidātmani । dehābhimānino duḥkham na dehasya cidātmanaḥ ॥ 52 ॥	Included above..
0601	53	सम्प्रसादे द्वयाभावात्सुखमात्रं हि दृश्यते । बुद्ध्याद्यभावात्सुखद्वे दुःखं तत्र न दृश्यते । अतो दुःखादिकं सर्वं बुद्धेरेव न संशयः ॥ ५३ ॥	samprasāde dvayābhāvātsukhamātram hi dr̥ṣyate । buddhyādyabhāvātsaṁśuddhe duḥkham tatra na dr̥ṣyate । ato duḥkhādikaṁ sarvaṁ buddhereva na saṁśayaḥ ॥ 53 ॥	53. In deep slumber because there is no second there is seen only bliss itself. There on account of the absence of the Buddhi and the rest, in the pure self, sorrow is not seen. Therefore, sorrow and the like are due to the intellect and not the self. There is no doubt in this.
0601	54	रामः परात्मा पुरुषः पुराणो नित्योदितो नित्यसुखो निरीहः । तथापि मायागुणसङ्गतोऽसौ सुखीव दुःखीव विभाव्यतेऽबुधैः ॥ ५४ ॥ इति श्रीमदध्यात्मरामायणे उमामहेश्वरसंवादे युद्धकाण्डे प्रथमः सर्गः ॥ १ ॥	rāmaḥ parātmā puruṣaḥ purāṇo nityodito nityasukho nirīhaḥ । tathāpi māyāguṇasaṅgato'sau sukhīva duḥkhīva vibhāvayate'budhaiḥ ॥ 54 ॥ iti śrīmadadhyātmaramāyaṇe umāmaheśvarasaṁvāde yuddhakāṇḍe prathamāḥ sargaḥ ॥ 1 ॥	54. Rama is the supreme self, the ancient Purusha, ever present, ever blessed, never with action. And yet on account of his conjunction with the attributes of Maya, he is taken to be happy or unhappy by the ignorant.

0602	1	॥द्वितीयः सर्गः॥ श्रीमहादेव उवाच । लङ्कायां रावणो दृष्ट्वा कृतं कर्म हनूमता । दुष्करं देवतैर्वाऽपि हिया किञ्चिदवाङ्मुखः ॥ १॥	lIdvitiyaḥ sargaḥ ॥ śrīmahādeva uvāca । laṅkāyāṃ rāvaṇo dr̥ṣtvā kṛtaṃ karma hanūmatā । duṣkaraṃ daivatairvā'pi hriyā kiñcidavāṇmukhaḥ ॥ 1 ॥	1-2. Having witnessed the achievement of Hanuman in Lanka, an achievement which even gods could not accomplish, Ravana with a somewhat downcast face, overcome with shame, called his ministers and said to them.

Having conquered Kubera, thou brought the Pushpaka car and art enjoying it”.

Varuna was defeated by thee by mere utterance of hum. All the Rakshasas are under thy command.”
0602	9	मयो महासुरो भीत्या कन्यां दत्त्वा स्वयं तव । त्वद्वशे वर्ततेऽद्यापि किमुतान्ये महासुराः ॥ ९॥	mayo mahāsuro bhityā kanyāṃ dattvā svayaṃ tava । tvadvaśe vartate'dyāpi kimutānye mahāsuraḥ ॥ 9 ॥	9. “The great Asura Maya, out of fear, has given thee his daughter, and up to this day is subject to thee. What to be said of the other great Asuras”.
0602	10	हनूमद्वर्षेण यत्तु तदवज्ञाकृतं च नः । वानरोऽयं किमस्माकमस्मिन् पौरुषदर्शने ॥ १०॥	hanūmadharṣaṇaṃ yattu tadavajñākr̥taṃ ca naḥ । vānaro'yaṃ kimasmākamasmin pauraśarṣane ॥ 10 ॥	10. “The assault made by Hanuman as well as the insult he offered us thereby were tolerated by us because we thought him to be a mere monkey and said what is the use of showing prowess against him”.
0602	11	इत्युपेक्षितमस्माभिरुपेक्ष्य तेन किं भवेत् । वयं प्रमत्ताः किं तेन वञ्चिताः स्मो हनूमता ॥ ११॥	ityupekṣitamasmābhirdharṣaṇaṃ tena kiṃ bhavet । vayaṃ pramattāḥ kiṃ tena vañcitāḥ smo hanūmatā ॥ 11 ॥	11-12. “Thus disregarded by us, we were negligent and were therefore deceived by Hanuman. If we had known of all that beforehand, he would not have gone alive”.

We shall go and make all the world devoid of monkeys and men. Do thou depute all or each one of us.”
0602	14	आरब्धं यत्त्वया कर्म स्वात्मनाशाय केवलम् । न दृष्टोऽसि तदा भाग्यात्त्वं रामेण महात्मना ॥ १४॥	ārabdhaṃ yattvayā karma svātmanāśāya kevalam । na dr̥ṣṭo'si tadā bhāgyāttvaṃ rāmeṇa mahātmanā ॥ 14 ॥	14. Then Kumbhakarna said to Ravana, the king of the Rakshasas: “What thou didst was for thy own destruction. It was by good fortune that thou were not seen by Rama of great soul.
0602	15	यदि पश्यति रामस्त्वं जीवन्नायासि रावण । रामो न मानुषो देवः साक्षान्नारायणोऽव्ययः ॥ १५॥	yadi paśyati rāmastvāṃ jīvanāyāsi rāvaṇa । rāmo na mānuṣo devaḥ sākṣānnārāyaṇo'vyayaḥ ॥ 15 ॥	15. “If Rama had seen thee, thou wouldst not have returned alive, Rama is no mere man. He is the god Narayana himself”.

0602	19	कुम्भकर्णवचः श्रुत्वा वाक्यमिन्द्रजिदब्रवीत् । देहि देव ममानुज्ञां हत्वा रामं सलक्ष्मणम् । सुग्रीवं वानरांश्चैव पुनर्यास्यामि तेऽन्तिकम् ॥ १९ ॥	kumbhakarnaṇavacaḥ śrūtvā vākyaṃindrajidabravīt । dehi deva mamānujñāṃ hatvā rāmaṃ salakṣmaṇam । sugrīvaṃ vānarāṃścaiva punaryāsyāmi te'ntikam ॥ 19 ॥	19. Hearing this speech of Kumbhakarna, Indrajit said, “O king give me leave, I shall go and after killing Rama together with Lakshmana, Sugriva and the monkeys, come back to thee.”
0602	20	तत्रागतो भागवतप्रधानो विभीषणो बुद्धिमतां वरिष्ठः । श्रीरामपादद्वय एकतानः । प्रणम्य देवारिमुपोपविष्टः ॥ २० ॥	tatrāgato bhāgavatapradhāno vibhīṣaṇo buddhimatāṃ varīṣṭhaḥ । śrīrāmapādadvaya ekatānaḥ । praṇamya devārimupopaviṣṭaḥ ॥ 20 ॥	20. Then came into that assembly Vibhishana, who was chief amongst the worshippers of the Lord Vishnu, the wisest of men and unswervingly devoted to the feet of Rama. He bowed unto the enemy of the gods and sat down.
0602	21	विलोक्य कुम्भश्रवणादिदेत्यान् मत्प्रमत्तानतिविस्मयेन । विलोक्य कामातुरमप्रमतो दशाननं प्राह विशुद्धबुद्धिः ॥ २१ ॥	vilokya kumbhaśravaṇādidaityān mattapramattānavismayena । vilokya kāmāturamapramatto daśānanaṃ prāha viśuddhabuddhiḥ ॥ 21 ॥	21. Casting his eyes in great astonishment at Kumbhakarna and the rest of the Danavas who had gone extremely mad, looking also at Ravana who was troubled in heart, Vibhishana of pure intellect himself untroubled and ever heedful said:
0602	22	न कुम्भकर्णन्द्रजितो च राजन् तथा महापाश्वेमहोदरो तौ । निकुम्भकुम्भौ च तथातिकायः स्थातुं न शक्ता युधि राघवस्य ॥ २२ ॥	na kumbhakarnaṇendrajitau ca rājan tathā mahāpāśvamahodarau tau । nikumbhakumbhau ca tathātikāyaḥ sthātum na śaktā yudhi rāghavasya ॥ 22 ॥	22. “O king, neither Kumbhakarna, nor Indrajit, neither Mahaparsva nor Mahodara, neither Nikumbha, Kumbha, nor Atikaya can withstand Raghava in battle”.
0602	23	सीताभिधानेन महाग्रहेण ग्रस्तोऽसि राजन् न च ते विमोक्षः । तामेव सत्कृत्य महाधनेन दत्त्वाभिरामाय सुखी भव त्वम् ॥ २३ ॥	sītābhidhānena mahāgrahaṇa grasto'si rājan na ca te vimokṣaḥ । tāmeva satkṛtya mahādhanena dattvābhirāmāya sukhī bhava tvam ॥ 23 ॥	23. “Thou hast been seized by the great alligator known as Sita. There is no release for thee, O king. Having duly honored her with much wealth, do thou restore her unto Rama and be happy”.
0602	24	यावन्न रामस्य शिताः शिलीमुखा लङ्कामभिव्याप्य शिरांसि रक्षसाम् । छिन्दन्ति तावद्रघुनायकस्य भो- स्तां जानकीं त्वं प्रतिदातुमर्हसि ॥ २४ ॥	yāvanna rāmasya śitāḥ śilīmukhā laṅkāmahivhyāpya śirāṃsi rakṣasām । chindanti tāvadrāghunāyakasya bho- stāṃ jānakīm tvam pratidātumarhasi ॥ 24 ॥	24. “Before the sharp arrow of Rama having covered Lanka cut the heads of Rakshasas, you, O Sir, should give back that Janaki to the lord of the Raghus”.
0602	25	यावन्नगभाः कपयो महाबला हरीन्द्रतुल्या नखदंष्ट्रयोधिनः । लङ्कां समाक्रम्य विनाशयन्ति ते तावद्द्रुतं देहि रघूत्तमाय ताम् ॥ २५ ॥	yāvannagābhāḥ kapayo mahābalā harīndratulyā nakhadaṃṣṭrayodhināḥ । laṅkāṃ samākramya vināśayanti te tāvaddrutaṃ dehi raghūttamāya tām ॥ 25 ॥	25. “Before monkeys like mountains, of great strength like the king of the beasts (lion) and fighters with teeth and nail, having surrounded Lanka destroy it, do thou make haste to give Sita back to Rama .
0602	26	जीवन्न रामेण विमोक्ष्यसे त्वं गुप्तः सुरेन्द्रैरपि शङ्करेण । न देवराजाङ्कगतो न मृत्योः पाताललोकानपि सम्प्रविष्टः ॥ २६ ॥	jīvanna rāmeṇa vimokṣyase tvam guptaḥ surendrairapi śaṅkareṇa । na devarājāṅkagato na mṛtyoḥ pātālalokānapi sampraviṣṭaḥ ॥ 26 ॥	26. “Alive thou canst not escape Rama even if thou wert protected by the lords of the gods or Mahadeva himself, nor if thou wert hidden in the lap of the king of the gods, or of death, nor if then wert to enter the lower regions”.

0611	33	अस्त्रे प्रतिहते युद्धे रामेण दशकन्धरः । अभ्यवर्षत्ततो रामं घोराभिः शरवृष्टिभिः ॥ ३३ ॥	astre pratihate yuddhe rāmeṇa daśakandharaḥ । abhyavarṣattato rāmaṃ ghorābhiḥ śaravṛṣṭibhiḥ ॥ 33 ॥	33. On his weapon being thus nullified by Rama, the ten-faced Ravana then rained down upon Rama terrific showers of arrows.
0611	34	ततः पुनः शरानिकं राममक्लिष्टकारिणम् । अर्दयित्वा तु घोरेण मातलिं प्रत्यविध्यत ॥ ३४ ॥	tataḥ punaḥ śarānikai rāmamakliṣṭakāriṇam । ardayitvā tu ghoreṇa mātalim pratyavidhyata ॥ 34 ॥	34. Having again attacked Rama of unblemished deeds with arrows he turned to Matali.
0611	35	पातयित्वा रथोपस्थं रथकेतुं च काञ्चनम् । ऐन्द्रानश्चानभ्यहनद्रावणः क्रोधमुच्छितः ॥ ३५ ॥	pātayitvā rathopasthaṃ rathaketuṃ ca kāñcanam । aindrānaśvānabhyahanadrāvaṇaḥ krodhamūrcchitaḥ ॥ 35 ॥	35. Having thrown into the middle of the car the golden flag of the chariot, Ravana wild with anger killed the horses of Indra.
0611	36	विषेदुर्देवगन्धर्वोश्चाराणाः पितरस्तथा । आत्ताकारं हरिं दृष्ट्वा व्यथिताश्च महर्षयः ॥ ३६ ॥	viṣedurdevagandharvāścāraṇāḥ pitarastathā । ārtākāraṃ hariṃ dṛṣṭvā vyathitāśca maharṣayaḥ ॥ 36 ॥	36. Seeing Hari as if in distress the Devas, Gandharvas, Charanas, the Pitrs and the great Rishis became troubled. Note. The devas are celestial beings. Gandharvas and Charanas are heavenly bards and the pitrs are the departed forefathers.
0611	37	व्यथिता वानरेन्द्राश्च बभूवुः सविभीषणाः । दशास्यो विंशतिभुजः प्रगृहीतशरासनः ॥ ३७ ॥	vyathitā vānarendrāśca babhūvuḥ savibhiṣaṇāḥ । daśāsyo viṃśatibhujāḥ pragṛhitaśarāśanaḥ ॥ 37 ॥	37-38. The leaders of the monkeys and Vibhishana also became troubled. The ten-faced and the twenty-armed Ravana, bow and arrow in hand, looked like a second Mainaka mountain.
0611	38	ददृशे रावणस्तत्र मैनाक इव पर्वतः । रामस्तु भ्रुकुटिं बद्ध्वा क्रोधसंरक्तलोचनः ॥ ३८ ॥	dadṛśe rāvaṇastatra maināka iva parvataḥ । rāmastu bhrukuṭim baddhvā krodhasamraktalocanaḥ ॥ 38 ॥	Included above..

Then Rama having contracted his eyebrows and with eyes, red with anger, got furious as if he was going to scorch the Rakshasa. Taking up a bow of the shape of the body of the king of the gods (rain bow), which was wonderful in shape and an arrow which was equal unto the fire at the end of a kalpa, he was seen near the enemy as if he was burning him with his looks.
0611	40	गृहीत्वा पाणिना बाणं कालानलसमप्रभम् । निर्दहन्निव चक्षुर्भ्यां ददृशे रिपुमन्तिके ॥ ४० ॥	grhītvā pāṇinā bāṇaṃ kālānalasamaprabham । nirdahanniva cakṣurbhyāṃ dadṛśe ripumantike ॥ 40 ॥	Included above..

To show his prowess, burning with splendor, he marched up to the enemy in the form of death in the sight of all creatures.
0611	42	विकृष्य चापं रामस्तु रावणं प्रतिविध्य च । हर्षयन् वानरानीकं कालान्तक इवाबभौ ॥ ४३ ॥	vikṛṣya cāpaṁ rāmastu rāvaṇaṁ pratividhya ca । harṣayaṁ vānarāṇīkaṁ kālāntaka ivābabhau ॥ 42 ॥	42. Having drawn his bow up, Rama pierced Ravana with arrows, gladdening the hearts of the monkey army, stood there shining like the Lord of death.
0611	43	क्रुद्धं रामस्य वदनं दृष्ट्वा शत्रुं प्रधावतः । तत्रसुः सर्वभूतानि चचाल च वसुन्धरा ॥ ४३ ॥	kruddhaṁ rāmasya vadaṇaṁ dr̥ṣṭvā śatruṁ pradhāvataḥ । tatraśuḥ sarvabhūtāni cacāla ca vasundharā ॥ 43 ॥	43-44. Seeing Rama with his angry face and running towards his enemy, all the creatures became frightened and the earth was agitated. Seeing Rama in this highly terrible form, dire omens appeared. Creatures were terrified and Ravana became much frightened.
0611	44	रामं दृष्ट्वा महारौद्रमुत्पातांश्च सुदारुणान् । त्रस्तानि सर्वभूतानि रावणं चाविशद्भयम् ॥ ४४ ॥	rāmaṁ dr̥ṣṭvā mahāraudramutpātāṁśca sudāruṇān । trastāni sarvabhūtāni rāvaṇaṁ cāviśadbhayam ॥ 44 ॥	Included above..

The gods in their celestial cars, the Siddhas, the Gandharvas and the Kinnaras witnessed that fight which was like unto the dissolution of the creation. Then taking up the Indra weapon he cut off the head of Ravana.
0611	46	मूर्धानो रावणस्याथ बहवो रुधिरोक्षिताः । गगनात्प्रपतन्ति स्म तालादिव फलानि हि ॥ ४६ ॥	mūrdhāno rāvaṇasyātha bahavo rudhīrokṣitāḥ । gaganātprapatanti sma tālādīva phalāni hi ॥ 46 ॥	46. Many heads of Ravana drenched with blood then fell down, like fruit from a palm tree (and joined themselves to his body).
0611	47	न दिनं न च वै रात्रिर्न सन्ध्यां न दिशोऽपि वा । प्रकाशन्ते न तद्रूपं दृश्यते तत्र सङ्गरे ॥ ४७ ॥	na dinaṁ na ca vai rātrirna sandhyāṁ na diśo'pi vā । prakāśante na tadrūpaṁ dr̥śyate tatra saṅgare ॥ 47 ॥	47. Neither day nor night, neither the twilights, nor the quarters were visible, nor was the shape of Ravana seen in that battle.
0611	48	ततो रामो बभूवाथ विस्मयाविष्टमानसः । शतमेकोत्तरं छिन्नं शिरसां चैकवर्चसम् ॥ ४८ ॥	tato rāmo babhūvātha vismayāviṣṭamānasaḥ । śatamekottaraṁ chinnam śīrasāṁ caikavarcaśam ॥ 48 ॥	48-49. Then Rama became struck with wonder. One hundred and one resplendent heads of Ravana were cut off, but Ravana was not seen to have lost life.
0611	49	न चैव रावणः शान्तो दृश्यते जीवितक्षयात् । ततः सर्वास्त्रविद्धीरः कौसल्यानन्दवर्धनः ॥ ४९ ॥	na caiva rāvaṇaḥ śanto dr̥śyate jīvitakṣayāt । tataḥ sarvāstraviddhīraḥ kausalyānandavardhanaḥ ॥ 49 ॥	Included above..
0611	50	अस्त्रेभ्यो बहुभिर्युक्ताश्चित्तयामास राघवः । यैर्यैर्बाणैर्हता देव्या महासत्त्वपराक्रमाः ॥ ५० ॥	astraiśca bahubhiryuktaścintayāmāsa rāghavaḥ । yairyairbāṇairhatā daityā mahāsattvaparākramāḥ ॥ 50 ॥	50-53. Then the knower of all the weapons and the firm minded enhancer of Kausalya's joy, Raghava armed with diverse weapons anxiously thought as follows: "All these weapons with which daityas possessed of terrific strength were killed, have become nullified in killing of Ravana. Unto Rama thus troubled with anxiety Vibhishana, who was standing near, said: "This Ravana has obtained a boon from Brahmadeva. Even though his arms and heads were cutoff, they shall soon reappear. So said the lord of the creation who is self-born."
0611	51	त एते निष्फलं याता रावणस्य निपातने । इति चिन्ताकुले रामे समीपस्थो विभीषणः ॥ ५१ ॥	ta ete niṣphalaṁ yātā rāvaṇasya nipātane । iti cintākule rāme samīpastho vibhīṣaṇaḥ ॥ 51 ॥	Included above..

"In his navel is the water of life, in a circular form. Do thou dry it up by the fire weapon, then his death shall take place".
0611	55	पावकास्त्रेण संयोज्य नाभिं विव्याध रक्षसः । अनन्तरं च चिच्छेद शिरांसि च महाबलः ॥ ५५ ॥	pāvakāstreṇa saṁyojya nābhiṁ vivyādha rakṣasaḥ । anantaram ca ciccheda śīrāṁsi ca mahābalaḥ ॥ 55 ॥	55. On hearing this speech of Vibhishana, Rama of agile prowess having taken up the fire weapon pierced his navel with it. Then that powerful warrior cut off his heads even though they were many in number.
0611	56	बाहूनपि च संरब्धो रावणस्य रघूत्तमः । ततो घोरा महाशक्तिमादाय दशकन्धरः ॥ ५६ ॥	bāhūnapi ca saṁrabdhō rāvaṇasya raghūttamaḥ । tato ghorāṁ mahāśaktimādāya daśakandharaḥ ॥ 56 ॥	56-57. Then dauntlessly taking up a spear which was of a terrible shape, the ten-faced Ravana furiously hurled it in order to kill Vibhishana. Rama cut it off with arrows which were sharp and decked with gold.

0611	57	विभीषणवधाथाय चिक्षेप क्रोधविह्वलः । चिच्छेद राघवो बाणैस्तां शितैर्हमभूषितैः ॥ ५७ ॥	vibhiṣaṇavadhārthāya cikṣepa krodhavihvalaḥ । ciccheda rāghavo bāṇaistām śitairhemabhūṣitaiḥ ॥ 57 ॥	Included above..

0611	59	एकेन मुख्याशिरसा बाहुभ्यां रावणो बभौ । रावणस्तु पुनः क्रुद्धो नानाशस्त्रास्त्रवृष्टिभिः ॥ ५९ ॥	ekena mukhyaśiraśā bāhubhyāṃ rāvaṇo babhau । rāvaṇastu punaḥ kruddho nānāśāstrāstravrṣṭibhiḥ ॥ 59 ॥	59-60. Ravana then appeared with only one chief head and two arms. Again, in anger he rained showers of the two, worth beholding and which made the hair stand on end.
0611	60	ववर्ष रामं तं रामस्तथा बाणैर्ववर्ष च । ततो युद्धमभूदघोरं तुमुलं लोमहर्षणम् ॥ ६० ॥	vavarṣa rāmaṃ taṃ rāmastathā bāṇairvavarṣa ca । tato yuddhamabhūdghoraṃ tumulaṃ lomaharṣaṇam ॥ 60 ॥	Included above..

Matali then reminded Rama of the manner of Ravana's death and said: "Do thou, best of Raghus, discharge the Brahma weapon for the destruction of this Rakshasa. The time of his death, which had been ordained, has come today. But, O Raghava, his head should not be cut off by thee. O lord, he is not to be killed through the head but through his chest". Reminded thus by Matali, Rama seized that weapon with the arrow blazing and panting like a serpent.
0611	62	विनाशकालः प्रथितो यः सुरैः सोऽद्य वर्तते । उत्तमाङ्गं न चैतस्य छेत्तव्यं राघव त्वया ॥ ६२ ॥	vināśakālāḥ prathito yaḥ suraiḥ so'dya vartate । uttamāṅgaṃ na caitasya chettavyaṃ rāghava tvayā ॥ 62 ॥	Included above..

The wind was on its sides, on its head were the sun and fire, its body was made of space, and it was heavy as the Meru and Mandara mountains. Upon its knots were placed the guardians of the world of great strength. It was resplendent and shining like the sun.
0611	65	शरीरमाकाशमयं गौरवे मेरुमन्दरौ । पर्वस्वपि च विन्यस्ता लोकपाला महौजसः ॥ ६५ ॥	śarīramākāśamayaṃ gaurave merumandaraḥ । parvasvapī ca vinyastā lokapālā mahaujasaḥ ॥ 65 ॥	Included above..

Having invoked that dire weapon which was terrible, destructive of the world and wonderful, Rama of powerful strength applied to it the arrow and aimed it according to the rules of the Vedas. On that dire weapon being welded by Raghava, all beings got terrified and the earth became troubled.
0611	68	तस्मिन् सन्धीयमाने तु राघवेण शरोत्तमे । सर्वभूतानि वित्रेसुश्चाल च वसुन्धरा ॥ ६८ ॥	tasmin sandhiyamāne tu rāghaveṇa śarottame । sarvabhūtāni vitresuścālā ca vasundharā ॥ 68 ॥	Included above..

Having angrily bent that bow he hurled the arrow very heedfully at Ravana in order to pierce his breast.
0611	70	स वज्र इव दुर्धर्षो वज्रपाणिविसर्जितः । कृतान्त इव घोरास्यो न्यपतद्रावणोरसि ॥ ७० ॥	sa vajra iva durdharṣo vajrapāṇivisarjitaḥ । kṛtānta iva ghorāsyō nyapatadrāvaṇorasi ॥ 70 ॥	70. Unassailable like a thunderbolt and discharged by a hand which was like lightning, that arrow of a mouth like the terrible king of death fell over Ravana's breast.
0611	71	स निमग्नो महाघोरः शरीरान्तकरः परः । बिभेद हृदयं तूर्णं रावणस्य महात्मनः ॥ ७१ ॥	sa nimagno mahāghoraḥ śarīrāntakaraḥ paraḥ । bibheda hṛdayaṃ tūrṇaṃ rāvaṇasya mahātmanaḥ ॥ 71 ॥	71. That weapon which was the destroyer of life, penetrated the chest of Ravana and forthwith tore up the heart of that great being.
0611	72	रावणस्याहारतत्प्रान्नं विवेश धरणि तले । स शरो रावणं हत्वा रामतूणीरमाविशत् ॥ ७२ ॥	rāvaṇasyāharataprāṇān vīveśa dharaṇītale । sa śaro rāvaṇaṃ hatvā rāmatūṇīramaviśat ॥ 72 ॥	72. Having taken off the life-breaths of Ravana, it penetrated the earth. That arrow having killed Ravana returned to Rama's quiver.
0611	73	तस्य हस्तात्पपाताशु सशरं कामुकं महत् । गतासुभ्रमिवेगेन राक्षसेन्द्रोऽपतदभुवि ॥ ७३ ॥	tasya hastātpapātāśu saśaraṃ kāmukaṃ mahat । gatāsurbhramivegena rākṣasendra'patadbhuvi ॥ 73 ॥	73. From his hand fell down the great bow with the arrow. Bereft of life and whirled by the force of the weapon, the Rakshasa fell on the ground.

0611	74	तं दृष्ट्वा पतितं भूमौ हतशेषाश्च राक्षसाः । हतनाथा भयत्रस्ता दुद्रुवुः सर्वतोदिशम् ॥ ७४ ॥	taṁ dr̥ṣṭvā patitaṁ bhūmau hataśeṣāśca rākṣasāḥ । hataṇāthā bhayatrastā dudruvuh sarvatodiśam ॥ 74 ॥	74. Seeing him fallen on the ground, all the remnant of the Rakshasa army, deprived of their leader, ran off on all sides from fear.
0611	75	दशग्रीवस्य निधनं विजयं राघवस्य च । ततो विनेदुः संहृष्टा वानरा जितकाशिनः ॥ ७५ ॥	daśagrīvasya nidhanaṁ vijayaṁ rāghavasya ca । tato vineduḥ saṁhṛṣṭā vānarā jitakāśinaḥ ॥ 75 ॥	75. Then the monkeys, proud of victory, proclaimed the victory of Rama and the death of Ravana.
0611	76	वदन्तो रामविजयं रावणस्य च तद्वधम् । अथान्तरिक्षे व्यनदत्सौम्यस्त्रिदशदुन्दुभिः ॥ ७६ ॥	vadanto rāma vijayaṁ rāvaṇasya ca tadvadham । athāntarikṣe vyanadatsaumyastridaśadundubhiḥ ॥ 76 ॥	76. Proclaiming the victory of Rama and the death of Ravana, beating of drums of the happy gods from sky were heard.

Then, from all sides flowers rained down upon Raghava. The Munis, Siddhas, Charanas and the gods sang his praises. In the sky, celestial nymphs danced merrily.
0611	78	अथान्तरिक्षे ननुतुः सर्वतोऽप्सरसो मुदा । रावणस्य च देहोत्थं ज्योतिरादित्यवत्स्फुरत् ॥ ७८ ॥	athāntarikṣe nanūtuḥ sarvato'psaraso mudā । rāvaṇasya ca dehottham jyotirādityavatsphurat ॥ 78 ॥	Included above..

Then from the body of Ravana issued forth a light resplendent like the sun and entered the best of Raghus in the sight of all the gods and good people. The gods said: "Oh, how fortunate is the high souled Ravana. We gods partaking of the nature of goodness and being objects of the grace of Vishnu, are yet subject to fear, misery and the like and are immersed in the world".

"On the other hand, this cruel Rakshasa, who was the killer of Brahmanas, who was of the nature of darkness, lover of other people's wives, enemy of Vishnu, and killer of ascetics, entered Rama in the sight of all beings."
0611	82	पश्यत्सु सर्वभूतेषु राममेव प्रविष्टवान् । एवं ब्रुवत्सु देवेषु नारदः प्राह सुस्मितः ॥ ८२ ॥	paśyatsu sarvabhūteṣu rāma meva praviṣṭavān । evaṁ bruvatsu deveṣu nāradaḥ prāha susmitaḥ ॥ 82 ॥	Included above..

"Hear, O gods, who are skilled in the knowledge of virtue (Dharma), Ravana because of his enmity to Rama, thought of him only day and night. On hearing of his achievements from his servants and that his death was to be brought about by Rama, he fearfully saw Raghava everywhere. In his dreams also, he always saw Rama. The anger of Ravana rose superior even to knowledge imparted by a preceptor".

Having entered the house of Ravana he saw Janaki of blameless deeds at the foot of the Simsapa tree emaciated and humbled.

Surrounded by the Rakshasis, she was thinking only of Rama . Humbly bowing to her, with folded hands, reverently and devoutly the son of the wind stood before her. Seeing him standing silently Janaki remembered his form.

Knowing him to be the messenger of Rama, she became pleased, and her face brightened with joy. Seeing her with a joyful countenance, the son of the wind commenced telling her all that Rama had told him.
0612	58	देवि रामः ससुग्रीवो विभीषणसहायवान् । कुशली वानराणां च सैन्यैश्च सहलक्ष्मणः ॥ ५८ ॥	devi rāmaḥ sasugrīvo vibhīṣaṇasahāyavaṇ । kuśalī vānarāṇāṁ ca sainyaīśca sahalakṣmaṇaḥ ॥ 58 ॥	58. "O queen, Rama together with Sugriva, Vibhishana, Lakshmana and the monkeys for his allies, is well".

Hearing these pleasing words of her husband, Janaki in accents faltering with joy said: "What shall I do for thee, in return? I do not see anything to give thee in the three worlds. I see no gems or ornaments equal to thy dear speech." Addressed thus by Vaidehi (Sita), the monkey said:

Thus addressed by Hanuman, Rama, the best of sages, desirous of renouncing illusive Sita and of taking back the Sita who was living in the fire, thought in his mind and said to Vibhishana.
0612	68	गच्छ राजन् जनकजामानयाशु ममान्तिकम् । स्नातां विरजवस्त्राढ्यां सर्वाभरणभूषिताम् ॥ ६८ ॥	gaccha rājan janakajāmanayāśu mamāntikam । snātāṁ virajavastrāḍhyāṁ sarvābharaṇabhūṣitām ॥ 68 ॥	68. Hearing this, Vibhishana at once went with Hanuman to the place and having with the aid of elderly Rakshasis bathed the daughter of the king of Mithila, and decorated her with all ornaments and making her ride a palanquin of superior quality, protected by numerous mace bearers and eunuchs, wearing turbans, brought her to the camp.

All the monkeys came to see the daughter of Janaka. The mace bearers warded them off from all sides. Making much noise they came to the place where Rama was. Seeing from a distance that lady riding the palanquin, the best of Raghus said to Vibhishana.” Why are these mace bearers warding off the monkeys? Let the monkeys see the daughter of the king of Mithila as they do their own mother.

Hearing these words of Rama, dismounting from the palanquin she approached Rama walking. Rama also seeing that illusive Sita who had been created for the accomplishment of a purpose, said to her many things which were unfit to be said.

Not tolerating those words uttered by Rama, Sita said to Lakshmana to light a fire forthwith for the purpose of restoring the confidence of Rama and convincing the world.

Then Sita having with devotion circumambulated Rama and in the sight of all the worlds as well as of the women of the gods and the Rakshasas, bowed to the gods und the Brahmanas and approaching the fire with folded hands said:
0612	80	पश्यतां सर्वलोकानां देवराक्षसयोषिताम् । प्रणम्य देवताभ्यश्च ब्राह्मणेभ्यश्च मैथिली ॥ ८० ॥	paśyatām sarvalokānāṁ devarākṣasayoṣitām । praṇamya devatābhyaśca brāhmaṇebhyaśca maithilī ॥ 80 ॥	Included above..

All went to their respective abodes afterwards. Brahma, Rudra and the rest who meditating upon Rama, who had just taken his installation bath, who was accompanied with Sita and Lakshmana and was sitting on a throne, singing of his achievements, went to heavens with their celestial musical instruments sounding, with gods joyously singing his praises, hosts of munis raining down flowers from the sky. Hymned by all on all sides, does Rama of dark hue with his joyful countenance, smiling and shining with the splendor of a million suns, with Sita, Lakshmana, the son of the wind, the munis and the monkeys on his side, look glorious.

Do thou teach me that knowledge whereby I may speedily and with ease cross this impossible ocean of nescience.”
0705	6	श्रुत्वाथ सौमित्रिवचोऽखिलं तदा प्राह प्रपन्नातिहरः प्रसन्नधीः । विज्ञानमज्ञानतमःप्रशान्तये श्रुतिप्रपन्नं क्षितिपालभूषणः ॥ ६ ॥	śrutvātha saumitrivaco'khilam tadā prāha prapannārtiharaḥ prasannadhiḥ । vijñānamajñānatamaḥpraśāntaye śrutiprapannaṁ kṣitipālabbhūṣaṇaḥ ॥ 6 ॥	6. On hearing this speech of the son of Sumitra, Rama, the ornament of kings and destroyer of the sorrow of his devotees, with a joyful heart communicated to him that knowledge which is declared by the vedas, for the purpose of removing the whole of nescience,

0705	8	क्रिया शरीरोद्भवहेतुरादृता प्रियाप्रियो तौ भवतः सुरागिणः । धर्मतरौ तत्र पुनः शरीरकं पुनः क्रिया चक्रवदीर्यते भवः ॥ ८ ॥	kriyā śarīrodbhavaheturādr̥tā priyāpriyau tau bhavataḥ surāgiṇaḥ । dharmetarau tatra punaḥ śarīrakaṁ punaḥ kriyā cakravādīryate bhavaḥ ॥ 8 ॥	8. “All work results in incarnation. For one who is attached to it, come dharma and its contrary leading to happiness and misery. Thence arises the body and from it again work. In this way like a wheel the course of worldly life revolves without an end.”
0705	9	अज्ञानमेवास्य हि मूलकारणं तद्भयानमेवात्र विधौ विधीयते । विद्यैव तन्नाशविधौ पटीयसी न कर्म तज्जं सविरोधमीरितम् ॥ ९ ॥	ajñānamevāsya hi mūlakāraṇam tadbhayānamevātra vidhau vidhiyate । vidyaiva tannāśavidhau paṭīyasī na karma tajjaṁ saviroddhamīritaṁ ॥ 9 ॥	9. “The root cause of it is ignorance (ajnana). For the purpose of warding off this course of worldly life, removal of ignorance or nescience knowledge is the only means. Knowledge alone is capable of destroying this nescience. Action cannot destroy it, as it is born of nescience and is not its contrary”.

0705	10	नाज्ञानहानिर्न च रागसङ्ख्यो भवेत्ततः कर्म सदोषमुद्भवेत् । ततः पुनः संसृतिरप्यवारिता तस्माद्बुधो ज्ञानविचारवान् भवेत् ॥ १० ॥	nājñānahānirna ca rāgasāṅkṣayo bhavettataḥ karma sadoṣamudbhavet । tataḥ punaḥ saṁsṛtirapyavāritā tasmādbudho jñānavicāravān bhavet ॥ 10 ॥	10. “Neither destruction of nescience nor of attachment follows the performance of action. On the contrary, it leads to further action with its commission of perishable and transient results, leaving the journey up and down this round of birth and re-birth unaffected. Let the sage, therefore, avoid action and devote himself to knowledge and meditation on the truths of the Vedanta”.
0705	11	ननु क्रिया वेदमुखेन चोदिता तथैव विद्या पुरुषार्थसाधनम् । कर्तव्यता प्राणभृतः प्रचोदिता विद्यासहायत्वमुपैति सा पुनः ॥ ११ ॥	nanu kriyā vedamukhena coditā tathaiva vidyā puruṣārthasāadhanam । kartavyatā prāṇabhṛtaḥ pracoditā vidyāsahāyatvamupaiti sā punaḥ ॥ 11 ॥	11. “But says the one who objects: Action is also enjoined by the Vedas as conducive to the highest end of men like knowledge. For one who has a body, performance of action is enjoined and it becomes ultimately the helpmate of Vidya (Knowledge).”
0705	12	कर्माकृतौ दोषमपि श्रुतिर्जगौ तस्मात्सदा कार्यमिदं मुमुक्षुणा । ननु स्वतन्त्रा ध्रुवकार्यकारिणी विद्या न किञ्चिन्मनसाप्यपेक्षते ॥ १२ ॥	karmākṛtau doṣamapi śrutirjagau tasmātsadā kāryamidaṁ mumukṣuṇā । nanu svatantrā dhruvakāryakāriṇī vidyā na kiñcinmanasāpyapekṣate ॥ 12 ॥	12. “The Veda has declared cessation from action to be sinful. Let the aspirant after emancipation, therefore, always engage in action”. “But, replies the sage, Vidya is certain in its results and independent and does not stand in need of any helping agent even in thought”.
0705	13	न सत्यकार्योऽपि हि यद्वदध्वरः प्रकाङ्कतेऽन्यानापि कारकादिकान् । तथैव विद्या विधितः प्रकाशितैः विशिष्यते कर्मभिरेव मुक्तये ॥ १३ ॥	na satyakāryo'pi hi yadvadadhvaraḥ prakāṅkṣate'nyānapi kārakādikaṁ । tathaiva vidyā vidhitaḥ prakāśitaiḥ viśiṣyate karmabhireva muktaye ॥ 13 ॥	13. “But, rejoins the advocate of Vedic rites: even though (knowledge) is true in its results, yet Vedic sacrifice also requires other helping agents like time, place, etc., for its accomplishment. In the same manner does Vidya, illuminated by work duly performed, leads to emancipation in a special manner.”

This is an untruth, because of its involving patent contradiction. Work flourishes through the notion of I in the body. On the contrary, knowledge arises from the sublimation of the notion of I in the body and the like.”
0705	15	विशुद्धविज्ञानविरोचनाञ्जिता विद्यात्मवृत्तिश्चरमेति भण्यते । उदेति कर्माखिलकारकादिभिः निहन्ति विद्याखिलकारकादिकम् ॥ १५ ॥	viśuddhavijñānavirocanañjitā vidyātmavṛttiścarameti bhanyate । udeti karmākṣhilakārakādibhiḥ nihanti vidyākṣhilakārakādikam ॥ 15 ॥	15. “That final condition of the manas (mind) which follows the realization of the truths of the Vedanta, leading to pure knowledge, is called Vidya by the wise. Work arises from its adjuncts in the shape of actors, instruments, time, place and the rest. On the contrary, Vidya destroys all actors, instruments and the like”.
0705	16	तस्मात्पज्जेत्कार्यमशेषतः सुधीः विद्याविरोधान्न समुच्यो भवेत् । आत्मानुसन्धानपरायणः सदा निवृत्तसर्वेन्द्रियवृत्तिगोचरः ॥ १६ ॥	tasmātpajjetkāryamaśeṣataḥ sudhīḥ vidyāvirodhāna samuccayo bhavet । ātmānusandhānaparāyaṇaḥ sadā nivṛttasarvendriyavṛttigocaraḥ ॥ 16 ॥	16. “Let the man of wisdom, therefore, renounce all work. On account of its being opposed to knowledge, there can be no combination of knowledge and work. Having withdrawn his senses from all objects, let him be ever engaged in realization of his own self (Atma)”.
0705	17	यावच्छरीरादिषु माययात्मधी- नेतीति वाक्यैरखिलं निषिध्य तत् ज्ञात्वा परात्मानमथ त्यजेत्क्रियाः ॥ १७ ॥	yāvaccharīrādiṣu māyayātmadhī- stāvadvidheyo vidhivādakarmaṇām । netīti vākyairakṣhilaṁ niṣidhya tat jñātvā parātmānamatha tyajetkriyāḥ ॥ 17 ॥	17. “As long as under the influence of Maya, there is any sense of I in the body and the like, so long is there the binding force of injunctions of the Vedas regarding action. Having sublimated the whole of it through the saying of neti, neti (not this, not this), and knowing the supreme-self, let him renounce all action”.

0705	19	श्रुतिप्रमाणाभिनिर्दिष्टा च सा । विज्ञानमात्रादमलाद्वितीयत- १९ ॥	कथं भविष्यत्यपि कार्यकारिणी स्तस्मादविद्या न पुनर्भविष्यति ॥	śrutipramāṇābhivināśitā ca sā vijñānamātrādamalādvitīyata- 19 ॥	katham bhaviṣyatyapi kāryakārīṇī । stasmādavidyā na punarbhaviṣyati ॥	19. "Having been destroyed by knowledge once, how can it be capable of showing its activity in leading to further incarnation? When it has been destroyed by realized knowledge which is pure and without duality, how shall it (nescience) ever again arise?"
0705	20	यदि स्म नष्टा न पुनः प्रसूयते तस्मात्स्वतन्त्रा न किमप्यपेक्षते ॥ २० ॥	कर्ताहमस्येति मतिः कथं भवेत् । विद्या विमोक्षाय विभाति केवला ॥ २० ॥	yadi sma naṣṭā na punaḥ prasūyate kartāhamasyeti matiḥ katham bhavet । tasmātsvatantrā na kimapyapekṣate vidyā vimokṣāya vibhāti kevalā ॥ 20 ॥		20. "When nescience once destroyed cannot spring forth anew, how can then there be any notion of 'I am the doer.' Therefore, independent of everything else, knowledge (vidya) requires nothing for its fructification. It alone is sufficient for the purpose of securing emancipation."
0705	21	सा तैत्तिरीयश्रुतिराह सादरं एतावदित्याह च वाजिनां श्रुतिः ॥ २१ ॥	न्यासं प्रशस्ताखिलकर्मणां स्फुटम् । ज्ञानं विमोक्षाय न कर्म साधनम् ॥ २१ ॥	sā taittirīyaśrutirāha sādaram nyāsaṁ praśastākhilakarmanām sphuṭam । etāvadityāha ca vājinaṁ śrutiḥ jñānam vimokṣāya na karma sādhanam ॥ 21 ॥		21. "The Śruti of the Taittiriya Upanishad has reverently declared this renunciation of all action. 'This alone is moksha' is also declaration of the Śrutis of the Vajasaneyi (Bṛhadaranyaka Upanishad). Therefore, knowledge alone and not action is the means of emancipation. "

"Thou hast, questions the Vedāntin, shown the equality of sacrificial action with knowledge, but without giving any illustration thereof. The fruits of the two are distinct. Sacrificial action is accomplished through various instruments: like actor, instruments and the like, knowledge is not accomplished by these but by other means."

"It is only the intellect of one who superimposes the self upon the not self, that cherishes the notion of sin in the non-performance of action. The intellect of the sage has no such notion. Therefore, by the wise, action which is enjoined as obligatory should be renounced, as it is for those whose minds are attached to the fruit of action".

"Let one who is endowed with faith, through a purified mind and the grace of his preceptor, know the unity of the supreme with the embodied self through the great saying 'That art thou' and be happy and unmoved like the Meru mountain."

"In the beginning the meaning of realizing the significance of the saying 'Tat Twam Asi', (That art Thou) free from all doubt and uncertainty, is knowledge of the meaning of each of the three words Tat, Twam and Asi which it consists of. The Tat (That) signifies the supreme self with the attributes of omniscience and the like, the twam (Thou) the embodied self and asi (art) connects the two".

"Having sublimated the adjuncts of the embodied self as the internal ever-present self with the notion of I attached, and of the supreme self as the not present, self with the notion of the (unseen) attached, and retaining the intelligent nature of the two and their final significance as illustrated in the indirect application (lakshana) described below, let him abide in the unity of his own self."

"The jahati Lakshana is not possible here on account of the unity of the two selves. The ajahati Lakshana is also not possible on account of contradiction. On the contrary, just as in the saying. 'He is the same person whom I saw', both kinds of Lakshanas enter, in the same manner do both kinds of Lakshanas enter in the unity of the two, tat and the twam, as free from all faults".

"The gross adjunct of the Atma is the body composed of the five elements of the earth, water, fire, air and space, in their combination with each other. It is the place of the enjoyment of the fruit of action as well as of happiness, misery and the like, having a beginning and end and born of Maya".

"The wise know the subtle body consisting of the mind, the intellect, the five organs of perception, and the five of action, and the vital airs born of the five elements in their original state of purity to be other than the gross body. It is the vehicle of the enjoyment of the enjoyer, when he is associated with a gross body. This body is also other than the self".

"The beginning-less incomprehensible Maya, is the chief body of the Lord. Through superimposition he appears to be differentiated as the supreme and the embodied self. Let one, therefore, gradually realize this self through sublimation of all adjuncts".

"Like a piece of crystal appearing to be red on account of its proximity to a red flower, this self appears to be of the form of the five sheaths because of proximity to them. When the great saying, "this Purusha is unattached" is fully reflected upon, then it is known to be unattached, unborn and without a second."

"The conditions of the intellect (buddhi) also seen here as three-fold, viz., waking, dream and deep sleep, are such on account of its combination with the attributes of satva, rajas and tamas. They are not the true conditions of the supreme self, for one of them does not abide when the other is present. Therefore, they are all unreal, and cannot be of the nature of the supreme self, which is unity and bliss itself."

"When such is the nature of the self, which is all intelligence, all bliss, how can the samsara, which is full of sorrow, appear to exist in it or for it. For the purpose of knowing the truths of the Vedas, the lord Valmiki communicated it to the two boys.
0706	30	कुमारौ स्वरसम्पन्नौ सुन्दरावाञ्छनाविव । तन्नीतालसमायुक्तौ गायन्तौ चैरतुर्वने ॥ ३० ॥	kumārāu svarasampannau sundarāvaśvānāviva । tantritālasamāyuktau gāyantau ceraturvane ॥ 30 ॥	30. The two lads who were beautiful in appearance like the two Aswins went about singing it in the forest in harmonious tones to the accompaniment of musical instruments.
0706	31	तत्र तत्र मुनीनां तौ समाजे सुररूपिणौ । गायन्तावभितो दृष्ट्वा विस्मिता मुनयोऽब्रुवन् ॥ ३१ ॥	tatra tatra munināṁ tau samāje surarūpiṇau । gāyantāvabhito drṣṭvā vismitā munayo’bruvan ॥ 31 ॥	31-32. There they sang it in the assemblies of Munis. Seeing those boys like unto gods, the Munis became struck with wonder and said: “ Neither amongst Gandharvas, nor amongst men upon the earth, nor amongst the gods in the heavens, nor in the lower regions, nor in the abode of the four-faced Brahma, nor in all the world have we known such singers, although we have lived so long and have seen all the quarters, such singing and music have never been seen or heard before this.”

Thus praised by all the Munis, day after day, those two boys lived for a long time happily in the hermitage of Valmiki.
0706	34	अथ रामोऽश्वमेधादीश्वकारं बहुदाक्षिणान् । यज्ञान् स्वर्णमयीं सीतां विधाय विपुलद्युतिः ॥ ३४ ॥	atha rāmo’śvamedhādīśvakāra bahudakṣiṇān । yajñān svarṇamayīm sītāṁ vidhāya vipuladyutiḥ ॥ 34 ॥	34. Now Rama of great glory celebrated many an aswamedha and other sacrifices consisting of costly gifts to Brahmanas, having made a Sita in gold, in place of the real Sita .

0706	35	तस्मिन् विताने ऋषयः सर्वे राजर्षयस्तथा । ब्राह्मणाः क्षत्रिया वैश्याः समाजमुर्दिदृक्षुः ॥ ३५॥	tasmin vitāne ṛṣayaḥ sarve rājarṣayatasthā । brāhmaṇāḥ kṣatriyā vaiśyāḥ samājagmurdidrksavaḥ ॥ 35 ॥	35. In that assembly all the rishis and royal sages, all the Brahmanas and Kshatriyas and Vaisyas came to see the sacrifice.

The Muni Valmiki also taking with him the two singers, Kusha and Lava, came to that assembly and arrived at the place where the rishis were assembled.

There as he was sitting in solitude at the conclusion of his samadhi, calm and at peace, Kusa questioned Valmiki about true knowledge during the interval of the recital of other stories.
0706	38	भगवन् श्रोतुमिच्छामि सङ्क्षेपाद्भवतोऽखिलम् । देहिनः संसृतिर्बन्धः कथमुत्पद्यते दृढः ॥ ३८॥	bhagavan śrotumicchāmi saṅkṣepādbhavato'khilam । dehinaḥ saṃsrtirbandhaḥ kathamutpadyate dṛdhaḥ ॥ 38 ॥	38. I wish to hear from you, Sir, in brief, how this bond of worldly life originates for embodied creatures.

How does an embodied creature acquire freedom from this heavy confinement known as the world. Do thou, O Muui, who art omniscient, tell me thy disciple.
0706	40	वाल्मीकिरुवाच । शृणु वक्ष्यामि ते सर्वं सङ्क्षेपाद्वन्धमोक्षयोः । स्वरूपं साधनं चापि मत्तः श्रुत्वा यथोदितम् ॥ ४०॥	vālmīkiruvāca । śṛṇu vakṣyāmi te sarvaṃ saṅkṣepādbandhamokṣayoḥ । svarūpaṃ sādhanaṃ cāpi mattaḥ śrutvā yathoditam ॥ 40 ॥	40. Valmiki said, "Hear, what I tell thee, all in brief, about bondage and freedom, the nature of the self, the means of the attainment thereof, and having heard it from me do thou act according to it. Thus, thou shalt be emancipated in life. May good betide thee."
0706	41	तथैवाचर भद्रं ते जीवन्मुक्तो भविष्यसि । देह एव महागेहमदेहस्य चिदात्मनः ॥ ४१॥	tathaivacāra bhadraṃ te jīvanmukto bhaviṣyasi । deha eva mahāgehamadehasya cidātmanaḥ ॥ 41 ॥	41-43. "The body is verily the great abode of the intelligent self which is without a body. He has made here the principle of ego (ahankara) his minister. Having superimposed upon the intelligent self (chit) the sense of the I in the body which is his abode, he becomes identified with it and thus imposes upon the chit, which is bliss itself, and through which it derives his light, his actions."

"Thus imagining himself as having a body, the self (Atma) becomes constantly subject to grief. This sense of ego gives him three kinds of bodies, high, middle and low".

"They are due to the attributes of goodness, activity and darkness, and are the causes of the sustenance of the world. Possessed of the notion of darkness, and acting upon it he becomes subject to extreme darkness and attains to the condition of worms and insects. Possessed of the notion of goodness, he becomes attached to virtue and wisdom, and thereby attains to the condition of emancipation which is the empire of his own self and lives happy." With the notion of activity in the ascendant he engages in work in this world and lives here attached to wives and sons."

"But he who leaves all three notions attains, O thou of great intelligence, to the supreme self, on the destruction of action of the mind (thinking principle). Having, therefore, relinquished all cognition by the senses and controlled thy mind, do thou destroy all actions of the mind in and out."

Thus awakened by Valmiki, with his delusion gone forthwith, Kusa with his eye directed inwards, outwardly did all his work in life.
0707	2	वाल्मीकिरपि तौ प्राह सीतापुत्रौ महाधियो । तत्र तत्र च गायन्तौ पुरे वीथिषु सर्वतः ॥ २ ॥	vālmikirapi tau prāha sītāputrau mahādhiyau । tatra tatra ca gāyantau pure vīthiṣu sarvataḥ ॥ 2 ॥	2-3. Valmiki also told those two highly intelligent sons of Sita who were singing in the outskirts of the town to sing the Ramayana before Rama. "If Raghava serves you and gives you anything, do not accept it."

Hearing of the singing of those boys, Rama became filled with curiosity, and having, during the intervals of the sacrifice, called all the great Munis, the Pandits, the kings, scholars in Vedic learning, knowers of Puranas, those skilled in the science of Grammar, and the elder Brahmins, he caused the two singers to be seated in the assembly. All those kings and Brahmanas, having seen those lads, became greatly astonished and with gladdened hearts, with eyes staring in amazement said to Rama as well as to each other.

"These two lads are exactly like Rama, like the reflection of an object in mirror. If they had not been wearing matted locks and barks of trees, we would not have made any difference between them and Rama." As they were speaking in this manner in accents of wonder, those two ascetic boys began to sing. Then there arose a sweet superhuman song like that of Gandharvas.

Having thus refused all the wealth that was given to them, they went to the Muni. Having thus heard his own achievements sung by them Rama became astonished.

0707	17	भगवन्तं महात्मानं वाल्मीकिं मुनिसत्तमम् । आनयध्वं मुनिवरं ससीतं देवसम्मिताम् ॥ १७ ॥	bhagavantaṁ mahātmānaṁ vālmikiṁ munisattamaṁ ānayadhvaṁ munivaraṁ saśitaṁ devasammitam 17	17. Knowing what was passing in the heart of Rama, Valmiki said: "To-morrow shall Sita take the oath in this assembly."

For a wife her husband is her supreme God, there is no doubt in this. Hearing this speech of the Muni Satrugna informed Rama of it.

0707	22	राघवस्यापि रामोऽपि श्रुत्वा मुनिवचस्तथा । राजानो मुनयः सर्वे शृणुध्वमिति चाब्रवीत् ॥ २२ ॥	rāghavyāpi rāmo'pi śrutvā munivacastathā । rājāno munayaḥ sarve śṛṇudhvamiti cābravit ॥ 22 ॥	22. Rama also hearing this said, "Let all the kings and the Munis hear it. Let all the people know of the oath of Sita whether it is right or not."

Then the great Muni speedily entered that assembly with Sita. She was following him with her head bent, her hands clasped, her throat choked with tears and entered the sacrificial assembly. On seeing her like Lakshmi following Brahmadeva and walking behind Valmiki, there arose a loud chorus of applause. Having brought Sita to that assembly that great Muni who was her protector said to Rama: "O son of Dasaratha, this virtuous Sita ever devoted to the path of duty was abandoned by thee for fear of public scandal in a lonely place in the forest near my Ashrama".

May I never reap the fruit thereof if Sita has any fault in her. Addressed thus by Valmiki, Rama said: "O thou of great intelligence, it is as thou say. "As she was taking this oath, there took place a great miracle. There arose from inside the earth a celestial throne of inestimable value. It was carried by elephants of celestial beauty and was resplendent like the sun. The goddess of earth then taking Sita affectionately in her arms and saying "welcome" placed her upon the throne. As the daughter of the king of the Vaidehas was entering the earth, showers of flowers rained over her incessantly from the heavens. "Well-done, well done," were heard repeatedly the shouts of the gods. Again and again did the gods in the heavens cry out "well-done". In the space between the earth and the heavens and upon the earth itself all creatures, mobile and immobile, said the same.

Rama also, although he knew what had passed and what was to come, yet for the purpose of worldly duty, grieved over the loss of Sita, as if he knew nothing. Awakened by Brahmadeva and the rishis that scion of the Raghu race did all his work as if awakened from sleep. He then dismissed all the rishis and the sacrificial priests that had assembled there.

Seeing Rama thus sunk in sorrow, the son of Sumitra said to him, as he was sitting silent, immersed in anxiety, cursing the bondage due to attachment, "Do thou, O Raghunandana, leave off sorrow on my account and kill me."

Having heard in council their speech which was full of virtue and profit and free from fault, Rama forthwith told the son of Sumitra, “Do thou go where thou please, let there be no destruction of virtue. Banishment and death of the good are both equal.” On the best of the Raghus saying so, Lakshmana with eyes agitated with grief having bowed unto Rama forthwith went to his house. He then went to the banks of the Sarayu. Having sipped water, with folded hands, he closed all the nine gates of the body and restrained his vital air in the head. He then meditated upon that imperishable Supreme Brahma who is known as the undecaying Lord Vasudeva, the Supreme abode. As he had thus controlled his life-breaths, all the gods and the rishis, as well as the fires, threw flowers over Lakshmana and praised him. Unseen by any of the gods, Indra carried Lakshmana in his embodied form to heaven. There on seeing him that fourth part of the God Vishnu, all the chief gods and the celestial rishis worshipped him. Note: The nine doors of the body are the two eyes, the two nostrils, the two ears, the mouth, the two organs of excretion and generation This process of leaving the body through control of prana and restraining it in the head (the sahasrara) is enjoined for all yogis, in order to the attainment of the supreme condition. It is, however, possible only for those who have practiced yoga in life.

On hearing those words of Vasishta and having lifted them up and honored them, the Lord of the Raghus said to them affectionately, "What shall I do for you?" Then devoutly with folded hands, the people said: "We shall go wherever thou go. This is our great wish. This is the eternal and ancient Dharma".

Knowing this to be their firm resolve and reflecting upon the saying of Kala, Raghava said to the people who were devoted to him: "Let it be so." Having taken this resolve, the Lord Rama sent out Kusa and Lava that very day. To each of them he gave an army of 8,000 chariots, 1,000 elephants and 60,000 horses. Unwillingly taking leave of Rama, Kusa and Lava went to their kingdoms which abounded in wealth and gems and were surrounded with cheerful and strong dependents. Raghava then sent messengers to bring Satrughna. Those messengers speedily went and informed him of the advent of Kala, visit of the son of Atri (Durvasa), the departure of Lakshmana, the vow of Rama, the installation of his sons, and all that Rama did. On hearing that speech of the messenger, prognosticating the destruction of the family, Satrughna felt much aggrieved. Recovering strength and speedily calling his sons, that great warrior and conqueror of foes installed Subahu in Mathura and Yupaketu in the town of Vidisa. He then alone went to Ayodhya to see Rama.

On the left of Rama walked the lotus eyed Lakshmi carrying a white lotus. On his right went the goddess of earth highly resplendent and carrying a red lotus. On solicitation of the Grand-sire, all gods having closed their eyes, Rama of effulgent glory became the Lord Vishnu of four-hands, carrying the discus and the rest (the conch, the mace and the lotus) Lakshmana who was formerly the serpent, sesa, resumed his former shape and became the wonderful couch of the Lord.

"Let them attain to regions equal to the Vaikunta. Do thou allot to them such regions by my command." On hearing this speech of Hari, Brahmadeva said: "Let them go to the regions of the Santanika, which are full of diverse enjoyments, which are even above my regions and which are highly effulgent. Those that are devoted to thy worship and who have done accumulated good deeds, let them enter those regions. Those mortals who, O Rama, even unconsciously utter thy holy name at the time of the dissolution of their bodies, let them enjoy those regions which are attainable by yogis." Then greatly pleased all the monkeys, Rakshasas and the like having touched the water of the Sarayu and relinquished their bodies, attained to their former shapes, possessing portions of divine energy. Each lord of the monkeys and bears resumed his former shape. Sugriva, the Lord of the monkeys, entered the sun having been born of a portion of his energy. Then having entered the waters of the Sarayu, all the men having relinquished their human frames, came out wearing celestial ornaments and having mounted a chariot went to the worlds of the Santanika.

The residents of the country who had come to see Rama having relinquished all attachments to worldly objects remembered Hari the supreme lord, and having touched the water of the river speedily attained His nature. So much did the Lord Mahadeva recite of the remaining portion of story of Rama 's deeds. He who reads only a couple of it is released from sins committed in a thousand births. He who commits sin day by day and yet reads with faith even a sloka of this book is freed of all sins and attains to the world of Rama which is unattainable by others. This story of the Lord of Raghus did the Lord Mahadeva recite in days of yore by the command of Rama. On hearing the story of his future deeds as given here the Lord Rama became pleased. This poem the Ramayana which is full of unlimited merit was recited by Mahadeva to Parvati. Ho who reads or listens to it with faith is freed from sins committed in a thousand incarnations. He who reads, hears or writes the Adhyatma Ramayana with devotion, unto him Rama together with Sita highly pleased gives every prosperity.
